PROLEGOMENA . . .

The contents of this publication hardly require an introduction except that it is paramount to state that the Association has steadfastly kept faith with the founders who organized the Alumni on a basic concept, the perspicacity and wisdom of which is evidenced by the continuity of wholesome activities both within and without the group.

It certainly cannot be said that this volume is one too many, for it embodies the noteworthy contributions of the one and only medical school in Brooklyn and those associated therewith who have brought distinction to the institution by benefactions to mankind through the thousands of graduates it has sent forth.

Then, too, while this volume reiterates excerpts from the splendid book, "History of the Long Island College Hospital and Biographies of its Graduates," covering the years 1856-1899, published by the Association in 1899 under the penmanship of Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, it continues the thread of history for the next half century of the medical school with the designation Long Island and moves on to the significant procurement of the school's University status as the College of Medicine at New York City under the aegis of the State University of New York during the period 1950-1955.

Seventy-five years of Alumni Association Highlights and the abstracts of curriculum vitae of over 5,000 graduates dominate sections of the book.

The illustrations, limited though they be in number, will assuredly awaken nostalgic memories of the medical student days, both to the older and also the younger graduates.

It may be stated that the importance of the text is to acquaint the graduate with the rich historical background of the school that awarded him the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and also to apprise the alumnus of the many worthwhile activities of the Association in which there is ample opportunity to take an active interest. Aside from the foregoing, the volume serves the useful purpose of a roster of graduates of the classes 1900-1959.

An earnest endeavor has been made to depict the school and Alumni Association in their true light and well earned distinction. May those who read these pages evaluate the trials and triumphs encountered and at the same time realize the necessity of taking an active part in the preparedness necessary to meet the challenge of an ever expanding world in an age of nuclear developments with its unlimited possibilities. With gratitude for past accomplishments, let us continue to labor and trust that our individual growth as a physician be commensurate with the progress and demands of our times — a momentous period in the history of mankind.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS . . .

A deep sense of obligation and gratefulness is expressed to the many who by their contributions and encouragement have greatly assisted in the production of this book. To list their names is but a small gracious gesture of thankfulness.

Grateful acknowledgements are due Dr. Frank L. Babbott for the Foreword, and Dr. Jean A. Curran for the Peroration, both of whom urged the publication and critically read the historical section, also Dr. Arnold Eggerth, who labored in the research and writing of the History of the College, and Dr. Robert A. Moore, President, Downstate Medical Center and Dean, College of Medicine at New York City for his contribution entitled Looking Ahead.

Sincere appreciation is tendered Dr. William T. Daily, '29, whose fund of historical knowledge and proofreading of the text were of inestimable value, Drs. Arnold deVeer, '24, A. Martin Marino, Sr., '16, John J. Masterson, '08, and Thurston S. Welton, '08, for giving of their experience in matters of publication, and also Dr. Benjamin Zohn, '25, the incumbent President of the Alumni Association, for his Preface to the Biographical section and his unfailing support and indefatigable efforts in bringing the book to a fait accompli.

To continue in alphabetical order, thanks are due Drs. Frank X. Giustra, '32, Alfred P. Ingegno, '33, Phillip E. Lear, '34, Francis V. Mitchell, '33, Leon Stamatis, '38, Leslie H. Tisdall, '33, and also the Committee members, Drs. Stanley D. Berliner, '50, Ben Borkow, '24, Harry R. Lichtfield, '19, A. Martin Marino, Jr., '48, Aaron Stern, '54, for their aid and active interest in the publication.

The tedious and tireless labors of Mrs. Lucy Attarian, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, are deserving of special commendable mention. Miss Evelyn Goodwin, Director of Public Relations and Mr. Milton Miller, Business Manager of the staff of Downstate Medical Center, and also Mr. David C. Rivinus are to be thanked for their kind assistance.

Gratitude must be expressed to Mr. Lawrence Landsman, vice-president of Guide-Kalkhoff-Burr, Inc., and Mr. Arell Andersen, his assistant, both of whom aided greatly, from their wide experience, in the fine production of the book, and to the Alumni, who by their subscriptions and indulgent patience in awaiting the book, helped to make possible its publication.

The Editor feels he would be remiss if he failed to acknowledge his indebtedness to the Alumni for the distinctive privilege afforded him in this labor of love to compile and correlate the contents of the book, the painstaking task of which begs for the humble apologies if there be any error or omission.

FOREWORD . . .

It is a pleasure to write a foreword of this history of the Medical College. For the past twenty-five years I have been hoping that its story would be written and I am pleased that it has finally been accomplished through the efforts of the Alumni Association. Most of the historical research and writing of the college history has been done by Dr. Arnold Eggerth who for many years was in the Department of Microbiology. Another collaborator was Dr. Jean A. Curran former Dean and President and now Professor of the History of Medicine. Many of the Alumni have assisted in the writing and editing under the able and devoted direction of Dr. Abraham Jablons '14. The result is a most fascinating and readable story. The editor and his associates deserve the gratitude of all who have ever had any connection with the College.

The history of the past one hundred years unfolds in a manner which reminds one of a time-lapsed motion picture of a flowing plant. One can see the early struggle of the tender, new sprout and watch it almost wither and then take on new strength. It grows in vigor and puts out a few early buds. Again it sags, but finally blossoms in strength and glory.

The history of this Medical College in Brooklyn epitomizes the development of medical education in this country. Like all early medical schools, it was founded as a proprietary institution. Its Faculty was paid solely out of student fees. The receipts went into a common pool and were divided at the end of each year on a pro rata basis. It differed from all previous colleges in that it was an integral part of a hospital whose wards and clinics were used for teaching. Its first Faculty was peripatetic with most of the professors teaching in Brooklyn in the Spring and at other locations in the Summer, or Fall, or Winter.

Thus it shared with other colleges the wisdom and personality of such men as Flint, and Dalton, and Doremus. Subsequently, the Faculty was augmented by the addition of young Alumni of promise, many of whom later occupied important Chairs in the College. At a later period, as was the custom in similar institutions, some teaching was introduced in other outstanding hospitals of the community. The great majority of even the pre-clinical subjects were taught by physicians whose major interest was the practice of medicine. Dr. Abraham Flexner in his famous report of 1910 criticized the College because of its proprietary nature and recommended that it seek an affiliation with a university. The American Medical Association demoted it to a Class B school, a rating which two years later was raised to Class A.

Despite many previous attempts to amalgamate the many separate institutions of higher learning in Brooklyn, a "Brooklyn University" could never be organized. Consequently, the Regents and particularly the Faculty of the College sought an affiliation with Columbia University. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the President of that great University, was sympathetic to the Brooklyn situation and gave serious thought to the possibility of taking it under his wing, thereby giving Columbia two medical schools, one, the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and the other the Long Island College Hospital. This did not meet with the approval of the Trustees or the Faculty of Columbia. He then offered to help the Brooklyn school by loaning on a part time basis one of his most able administrators in the person of Dr. James C. Egbert. He was duly installed as President of the College of Medicine of the Long Island College Hospital in 1916. He brought to it a more academic type of organization, both financial and educational. However, it still was an independent institution.

There were several reasons why it seemed advisable to separate the College of Medicine from the Long Island College Hospital and organize it in 1930 as an independent educational institution under the name of the Long Island College of Medicine. One reason was that by 1930, the bulk of the fourth year instruction was given in hospitals other than the parent institution. This meant that many physicians were appointed to the clinical staffs of other hospitals by the governing body of those hospitals and were dependent for their faculty appointments on the Board of Regents of the Long Island College Hospital. This necessity for dual appointments by two hospitals was fraught with many complications. A second reason for the establishment of an independent college was related to fund raising. It was believed and found that gifts and grants for educational purposes could be more easily obtained if the college stood on its own feet rather than remaining as a division of the Long Island College Hospital. The first Board of Trustees of Long Island College of Medicine was made up of representatives of the governing boards of not only the parent hospital, but also of the Brooklyn Hospital, the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital and the Methodist Episcopal Hospital in all of which teaching programs were well organized. Also on the Board were members of the community who had no hospital responsibilities.

The preliminary work attendant upon the organization of the Long Island College of Medicine took place in 1929. Many people indicated their interest in contributing to the College at such time as it should receive its Charter from the New York State Board of Regents. This was not obtained until the following year. Unfortunately, the great financial crash of the Autumn of 1929 so depleted the charitable reserves of these potential donors that many were unable to complete the informal pledges which they had made prior to the crash.

However, enough funds were contributed to enable the College to purchase a large tract of land from the Brooklyn Home for Children on Sterling Place near the Grand Army Plaza. This site was selected because it was relatively equi-distant from Long Island College Hospital, the Brooklyn Hospital, the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital, the Methodist Episcopal Hospital and the Kings County Hospital. The original hopes were that on that site there would be erected a laboratory for basic science teaching and research and that the out-patient and ward teaching would be contained in the above named hospitals. It was also hoped that the Medical Society of the County of Kings might move to a portion of this same tract of land. By so doing, it was thought that it could share auditoria and small seminar rooms with the College and that the College would have the benefit of sharing the great library of the Medical Society. In this way, undergraduate and postgraduate medical education would stem from the same headquarters. Perhaps in the light of what has happened since, it was just as well that these hopes did not materialize for it is now apparent that it would have been necessary to have also erected a small teaching University Hospital which would have entailed many more millions of dollars. It soon became apparent that any building program would have to be postponed till after the depression had subsided and so the land was sold and the College authorities turned to the task of bettering the existing faculty and facilities and financial structure of the Institution.

Dr. Egbert remained as President of the College throughout its reorganization and after his resignation in 1931, I was appointed to succeed him. A second attempt was made to affiliate with Columbia. This, however, occurred during the depression years when even that great University had to give up some of its peripheral activities and concentrate on its main college and existing graduate schools.

Failing this, efforts were then made to secure funds so that the Long Island College of Medicine might become a leading institution comparable to the great university colleges of medicine, even without university connection.

A most timely and munificent gift was made in 1931 by one of the College's great Alumni, Dr. John O. Polak, '91. He gave funds for the erection of a building to provide additional laboratories for both teaching and research. This was connected floor by floor with the Hoagland Laboratory. With these expanded facilities, it was possible to attract new heads of departments with their research teams.

In 1933, my father died leaving a bequest of about $1,700,000 to the College. He had been interested all his life in education and in Brooklyn, and felt that a strong Medical School would serve a great community need. The income from this bequest permitted the College to provide more adequate salaries and facilities. One of the first appointments thereafter was Dr. Jean R. Oliver as Professor of Pathology. Distinguished leaders in other basic sciences were subsequently appointed. Over the next ten years it was possible to place many of the teachers of the Clinical Departments on part time salary, thereby affording partial compensation for their services in administering their departments. Eventually, thanks to grants by the Commonwealth Fund, the Department of Environmental Medicine and Community Health was organized. This developed an important division of industrial medicine in which several of our Alumni played important parts: namely, Dr. Cassius Hinds Watson '05 of American Telephone & Telegraph, Dr. John Wittmer '22 of Consolidated Edison and Dr. George Howard Gehrmann '13 of the duPont Company. Thanks also to help from the Commonwealth Fund, the College was enabled to establish an individual Department of Psychiatry and opened a clinic named after one of our most noted Alumni, Dr. William Alanson White '91.

As the war was drawing to its close, the administration, faculty and trustees realized that the College could not maintain its high standards much longer under the then existing facilities with its relatively small endowment. A Joint Committee was organized to study the situation and to make recommendations. After many months of deliberation and consultation with other medical educators and with fund raising concerns, it was decided to engage in a major financial campaign. It was determined to change the location of the College from Henry Street to the area adjoining the Kings County Hospital. In that location it would be close to not only that big City institution with its 3300 beds, but also in close proximity to the Brooklyn State Hospital with 3800 beds, and with the Kingston Avenue Hospital for contagious diseases which institution could take care of about 250 patients. The goal of the campaign was $16,000,000. It was the College's first major drive. The Alumni responded wholeheartedly and contributed over $400,000. Other individuals and firms, chiefly within Brooklyn, gave generously. The first money was used for the purchase of the three square blocks of vacant land on Clarkson Avenue facing Kings County Hospital. Other receipts were used for the drawing of plans for a large building to house the basic sciences, both for teaching and for research purposes and some of the moneys were employed for expansion of existing departments. However, the total sum collected was far short of the needed amount.

At this period, fortunately, the State University of New York was created and was empowered to include within its structure two colleges of medicine—one was to be located upstate and one downstate. In the face of considerable competition on the part of lay and professional groups in neighboring areas, the Trustees of State University selected the Long Island College of Medicine as its downstate Medical Center.

This decision was made on the basis of its able faculty, of its long heritage, of its endowments in money and in land, and its plans for future development. So at long last our School procured the University association which it needed and now is firmly established among the great American medical colleges.

Throughout the years the Alumni Association has shown loyal interest in the College, and its leaders have kept the graduates together in spite of the changes of name of their Alma Mater. The Association has contributed to scholarships, and Alumni all over the country gave generously at the time of the fund raising drive. It is appropriate that the auditorium in the new building should carry the name of Alumni Hall.

It is a temptation to mention by name the great professional and lay leaders whose planning made possible each phase of the School's development. Because this has been so clearly brought out in the history itself, this temptation has been resisted. It is impossible to compare the efforts of the leaders of one generation with those of another, for each era had its crises in which both mistakes and accomplishments were recorded. But the College could not have survived and blossomed had it not been for the unselfish devotion of high minded individuals. To them, both the named and unnamed, the present College gives grateful thanks. Now under the aegis of the great University of the State of New York all can look forward to continued and expanded service to the science and practice of the healing arts.

"In the beginning . . ."

GENESIS 1:1

"TO THE LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL BELONGS THE DISTINCTION OF HAVING INAUGURATED THE HOSPITAL-COLLEGE SYSTEM OF MEDICAL INSTRUCTION IN THIS COUNTRY; AT THE TIME ITS MEDICAL COLLEGE WAS ORGANIZED, IT WAS THE ONLY PROFESSIONAL SCHOOL IN THE UNITED STATES CONDUCTED ON THAT PLAN OF INSTRUCTION."

History of Medicine in New York, J. J. WALSH.

The City: BROOKLYN

1856 A century ago, Brooklyn<sup>1</sup> was an entity as a city and the third largest in the United States with a population of approximately 200,000. Its boundaries were the East River and the New York Harbor to the north, the southern and eastern boundary was a curving line from the water front at South 59th Street extending along the southern edge of Greenwood Cemetery, then through the middle of what is now Prospect Park, thence to the Cemetery of the Evergreens to Newtown Creek, and back to the East River.

Its chief industries were shipping, manufacturing, and the distillation of whisky. The bulk of the population, mostly newly arrived from Germany and Ireland, was compressed into a narrow strip along the water front. In many areas poverty and overcrowding were extreme. Hordes of homeless, begging children roamed the streets. Over a thousand milch cows were stabled in the city to consume the distillery residues. The milk from these cows ("swill milk" as the newspapers called it) was marketed for human use. Numerous draft and carriage horses were kept in the city. Where houses were scattered, cows, goats, and pigs wandered at large. The low land south of Myrtle Avenue and near Gowanus Bay was marshy for most of the year and the drainage from the stables found its way into these marshes.

The City of Brooklyn had no municipal water works.<sup>2</sup> Water was obtained from back-yard wells and from public cisterns. There were practically no sewers. The only sanitary arrangements were outdoor privies. Scores of "night scavengers," as they were called, cleaned these out in the early morning hours and carted away the "night soil." The Board of Health consisted of the Mayor and three aldermen. Under them were eight Health Wardens whose duty it was to inspect privies, stables, basements, and other potential "nuisances." There was also a city Health Officer, a physician. He recorded deaths, their causes, issued burial permits, and advised the Mayor and the Common Council in times of cholera and yellow fever epidemics.

<sup>1</sup>Prior to incorporation as a city, Brooklyn was made up of six separate towns, five of which were mostly Dutch populated, namely: Flatlands, Flatbush, Brooklyn, Bushwick, and New Utrecht, and one, Gravesend, was predominately English.

From Brooklyn one reached the City of New York by means of ferries, of which the Fulton Ferry was the oldest and largest. The section of the city known as "South Brooklyn" (south of Atlantic Street and west of Hoyt Street) was served by the South Ferry that ran from the foot of Atlantic Street (now Atlantic Avenue) to Whitehall Street in New York. Transportation to the rest of Long Island was by means of the Long Island Railroad, which had tracks on Atlantic Street and a terminal at South Ferry. As steam trains could not cope with the steep grades of Cobble Hill (which had its summit at Clinton Street), a tunnel was constructed beginning at Boerum Place and emerging near the Ferry House. In 1859 steam trains no longer ran on Atlantic Street, the tunnel was closed, and horse-drawn surface cars replaced the Long Island Railroad trains on this thoroughfare.

During the year 1856 the deaths numbered 3,762 in a population of about 200,000. This is about 19 per thousand, as compared with the yearly mortality rate in New York City today which is about 8 per thousand. The leading reported causes of death were "cholera infantum" (in the summer months), dysentery, marasmus, scarlet fever, "convulsions" (in infants), consumption, inflammation of the lungs, croup, and small pox. Diphtheria was as yet unknown. Street and industrial accidents were common. At intervals epidemics of cholera and yellow fever took heavy toll.

Hospital and Dispensary Facilities

There was only one hospital available in the City of Brooklyn. This was the Brooklyn City Hospital on Raymond Street near DeKalb Avenue. In 1856 this hospital treated 653 patients of whom 456 were seamen. The Marine Hospital at the Navy Yard was not for civilians. The Kings County Hospital was far away, in the Village of Flatbush, a point so distant that the practical problem of conveying a patient there was very great, especially as the ambulance was still fifteen years in the future. It was easier to transport a patient to a New York hospital by ferry, and this was usually done.

Early in 1856 there were four free dispensaries operating in the City of Brooklyn. One was in far off Williamsburg. Others were the Brooklyn Dispensary located at 109 Pineapple Street, the Brooklyn Central Dispensary at 173 Fulton Street, corner of Hanson Place, and a small Homeopathic Dispensary at 52 Court Street.

As one reads the daily newspapers of that era, one finds that in the frequent street and industrial accidents the patient was carried to the nearest police station or drug store where he received emergency treatment by some available doctor. Then he was usually taken to his home. Only in the case of the very poor, the homeless, or in dire emergency was he taken to either Brooklyn City Hospital, Kings County Hospital, or to a New York hospital.

South Brooklyn had largely a German population made up chiefly of recent immigrants. Among them were two German physicians, Dr. Louis Bauer and Dr. Gustav Braeunlich. Both were leaders and good speakers, who frequently addressed Germanic groups on current topics. Dr. Bauer had been active in politics and a member of the German Parliament. Following the uprisings of 1848 in central Europe, he had spent a year in prison on a political charge. Dr. Bauer had arrived in Brooklyn in 1854 and the following year opened an orthopedic institution at 459 Pacific Street.

It was decided by Dr. Bauer and his associates that a free Dispensary for the German speaking poor was needed. Early in March, 1856 the German General Dispensary was opened at 132 Court Street, south of Pacific Street. The staff consisted of Drs. Augustus Kalt and Gustav Braeunlich, consulting physicians; and Drs. Louis Bauer and Charles Neuhaus, consulting surgeons. The resident physician was Dr. Daniel Pfeiffer. Mr. Hermann was copper and leecher. A notice in the Brooklyn Evening Star of March 22, 1856 announced that the Dispensary "will be kept open every day, Sunday excepted, from 2 to 4 o'clock for the poor in general."

The record book of the Dispensary, entitled the "Diarium," states that the first case treated was on March 17; the patient's name, Louis Prell, of 3 Hamilton Avenue; the diagnosis "Splenitis chronica."

The St. John's Hospital Project

1857 Early in 1857 the Dispensary moved to larger quarters at 145 Court Street. This house had three floors and a basement. It was in reality a hospital as well as a dispensary, for it had beds for a few inpatients and operations were performed on the premises. The Dispensary staff was changed. Consulting physicians now were Drs. Edward Maebert and Gustavus Braeunlich; consulting surgeons were Drs. Louis Bauer and William Arming; resident physician was Dr. Herman Zundt; and Mr. Hermann was still copper and leecher.

The original intention of the founders of the Dispensary was eventually to build a large German hospital to care for a predominantly German population. However, the nationality of the local inhabitants was changing, with the Irish immigration sweeping into Brooklyn. By late 1857 German names in the Diarium were largely replaced by such names as Ryan, Mahoney, Casey, O'Reilly, or Cassidy.

Dr. Bauer invited two other prominent Brooklyn physicians to confer with the German Dispensary group for the purpose of establishing a hospital broader in its scope than was first contemplated. They were Drs. Daniel Ayres and John Byrne. Dr. Ayres, a noted Brooklyn surgeon, had been one of the founders of the Brooklyn City Hospital. Dr. Byrne, Irish by birth, had received his medical training at the University of Edinburgh. On coming to this country he had enrolled at the University of the City of New York Medical Department and received a second M.D. degree from there in 1852. He was known as an eminent gynecologist.

On October 27, 1857<sup>3</sup> a meeting of the projectors of the new hospital was held at the German General Dispensary. Those named in the minutes of the meeting were Drs. Louis Bauer, Daniel Ayres, John Byrne, and Messrs, Samuel Slocum, C. N. Bovee, Harry Messenger, Cornelius Dever, and Daniel Chauncey. At this meeting the following resolution was proposed and carried:

“Resolved, that it is expedient to organize a charitable institution in the City of Brooklyn, to be called St. John’s Hospital, and this meeting hereby pledge their support and cooperation in establishing the same.”

A committee consisting of Messrs. Dever, Messenger, Slocum and Dr. Ayres was appointed to draft a charter and by-laws, and to effect an immediate temporary organization of the Hospital on the basis of the German General Dispensary preliminary to incorporation. It should be noted, however, that at this time there was no mention of a medical college.

The projectors of the new hospital met again on November 5, 1857. It was then decided that the German General Dispensary be henceforth known as The St. John’s Hospital. Dr. Bauer, on behalf of the Dispensary, proposed a transfer to the new institution of the furniture and property of the Dispensary together with a lease of the building until May 1, 1860.

On November 7, 1857 the following entry was inscribed in the Diarium, immediately following the record of case No. 850:

Explanation

“The German General Dispensary” was merged into The St. John’s Hospital on the 7th of November, 1857. From this date the hospital was instituted by the Board of Regents and its clinical department organized at No. 145 Court St. by the appointment of the following officers:

Physicians

John Byrne, M.D.
Roger S. Olmstead, M.D.
Gustavus Braeunlich, M.D.

Surgeons

Louis Bauer, M.D.
Daniel Ayres, M.D.

Resident Physician and Superintendent

Herman Zundt, M.D.

<sup>3</sup>Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, first Historian of the Institution, regarded this date as the inception of the Long Island College Hospital.

The entry in the Diarium was made as given above, and at some later date the name "St. John's" was erased and "Long Island" written over the erasure, and the word "College" inserted after "Long Island."

On the page of the Diarium facing this "Explanation" the following appears:

The Clinical Department
of
St. John's Hospital
Instituted Nov. 7th, 1857
Incorporated March 5th 1858.

Note: On receiving the "Act of Incorporation" the medical officers resigned their temporary positions, and the Council and Faculty were duly appointed in accordance with the Provisions of the Charter and By-Laws.

As with the "Explanation," the name "St. John's" was later erased and "Long Island College" written over it. The date of incorporation (which should have been March 6) and the "Note" must also have been added at a later time.

After these two entries the Diarium lists case No. 851, which was the first treated under the new organization. This patient was a sixteen year old boy named John Carigano who lived at 912 Tillary Street. The diagnosis was "Fev. Int. quod." (fever intermittent quotidian—a common diagnosis in those days).

In the Brooklyn Daily Eagle of December 16, 1857 public notice was "hereby given that at the next session of the New York State Legislature application will be made for a charter for the 'St. John's Hospital.'"

Long Island Hospital and Medical College

The word "College" does not appear in any record where the institution is mentioned prior to December 23, 1857<sup>4</sup> On that date a special meeting of "the officers of St. John's Hospital" was called. On motion by Mr. Samuel Sloan the name of the institution was changed from "St. John's Hospital" to "The Long Island Hospital and Medical College." It was on this date that a medical college with a hospital was first projected.

There is no record telling us who first thought of combining a medical school with a hospital in Brooklyn. One can only surmise that six or seven men, more than any of the others, could be credited with the idea and the decision.

<sup>4</sup>On December 23, 1887, Mr. Thomas H. Rodman, Regent since 1858, together with a group including early figures of the Long Island College Hospital, met to commemorate the 30th Anniversary of the Institution, at which time noteworthy addresses were rendered, recalling the early history and progress of the College and Hospital. It would appear, that, in those early days, the date of December 23, 1857 was regarded as the true beginning of the Long Island College Hospital.

The Hon. Samuel Sloan, who moved the resolution at the December 23rd meeting was a civic leader of great influence. At that time he was president of the Hudson River Railroad and a senator of the State Legislature. He had long advocated the establishment of a University in Brooklyn. The warmth with which he upheld the college-hospital idea shows how strongly he favored it from the beginning. Mr. Sloan, who had a great deal of civic pride, was irked at the thought that New York City had two medical schools, with two more being projected and that much smaller up-state communities (Fairfield, Buffalo, Albany, and Geneva) had colleges of medicine, whereas Brooklyn, third largest city of the nation in population had none.

Drs. Bauer and Byrne, prime movers in the new institution, had received their medical education in Europe where it was customary for great medical schools to have associated hospitals for their mutual advantage. Dr. Ayres, another of the original group, was not educated in Europe but he was credited by his colleagues "as one of the moving spirits in establishing the system of education as here carried out."

There are no records definitely connecting Drs. Mason, Dudley and Mitchell with the projected institution at this date. However, as they were appointed to the first Council (the real ruling body) early in 1858, it appears probable that their advice had been sought in 1857. It is known that they were well acquainted with the European college-hospital system. Dr. Mitchell had studied for two years in the medical institutions of England and Paris. Dr. Dudley had received his medical education in Dublin. In the summer of 1857 he had spent some time visiting the medical schools of England and the Continent, and was much impressed by the merits of the college-hospital association.

The Long Island College Hospital of the City of Brooklyn

1858 On January 20, 1858 Mr. Sloan gave notice to the Legislature of intent to introduce a bill to incorporate "The Long Island College Hospital of the City of Brooklyn." This record is important because it is the first in which the name "The Long Island College Hospital" is used.

On March 6 the bill passed the State Legislature and The Long Island College Hospital received its Charter. Besides a Board of Regents of twenty-five members, the Charter provided that there be a Medical Council and a Faculty.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>5</sup>In 1867 the Law required two separate Faculties—a Faculty of the College and a Faculty of the Hospital.

Perry Mansion, 1858

The Site for the College Hospital— Perry Property (Illustration)

The first concern of the Regents was to find a location for the College Hospital. On January 7, 1858 a Committee was instructed to approach Dennis Perkins, owner of the "Perry Property," for a "refusal thereof at a price not exceeding. . . . $32,500." On February 18 the Committee reported that it had been able to purchase the property for $31,250. This contract was in the name of Mr. Samuel Sloan who gave his personal bond for the purchase money.

The "Perry Property," situated west of Henry Street between Pacific and Amity Streets, was formerly a part of the farm of Ralph Patchen, on a portion of which in 1835 Mr. Joseph Perry had built an imposing residence. The main building was two stories high, with a porch and tall Ionic columns, flanked by two one story wings with extensive glassed-in conservatories. Beautiful landscaped gardens surrounded the house.

The new Board of Regents met on March 13. Mr. Sloan was not one of the Regents named in the Charter. At this meeting he was elected to succeed Mr. Alfred Large, deceased, and was immediately made Chairman and then President of the Board. The Regents were all laymen as the Charter prohibited any member of the Faculty from serving on the Board.

The Regents appointed as the first Council, Drs. Chauncey L. Mitchell, William H. Dudley, Theodore L. Mason, and John Byrne. Drs. Daniel Ayres and Louis Bauer were named as the first Faculty.

The actual management of the new institution was in the hands of the Joint Board of the Council and Faculty. The first action of this Board was to nominate Drs. Gustavus Braeunlich and Edwin N. Chapman as Physicians to the Hospital and Dr. Roger S. Olmstead as Adjunct Physician in Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children. Dr. Byrne soon asked to be transferred from the Council to the position of Physician to the Hospital. This was done, and Dr. James H. Henry was appointed in his place on the Council.

The Regents now found themselves faced with the problem of raising money. The method first adopted was to solicit citizens to become annual "members" of the institution by the payment of $10, and for $100 a certificate of life-membership was issued. Some 45-50 life memberships were sold in 1858. The Council and Faculty raised $2,500. A lecture by Ralph Waldo Emerson for the benefit of the institution netted $100.

In April, 1858 Messrs. Dever, Delisser and Messenger, of the Regents, prepared a circular letter of which 2,000 copies were printed and distributed to the public throughout the "City of Churches." This letter said in part:

" . . . This institution appeals in the strongest manner to our benevolence and Christian sympathies. Here the unfortunate, the friendless, and the destitute will find a home when afflicted by sickness, their wants be relieved, and the best medical attention supplied them. If unable to pay for these benefits, they are freely bestowed without charge to any and to all.

"In the establishment of this public charity, it is proposed to furnish:

- “1. A hospital with an in-door and out-door department for the treatment of medical and surgical cases.
- “2. A lying-in department for the poor and unfortunate.
- “3. A corps of regularly educated and licensed nurses.
- “4. A college, where all branches of medical science shall be taught and illustrated, and where medical students can be practically trained.

"The sources of casualty are constantly increasing with our population and commerce. A large number of accidents occurring along our water line, are now necessarily carried to New York, and there is actual demand for a public hospital, upon a liberal foundation, in the southern section of our city.

"It has long since been apparent that the interests of humanity as well as science call loudly for a lying-in institution where the unfortunate and needy are provided for in the hour of suffering. The proposed practical training and instruction of nurses, bearing a certificate of the institution after thorough examination, will particularly commend itself as among the pressing wants of the community.

"In England, France and Germany and in our own country it has been practically demonstrated that a hospital in which medical education is not carried out, very rapidly degenerates and soon fails to represent the average standard of medical science, whilst colleges without hospitals to illustrate their teachings, become theoretical and produce men untrained and unequal to the practical demands of the community.

"The science of medicine has advanced, by the united efforts of thousands of minds in different quarters of the globe through a succession of ages and by slow and difficult steps to the present standard. To make this knowledge grow, spread, and reproduce itself in a community, it must be fostered and encouraged.

"The City of Brooklyn, from its contiguity to another great city, has in this respect been dependent; and not feeling the immediate necessity of its wants, has neglected to establish within itself the temples of science stored with the resources of knowledge, keeping its own professional men alive to their duty. The fact is worthy of remark, that in proportion to its population our city has invested less capital in objects of this character than any other city in this country or in Europe. There can be no just reason why the continued neglect of these important truths should fasten an opprobrium upon a wealthy city destined for a proud position. . . ."

By May 4, 1858 purchase of the Perry property was completed, furniture bought, and necessary alterations begun. The Dispensary on Court Street was vacated. Patients were admitted very soon thereafter, even while alterations were going on. On June 17 a reporter from the Brooklyn Daily Eagle visited the hospital and found that it already had 20 inpatients, with accommodations for 50. It was stated that the cost to the poor would be $3.00 per week and more for others. The Dispensary was open daily from 12 Noon to 2 P.M. Four hundred patients had used the Dispensary service since its opening.

Inauguration Festival of The Long Island College Hospital

On June 3 The Long Island College Hospital staged a grand "Inauguration Festival" at the Athenaeum, a large hall at the northeast corner of Clinton and Atlantic Streets. Two hundred and five guests were present at this banquet, for which tickets were sold at $5.00 each. Mr. Sloan presided and in his opening speech he read the circular of April, quoted in part above. He gave great credit to "the warm and generous hearted citizens of German birth who designed at first to minister to the suffering poor," and to this group, he said, the institution owed its existence.

The guest of honor on this occasion was the venerable Dr. J. S. Francis of New York, one of the first Faculty members of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and a colleague of Romayne, Bard, Mott, and Hosack. This patriarch said, in effect, that it was high time Brooklyn had a medical school, and why had it been delayed so long? Other distinguished speakers included Archbishop Hughes from New York, the Rev. Richard S. Storrs, celebrated pulpit orator, and Drs. Theodore Mason and Louis Bauer.

Formal Opening of The Long Island College Hospital

On November 15, 1858 The Long Island College Hospital was formally opened "for the inspection of the profession and the public generally." In the evening of that day, Dr. Mason made an address in the new amphitheater. He commented on the fact that the beautiful greenhouses had had to be removed; that the amphitheater they were in was intended for surgical and other demonstrations; that laboratories for both Anatomy and Chemistry were nearby. There was a Library in the rear with shelves still bare, but the museum already had specimens. The Faculty had been enlarged so that it now included Drs. Ayres, Chapman, Bauer and Byrne. The Council still consisted of Drs. Mason, Mitchell, Dudley and Henry. Dr. Mason reported that $11,000 had been paid toward the property, $1,600 had been spent for furniture, and $2,600 for alterations.

Organizing the College Department

On November 20, 1858 a committee was named "to organize the College Department with reference to giving a course of lectures next spring" and to "make inquiries and report suitable and available individuals to occupy the respective Chairs." This committee consisted of Drs. Mason, Dudley, Ayres, Chapman and Mitchell. Dr. Ayres soon resigned and his place was taken by Dr. Byrne.

1859 The committee named above met on January 13, 1859. The minutes of this meeting, written by Dr. Mason, stated that "they felt deeply impressed with the importance of their action in influencing the character and reputation of the College for future years. They were unwilling to destroy the prospective eminence and efficiency of the College by recommending men of inferior merit and thus bring failure and disgrace to the supporters of the project and serious injury to the community it was intended to benefit.

"The profession in Brooklyn was carefully canvassed and after due deliberation it was deemed best to look to New York, New Haven, or Philadelphia for candidates. . . . They were countenanced in looking elsewhere by the almost universal custom of the Medical Schools of the United States . . . and by the Charter, which requires them to look to the 'whole profession as recognized by the American Medical Association.'"

The hope to begin a course of lectures in 1859 had to be abandoned as the committee was unable to constitute a suitable Faculty early enough to make this possible.

On May 7, 1859 Dr. Louis Bauer resigned from The Long Island College Hospital. Before the end of the year Drs. Ayres and Byrnes also resigned.

The Financial Problems of the Early Years

During the summer of 1859 the financial difficulties of the new institution became most acute. Public support had not been sufficient, and City and State aid was not yet forthcoming. The Brooklyn City Hospital and the various dispensaries were at that time receiving such aid. Various devices for raising money had not succeeded. The Regents, who had themselves given freely, went out with subscription books to solicit contributions.

On September 28 the Treasurer reported debts exceeding $5,000, whereupon the Regents decided to close the institution. No new patients were to be admitted except accident cases. The Hospital remained closed until the following March.

In the meantime the Council and Faculty Committee had secured several men of outstanding eminence to fill the professorships of the teaching Faculty. This Committee was filled with consternation when it learned that the plans for opening the Collegiate Department had been reconsidered and rejected. It made a proposal, signed by Drs. Mitchell, Dudley and Mason, that if the Regents would liquidate the floating debt and take measures to satisfy the mortgage on the property, the Committee would guarantee the sum of $3,000 to carry on the Collegiate Department.

The Regents refused this offer. They took steps to liquidate the affairs of The Long Island College Hospital and to sell the property at public auction "at a price to be not less than $28,500" subject to the mortgage of $20,000 now on the property. It appeared as if The Long Island College Hospital were to disappear ingloriously.

Announcing the College Re-Opening

Reproduced from The Long Islander Medical

The Joint Board now made a new offer which was presented to the Regents on November 28, 1859. They withdrew their previous demand and now offered, without any conditions whatever, to assume the entire cost of the teaching department for the first course of lectures. They asked only that the proceeds, if any, of that department be applied to reimburse the amount they would advance. In other words, they would take all the risk.

In a polite but vigorous letter to the Regents, they said they felt the task of the Committee bore "directly and forcibly upon the interests of the inhabitants of our City, on the welfare of the medical profession, and on the reputation of your Board." The Committee had done the duty assigned it by the Regents even though it "put at hazard in a measure their reputation for sound judgment and discretion and for integrity, in their negotiations with the gentlemen (the Professors of the projected Faculty) whose consent to be put in nomination they at length and not without difficulty obtained. The Committee was not at liberty to doubt that a Board holding the honorable and responsible position and the important public trusts confided to you, would redeem any obligations of this nature necessarily incurred by those who at your solicitation labored in your service." The letter was signed by Drs. Mitchell, Mason and Dudley, but they spoke for the entire Joint Board.

This letter saved The Long Island College Hospital. The Regents on November 28 accepted the offer and confirmed the organization of the Teaching Department and the nominations of the Professors. The vote of the Regents was not unanimous—ten voted aye, five voted no, one abstained.

The Joint Board had underwritten the expense of the Collegiate Department, but it was still necessary to find over $8,000 to settle various liens (the floating debt). This was done early in December by selling the property at public auction to Dr. William H. Dudley for $28,550 subject to the mortgage of $20,000. This gave the Regents $8,550 in cash. Dr. Dudley held title to the property until May 11, 1865 by which time he had been reimbursed, and the title was transferred back to the Regents.

Re-Opening of the Medical College (Illustration)

1860 On March 29, 1860 The Long Island College Hospital reopened its doors to receive patients and instruction of students began the next day. They have remained open ever since. The event was celebrated by appropriate exercises. Dr. T. L. Mason reviewed the history and aims of the institution in an introductory address. He was followed by Dr. Frank H. Hamilton, Professor of Surgery, who gave a lecture on the progress of medical education and medical science in this country. Then, in the words of the Brooklyn Eagle, the audience inspected the several departments of the Hospital, expressing "much gratification at the neatness and order which were everywhere manifest."

The First Teaching Faculty (Illustration)

The first teaching Faculty was a distinguished one. Most eminent was DR. AUSTIN FLINT, Sr., Professor of Practical Medicine and Pathology. Dr. Flint had been Professor of Medicine at Rush Medical College in Chicago. In 1846 he was appointed on the original Faculty of Medicine of the University of Buffalo Medical College as Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine and Clinical Medicine, which position he held until 1859. He established the Buffalo Medical Journal which he edited for ten years. Later he became Professor of Medicine at Louisville University Medical School, and subsequently he moved to the Medical School of New Orleans where he taught until 1861. He was still Professor of Clinical Medicine at New Orleans when he began teaching in Brooklyn in 1860.

Dr. Flint at this time was already well known for his extensive medical writings. He did more than any one in this country to bring the stethoscope into general use and was often called "the American Laennac." His articles on "Cardiac Murmurs" and "An Analytical Study of Auscultation and Percussion" are basic medical classics today. Conservatism in the practice of medicine was his favorite theme. His influence largely contributed to the abandonment of drastic blood-letting, purging, blistering, and use of mercury so greatly in vogue in the previous generation.

DR. FRANK H. HAMILTON, Professor of Surgery, was almost as eminent as Austin Flint. He had taught surgery at Fairfield College of Physicians and Surgeons, and later at Geneva Medical College. With Austin Flint, he had been a founder of the University of Buffalo Medical College, where he taught until he came to Brooklyn. By this time he was already well known as an authority on the treatment of fractures, and his book on the subject was the first complete and exhaustive treatise in English. He was probably the first to advocate and use skin grafting.

DR. JOHN C. DALTON, Professor of Physiology, like Flint and Hamilton, had been on the Faculty of the University of Buffalo Medical College. In 1856 he came to the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York where he remained until 1889. For three years (1860-63) he taught both in New York and in Brooklyn. Dalton was the most eminent physiologist of his day and he was the first in this country to employ animal experimentation.

DR. R. OGDEN DOREMUS, Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology, was also shared with another medical school (New York Medical College of which he was Dean) while teaching here. Dr. Doremus was a speaker of great skill and charm. He was no stranger to Brooklyn, having on many occasions given popular lectures on chemistry, physics, and other scientific subjects to Brooklyn audiences. He disclosed the danger of keeping soda water in copper and lead containers. He investigated the adulteration of milk and the fumigation of buildings. His name has survived as the inventor of a ureometer and other apparatus and procedures.

FIRST TEACHING FACULTY OF THE COLLEGE, 1860

AUSTIN FLINT, SR., M.D., LL.D.

FRANK H. HAMILTON, M.A., M.D., LL.D. JAMES D. TRASK, M.A., M.D.

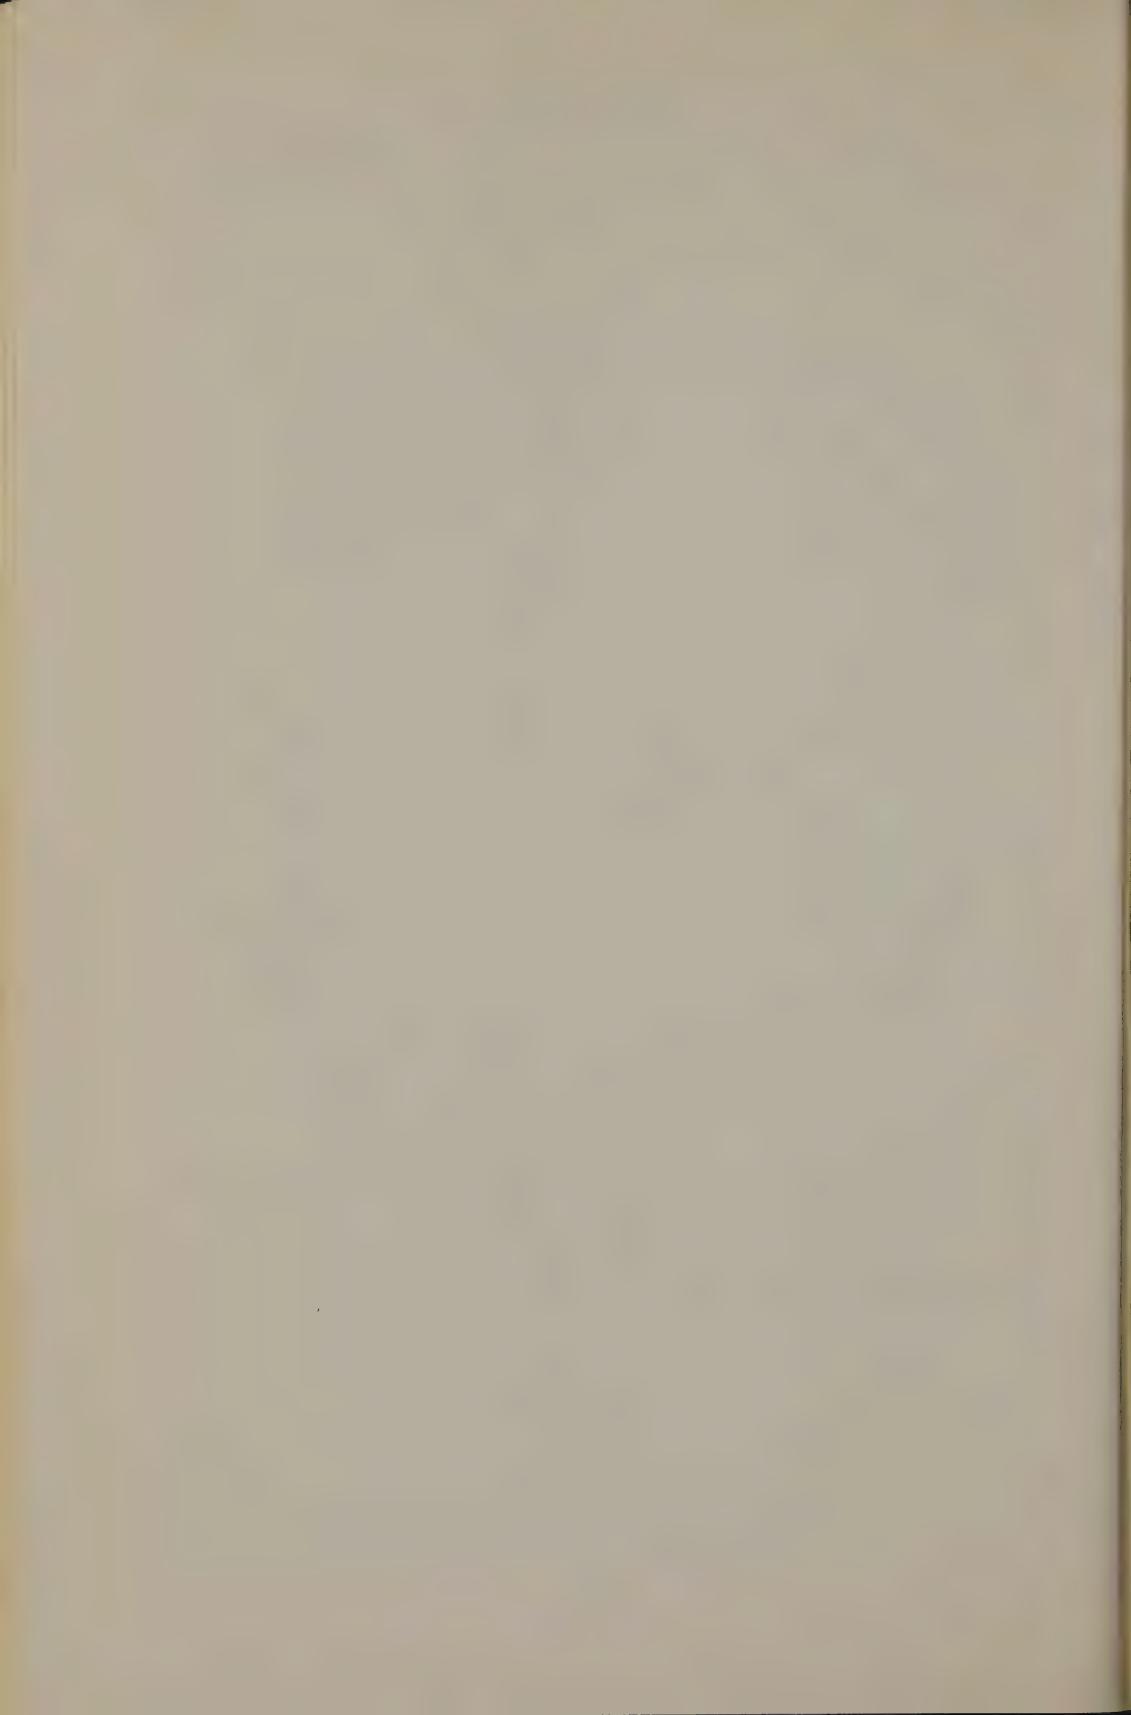

JOSEPH C. HUTCHISON, M.D., LL.D.

JOHN C. DALTON, B.A., M.D.

DE WITT C. ENOS, M.D.

R. OGDEN DOREMUS, M.A., M.D., LL.D.

EDWIN N. CHAPMAN, M.A., M.D.

DR. JAMES D. TRASK was Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children. He was a founder of the American Gynecological Society and was widely known for his clinical knowledge. He had written many professional articles, one of which, on "Placenta Previa," received a prize from the American Medical Association.

The Professor of Surgical Anatomy and Operative Surgery was DR. JOSEPH C. HUTCHISON, a distinguished Brooklyn surgeon. He was on the staff of the Brooklyn City Hospital and was the author of numerous professional papers. At a later time (1873-75) he was medical head of the Brooklyn Board of Health. It will be remembered that among his inspectors was the youthful Walter Reed of Yellow Fever fame whom he had attracted from the Kings County Hospital to the Brooklyn City Hospital.

DR. DEWITT C. ENOS, Professor of Anatomy, was also a surgeon at the Brooklyn City Hospital and the writer of many clinical papers.

DR. EDWIN N. CHAPMAN was Professor of Therapeutics and Materia Medica. He later succeeded Dr. Trask in the Chair of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children. He became one of the "elder statesmen," serving on the Joint Board of the Council and Faculty and later on the Board of Regents.

Requirements for the M.D. Degree

A medical student's training at this time (1860) consisted of two parts. He was required to study for three years under the direction of a practicing physician, known as his preceptor. In addition, he had to attend two full courses of lectures of at least sixteen weeks each at a chartered medical college. The student accompanied his preceptor on house calls, mixed his medicines, assisted in minor surgery, and made himself generally useful.

The lectures that were given one year were repeated the next, sometimes verbatim, so that each student heard the same lectures twice. Many students took their first course of lectures at one school and the second at another. Dissection was the only laboratory course given in which the students did the work themselves. Chemistry and physiology were taught by lectures and demonstrations in the amphitheater. The first Annual Circular of The Long Island College Hospital said, "The course on Physiology will be fully demonstrated by vivisections and the use of the microscope, while that on Chemistry will be illustrated by experiments of great beauty and accuracy."

The Charter granted to the institution specified that the matriculant needed to "have a good education" in order to enter. But "a good education" was not defined, so the phrase was interpreted very liberally. Actually, all that the student needed to know was how to read and write, for one of the requirements for graduation was that he "submit to the Faculty a thesis in his own handwriting on some medical subject." The graduate did not need to take any further examination; his diploma was his license<sup>6</sup> to practice.

The student's fees were $100 for a year's course; the Anatomy Demonstrator's ticket was $5.00 extra. The Circular stated that good board and room could be obtained for $3 to $5 per week. "Students on arriving in the city can call upon Dr. Dudley or on the Janitor . . . who will give them necessary information and assistance."

The Class of 1860

The first class had 57 students as well as a number of graduates from other institutions. Over half of these were in medical school for the first time. The remainder had taken one course at some other medical school so they were eligible for graduation in that same year.

The first commencement took place on July 24, 1860. The exercises were held in the chapel of the Packer Institute, a girls' school still located on Joralemon Street. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs. Dr. Mitchell then addressed the class of 21 graduates and read the Hippocratic Oath. Dr. Mason, President of the Collegiate Department, conferred upon the graduates the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Drs. Mason and Flint delivered short addresses. The valedictorian was S. J. Morrison, and after the exercises the faculty and graduates partook of the hospitality of Dr. Mason.

1861 A preliminary course of one month, beginning February 18, 1861, was added to the curriculum. This was devoted chiefly to lectures by Dr. Hamilton on military surgery, to dissection, and to clinical instruction in the wards. The Civil War was imminent, and the medical schools in anticipation of the conflict were preparing to meet the nation's medical needs. The Regular Term began on March 18 with an enrollment of 55 students of whom 17 were seniors. Fort Sumter was fired upon on April 12. The second commencement was held on July 16.

In that year Drs. Austin Flint, Frank Hamilton, and R. Ogden Doremus were also appointed to the Faculty of the newly established Bellevue Hospital Medical College in New York. These men were able to teach in both institutions because at Bellevue the teaching was done in the fall and winter, whereas in Brooklyn the course was given in the spring and early summer.

The "Circular and Catalogue" for 1861 commented on the success of the first year of instruction and on the advantage of being able to go directly from the lecture hall to the hospital wards. Students under Professor Hutchison practiced operations on the cadaver. Under Dr. Doremus they were permitted and encouraged to make tests for various poisons. In the Out-door Department they were instructed in the practices of percussion, auscultation, minor surgery, and midwifery.

Financial difficulties continued, and more than once Dr. Dudley came to the rescue by advancing money for current expenses amounting to nearly $11,000 during the years 1860-62. Mr. Sloan was able to collect $8,500 in subscriptions. The Council agreed to assume all financial responsibility for the Collegiate Department for another year. The Hospital Faculty and the Hospital Physicians pledged themselves to defray all the expenses of patients up to the first thirty, excepting those admitted for the exclusive benefit of the Teaching Department during the lecture term.

A new wing was added on the Amity Street side of the Hospital.

Faculty Changes

1862-68 In 1862 Professor John C. Dalton resigned the Chair of Physiology to devote his time solely to the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was succeeded by Dr. Austin Flint, Jr., son of the Professor of Medicine. With his father, the latter had taught at the Buffalo University Medical School and at the New Orleans School of Medicine. He became a noted physiologist, known both for his research and as a writer of textbooks.

Both Professors J. D. Trask and R. Ogden Doremus resigned in 1863. Dr. Edwin N. Chapman succeeded Dr. Trask in Obstetrics, and Dr. Darwin G. Eaton became Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology. Dr. William Gilfillan followed Dr. Chapman as Professor of Therapeutics and Materia Medica.

In the year 1867 the resignations of Drs. Joseph S. Hutchison and Edwin N. Chapman took place and also the death of Dr. DeWitt C. Enos. DR. ENOS was succeeded in 1868 by DR. CORYDON L. FORD, known as one of the greatest teachers of anatomy. Dr. Ford did not practice medicine as was customary among his colleagues. He taught anatomy full time and without interruption for 52 years; at the University of Michigan for 40 years and concurrently at The Long Island College Hospital for 18 years. He resided in Ann Arbor in the fall and winter months and in Brooklyn in the spring and early summer.

DR. SAMUEL G. ARMOR, who was destined to be a very important figure in the College, became Professor of Therapeutics, Materia Medica, and General Pathology in 1867. He had taught at Rush Medical College, Iowa University, Medical College of Ohio, Missouri Medical College, and the University of Michigan. Dr. Armor was known as a magnetic speaker and a fine teacher.

The two Austin Flints resigned from the Faculty in 1868 in order to devote full time to the Bellevue Hospital Medical College in New York.

One notes with interest that the name of the Janitor, Andrew Duval, appeared in the Annual Circular with those of the Council and Faculty.

In 1864 Mr. Samuel Sloan, without whose efforts the institution could hardly have survived, was finally permitted to resign as President of the Board of Regents, although he continued as a member of the Board for many years. His successor, Mr. Theodore Polhemus, Jr., died within a year. He was succeeded by Mr. Joseph Ripley who served for two years and was followed in 1866 by Mr. John J. Van Nostrand. Drs. Dudley and Mitchell had been made Regents in 1867, Dr. Mason in 1868, and Dr. Chapman in 1869.

During the Civil War, The Long Island College Hospital did its share in caring for the sick and wounded soldiers. In 1862 a total of 211 wounded men were received and treated. Citizens of Brooklyn contributed time and money, and sympathetic women volunteered to nurse the sick.

The institution for the first time shared in State funds in 1862, receiving a scanty $963, whereas Brooklyn citizens in this year contributed $9,244 so that the institution was able to carry on. In 1864 Mr. Theodore Polhemus raised $22,000 and in the next year the City of Brooklyn gave a grant of $4,000. These sums enabled the institution to pay off the mortgage as well as the floating debt.

The student tuition fee remained $100 until 1867 when it was raised to $140 plus the Anatomy fee of $5.00. During the seven years 1862-68 the average number of matriculants was 80, with an average of 31 in the graduating class.

1869-74 The Chair of Medicine vacated by Austin Flint, Sr., was filled by the appointment of Dr. Samuel G. Armor, who moved on from the Professorship of Therapeutics and Materia Medica.

Dr. William C. Lusk succeeded Austin Flint, Jr., as Professor of Physiology in 1868. He had obtained his M.D. degree at Bellevue Hospital Medical College in 1864 and had studied abroad for three years. In 1871 he divided his time between this school and Harvard, where he lectured in Physiology at the invitation of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. On leaving The Long Island College Hospital in 1871, he was appointed Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children at Bellevue Hospital Medical College. He became widely known for his many contributions to obstetrics and his celebrated text, "Science and Art of Midwifery" went through four editions and was translated into French, Spanish, and Italian.

When Dr. Lusk resigned, his place was taken by Dr. Henry Cheever, then Professor of Physiology at the University of Michigan. In 1874 Dr. Cheever was succeeded by Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68.

In the Department of Chemistry and Toxicology, Dr. Eaton was followed in 1869 by Dr. George W. Plympton, who remained Professor until 1885.

Dr. Edward S. Dunster became Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children in 1869. In 1870 Dr. Alexander J. C. Skene, '63, became Professor of Diseases of Women and Clinical Obstetrics, and Dr. Dunster continued as Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Children.

Dr. Frank Hamilton, sole surviving member of the first faculty, resigned in the latter part of 1870. He was succeeded briefly by Drs. A. B. Crosby (1870-72) and W. W. Green (1872-75). In 1875 Dr. Jarvis Sherman Wight, '64, became Professor of Surgery, a post he was destined to fill for 27 years.

Dr. Samuel Armor, Professor of Medicine, became Dean of the Faculty in 1871, and Dr. Wight was Registrar.

The year 1872 marked the return to the Collegiate Faculty of Dr. John Byrne, one of the founders of the institution, as Clinical Professor of Uterine Surgery. Dr. Byrne had organized St. Mary's Female Hospital in 1868, which became St. Mary's General Hospital in 1879 with Dr. Byrne as President of its Faculty.

The first of two major changes in teaching was introduced in 1869. This was the institution of "Daily Class Examinations" which the Faculty regarded as a much needed reform in medical teaching. They expected that this practice would give the student "more exact knowledge, especially in the demonstrative and elementary branches." This "Quiz System" was retained for many years.

The second great change was made in 1872 by the establishment of a "Reading and Recitation Term" that began early in October and extended to the beginning of the Regular Term in March. This "term" was optional, although many students availed themselves of it. The additional fee for the course was $30, and it was taught chiefly by junior men on the staff. Though designated as a "Reading and Recitation Term," it was not all text books and quizzes; dissection and clinical instruction were also included.

On March 18, 1869 a new wing of The Long Island College Hospital on the Pacific Street side was opened for inspection. To build this wing the institution had to go into debt once more to the extent of $20,000. The original building was also altered and improved in many ways. In 1871 another new wing was added on the Amity Street side at a cost of $12,000. It was built chiefly for the accommodation of United States sailors, providing 60 to 70 additional beds and increasing the hospital capacity to 200 beds.

An ambulance service was made available in 1871, primarily for conveying accident cases to The Long Island College Hospital. A City Ambulance Service was inaugurated in 1873.

The yearly report to the Board of Regents for the year 1870, prepared by Dr. Dudley, contained the following pertinent information:

The total number of in-door patients treated during the year was 1,008, of whom 56 died in the hospital. Of these, 301 were native Americans, 329 Irish born, 95 Germans, 104 from Norway and Sweden, and the remainder from other countries. The average hospital stay was 30.1 days. The actual cost of maintaining the hospital was $16,006.51, or $15.88 for each patient. This was a maintenance cost of $0.53 per patient per day, including food, drugs, and services.<sup>7</sup>

The diseases most treated that year were: Bubo, 46 cases; Chancroid, 52; Contusions, 46; Fever (intermittent) 73; Fractures, 82; Gonorrhea, 71; Orchitis, 19; Parturition, 26; Rheumatism, acute, 45; Syphilis, 123. It is interesting to note that there were only 6 cases of cancer and 8 of heart disease. Consumption very prevalent among the population, was apparently not admitted. Neither were the contagious diseases such as the very common scarlet fever and diphtheria. Nearly one-third of the patients had venereal disease.

In the out-door department 8,421 patients were treated of whom 1,283 were children.

The Treasurer's report for receipts and disbursements for 1869 follows:

Receipts:

Appropriations of City of Brooklyn.....	$ 4,000.00
Appropriation of State of New York.....	4,710.00
Appropriation of State for Dispensary.....	500.00
Donations .....	200.00
Pay patients .....	1,779.00
Interest on Bank Account .....	226.53
Total Receipts .....	$11,415.53

Disbursements:

Groceries .....	$ 5,054.49
Coal, wood, gas, water .....	1,038.14
Wages .....	1,481.45
Insurance .....	272.80
Repairs .....	194.17
Improvements .....	1,288.02
Interest on mortgage .....	700.00
Sundries .....	598.44
Returned loan of Treasurer .....	328.25
Total Disbursements .....	$10,955.76
Balance on Hand .....	459.77
Total .....	$11,415.53

This report is for the Hospital only. It does not give receipts and disbursements for the Collegiate Department. During this year income from fees of students was $6,940, including graduation fees. This sum went for College expenses which included the costs of the Anatomical Laboratory, the stipends of 11 Professors, 6 teaching assistants and demonstrators, a janitor, graduation expenses, plus such items as printing and postage.

<sup>7</sup>The yearly report of the Hospital for 1955 (for comparison) gives the following:

- Total number of patients, 114,362
- Total number of deaths, 420
- Average hospital stay 10.5 days
- Maintenance cost for the year, $3,252,000.16
- Average cost per patient for one day, $28.07

The financial position of the institution was satisfactory. In 1869 the only debt was the mortgage of $20,000 for the then recently constructed wing on Pacific Street.

In these six years a total of 206 students were graduated. The tuition fee, which had been raised to $140 in 1867, was dropped to $100 in 1875.

Dr. Daniel Ayres was appointed Professor of Surgery Emeritus in 1874. Though of Emeritus standing, he became very active in the affairs of the College, and was assigned to assist and advise Dr. E. S. Bunker, who had studied under Virchow. Dr. Bunker became Professor of Histology and General Pathology (a new department in the College) in 1879.

1875-82 As early as 1875 the Annual Announcement had stated that "Post mortem examinations will be made by the students under the direction of the instructor who explains the morbid appearances of the various organs so that the study of fatal cases begun in the Hospital wards is completed at the autopsy table. This plan has been successfully carried on for years in the University of Berlin by the celebrated Virchow and is now, we believe, for the first time introduced into this country." During 1879-81 a Pathological Laboratory was set up and equipped for cutting and staining sections. This Laboratory opened for work in 1882.

A medical journal, The Pathologist, with Dr. Bunker as editor, began publication in 1880. It consisted mostly of reports of post mortem examinations made at The Long Island College Hospital. This journal lasted only two years.

Dr. Charles Jewett became Professor of Obstetrics in 1880-81. In 1882 Dr. Theodore L. Mason resigned from the Presidency of the Council.

By 1879 the Faculty was thoroughly convinced that the method of teaching medicine then in vogue in practically all medical schools was entirely unsatisfactory. As the Annual Announcement of that year stated, "The system of medical teaching generally followed in this country, of repeating the same lectures annually . . . is radically wrong. The Council and Faculty have adopted an elective graded course of instruction for such as desire more thorough and more systematic training in the primary before passing to the more advanced practical branches." This graded course of instruction was provided by adding a Reading and Recitation Term. This term, which was optional, the Faculty hoped soon to make a requirement for graduation.

In May, 1879, the Faculty seriously debated the possibility of inaugurating a compulsory fully-graded three year course of instruction. The idea was regretfully abandoned because it was felt that a three-year course might result in the loss of many students, and the College was entirely dependent for its existence upon students' fees. The great majority of medical colleges still required only two years of study, and these would have attracted prospective students. It is interesting to note that in that same year, 1879-80, the Bellevue Hospital College of Medicine did inaugurate a three year graded course with terms of six months each. So many students were lost that in 1880-81 the third year was made optional.

Certain changes were made in the curriculum to improve the teaching at that time. The Regular term was lengthened from 16 weeks to 5 months, and the Reading and Recitation term remained optional and at 4 months. Any student who wished advanced training could obtain it by electing two Regular and two Reading and Recitation Terms, thus receiving 18 months of instruction in all. The individual courses were flexible enough so that no course needed to be taken twice. Hence, to such students as wanted it, a graded course equivalent to three years of six months of study each year was available. At that date no medical school in the country offered more instruction than was available at The Long Island College Hospital.

In the year 1875-76 laboratory work in chemistry was given to the students. The Announcement of that year stated that "Chemical instruction in the Reading Term is eminently practical. A thorough course of Urine Analysis will be given, each student being supplied with apparatus and making the manipulations himself." Heretofore, the procedure had only been demonstrated to the student.

The Annual Announcement for 1880 stated that the candidate for graduation must pass oral and written examinations in Chemistry, Anatomy, Histology, Physiology, Materia Medica, Therapeutics, Gynecology, Obstetrics, Surgery, and the Practice of Medicine. The minimal requirements for graduation otherwise remained the same: three years of study with a physician of good standing and two courses of lectures.

The Annual Announcement for 1881-82 stated that Brooklyn now had a population of over 500,000 and was still the third largest city in the United States. Board and room could be obtained for $4 to $6 per week.

The City of Brooklyn in 1875 established the Central Depot of the City Ambulance service at The Long Island College Hospital.

In 1875 the graduating class requested that the Commencement Exercises be held at the Academy of Music instead of at Athenaeum as heretofore. For this period (1875-82) the average number of students graduated each year was 44.

1882-88 Faculty changes in this six year period included the retirement of Dr. Daniel Ayres from active duty in 1882. Dr. John D. Rushmore became Professor of Surgery. Dr. Bunker, first Professor of Pathology, resigned in 1883 and was succeeded by Dr. Frank F. Ferguson, '80.

Under Drs. Bunker and Ferguson, the teaching of Pathology became a very important part of the curriculum. Instruction was given throughout the year to students in groups of 15 to 20. Each student was required to have his own microscope or to rent one. Dr. Ferguson believed in teaching clinical medicine at the autopsy table, and his autopsy lectures were deservedly popular.

Dr. Samuel G. Armor died October 27, 1885. He had succeeded Austin Flint as Professor of Medicine in 1869 and had been Dean of the College since 1871. In 1885 Dr. John A. McCorkle, '73, became the new Professor of Medicine. Dr. Edwin A. Lewis became Professor of Anatomy in that year, following Dr. Corydon L. Ford who became Professor Emeritus. In the Department of Chemistry, Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, succeeded Dr. H. Plympton, '80, as Professor.

Dr. Alexander J. C. Skene, '63, became Dean of the Faculty in 1886, and Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, was made its Secretary, a position he was destined to hold for almost 30 years. Dr. Frank E. West, '76, was appointed Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. The Hon. Calvin C. Pratt, Justice of the Supreme Court, was the first Professor of Medical Jurisprudence in 1885.

Dr. William H. Dudley, President of the Collegiate Department, member of the Council since its beginning, and a Regent, died October 9, 1886. To him, more than to any other person, the institution owed its existence during the early years of great financial stress. Whenever the treasury was empty, which was frequent, it was always he who advanced the money to keep things going. It was not only his financial support but also his wise leadership which set for the school the high standards of medical education that prevailed at that time.

Dr. Joseph C. Hutchison, member of the first Faculty, succeeded Dr. Dudley as President of the Collegiate Department in 1887. He died during the following July. Dr. Chauncey L. Mitchell, a founder and member of that small group that had so wisely led the institution since its beginning, became President, and died later in that same year.

A new laboratory for the use of students in chemistry was made available in 1882, and extensive additions and changes were made in the main building. A Training School for Nurses was inaugurated in 1883. Sanitary Science, a field in which Dr. Raymond, '68, had had much experience, was added to the curriculum and attached to the Chair of Physiology.

After 1882-83 the writing of an original thesis prior to graduation was no longer required. It was specified in that year that in addition to passing the examinations mentioned above, the graduate must have dissected each region of the body, and taken one course in Practical Chemistry and Urine-analysis, and one in Practical Histology and Pathology. In 1886-87 the order of giving the Reading Term and the Regular Term was reversed. The Regular Term now began in October and continued for 5 months, to be followed by a Reading Term of 3 months which, as before, was optional.

The Faculty of the College had expanded greatly. By 1887 there were 10 Professors of the Faculty, with 2 Professors Emeriti, (Drs. Ford and Plympton); 10 Professors of special subjects; 12 Lecturers of the Reading Term; and 18 Teaching Assistants.

The Annual Announcement for 1887-88 stated that the Professors of the Regular Term would hold special evening "Quizzes" in their subjects. These were given three evenings a week, usually from 8 to 10, for which there was no extra fee. In that year the total student body numbered 134, with 36 in the graduating class.

The Hoagland Laboratory Building (Illustration)

1888-97 The fall of 1888 marked the completion of the Hoagland Laboratory Building which had been begun the year before. Dr. Cornelius Hoagland, a Regent of The Long Island College Hospital, had the laboratory built primarily for research in the young science of Bacteriology. The building contained a lecture hall, library, and laboratories for the departments of Pathology and Physiology. There was also a well appointed studio and dark room for photography and micro-photography, which were subjects of great personal interest to Dr. Hoagland. A students' laboratory for Pathology and Histology was later installed.

The Hoagland Laboratory structure was in that day one of the finest and best equipped buildings for research and medical teaching in the country. Its first Director was Dr. George M. Sternberg, then America's foremost bacteriologist, and already known throughout the world for his researches on disinfection, malaria, and yellow fever. While the Hoagland Laboratory was under its own Board of Trustees, and therefore not a part of the College or the Hospital, it had always been largely devoted to teaching and other purposes of both institutions.

The first lecture in the Hoagland Laboratory was given to students on September 28, 1888 by Professor Joseph H. Raymond, '68. On November 17, 1888 Dr. Sternberg gave the first of a series of 10 weekly lectures on Bacteriology in Hoagland Hall. The formal opening took place on December 15, with Dr. Newell Martin of Johns Hopkins University giving the main address. While courses in laboratory Bacteriology were given by Dr. Sternberg and the assistant director, Dr. George T. Kemp, they were intended primarily as graduate courses for interested physicians. In 1892, however, a group of 10 undergraduates did take the course in Bacteriology.

Possibly, stimulated by the presence of Dr. Sternberg and the Hoagland Laboratory, the clinical departments became very germ-conscious. The Annual Announcement of 1889-90 stated that students were being taught the details of aseptic practice and antiseptic midwifery.

Dr. Ferguson resigned as Professor of Histology and Pathology in 1890 and was succeeded by Dr. Joshua M. Van Cott, Jr., '85. Since 1887 Dr. Ferguson had been dividing his time between Brooklyn and the New York Post-Graduate Medical School, where he was Professor of Pathology and

Hoagland Laboratory Building

Clinical Medicine. He had also been Pathologist to St. Luke's Hospital during 1883-88, and Pathologist to New York Hospital since 1888.

---

The 1893 Annual Announcement named Dr. Alexander J. C. Skene, '63, as President of the College and Dr. Jarvis S. Wight, '64, as Dean. Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, was still Secretary of the Faculty. In those days the Secretary performed most of the duties and had the responsibilities which are now within the province of the Dean.

In 1894 Dr. William W. Browning succeeded Dr. E. A. Lewis as Professor of Anatomy.

Educational Requirements for Admission to Medical School

The standards of medical education during this period were raised by the passage of new laws by the State Legislature. Thus, in 1891 and thereafter, students could enter a medical school only by obtaining from the Regents of the University of the State of New York a Medical Student's Certificate which indicated possession of certain minimal educational requirements. This Certificate could be obtained by passing a Regent's examination in arithmetic, grammar, geography, orthography, American history, English composition, and natural philosophy (physics), or by attending an accredited High School for at least three years or an accredited college or university for one year.

Requirements for Graduation

The State law now also required that the student must take three courses of lectures instead of two, in three different years. The system of having a Regular Term of five months beginning in the fall, and an optional Reading Term of three months was retained.

During the nine year period 1888-97 the average number of students in the school was 250, and the average number of graduates each year was 63. In the year 1897, however, the enrollment reached 383, the largest it had ever been. This great increase was due to the imminence of the four year course, made mandatory by the State Legislature, and students who were enrolled in that year could still complete the studies required for graduation in three years.

In 1895 the students' fees for the Regular Term were raised to $125.

The Four Year Course of Medical Training

1898 - 1909 The entering class of the year 1897-98 began a four year graded course of instruction. The Reading Term was abolished and the school year lasted seven months, but the Faculty Quizzes were retained. The students' annual fees in 1897 were raised to $185 and $190, and included "tickets" in Anatomy, Chemistry, Urine Analysis, Normal and Pathological Histology, Obstetric Mannikin, and the graduation fee. These "tickets" had been extra charges before.

In 1897 the educational requirements for a Medical Students' Certificate were increased to a minimal education equivalent to a four year course in an accredited high school by the Regents of the University of the State of New York.

The Polhemus Memorial Building (Illustration)

The Polhemus Memorial Clinic Building was begun in the spring of 1896, completed and occupied in December, 1897. This building was erected by Mrs. Caroline Herriman Polhemus as a memorial to her late husband, Henry Ditmas Polhemus. He had been a Regent since 1872 and was one of the institution's most zealous friends. Mr. Polhemus died in 1895. His brother, Theodore Polhemus, Jr., had been on the first Board of Regents in 1858. They were descendants of the Rev. Johannes Theodorus Polhemus, who settled in Long Island in 1654.

The new building, eight stories high, was erected on the southwest corner of Henry and Amity Streets. The first two floors were devoted to the Hospital Dispensary; the third floor to Administration offices, Library, and students' lockers; the fourth, fifth and sixth floors to two large amphitheater lecture halls and several small class and preparation rooms; the seventh floor to chemistry laboratories equipped with laboratory tables to accommodate 116 students; and the eighth floor, which was skylighted, to the Department of Anatomy, completely equipped with two large dissecting rooms, a Prosecutor's room, Demonstrator's room and bone library.

The building was completely modern in structure, with an elevator, steam heat, and a forced ventilating system. Three dynamos generated electricity for use in the building. The Dispensary had an X-ray machine. Unfortunately, while it was designed to meet the needs of a proprietary medical school, with the emphasis on lectures to large classes, it was lacking in laboratories for Physiology and Pharmacology. The Polhemus Memorial Building and Hoagland Laboratory Building each had its own Board of Trustees.

The Polhemus Memorial Building was formally opened on January 5, 1898, and the initial lecture was given by Dr. Alexander J. C. Skene, '63, President of the Collegiate Department.

In the spring of 1898 the War Department asked The Long Island College Hospital to care for sick and wounded soldiers of the Spanish American War. The first group of 50 were received on July 17, 1898. Throughout the year a total of 421 men were admitted. Despite the grave nature of many of the cases, the total number of deaths was only 12.

The academic year 1899-1900 marked the completion of a fully "graded" four year course of instruction. The Annual Announcement for that year gave the following synopsis of the curriculum:

FIRST YEAR: Anatomy, Histology, Physiology, Inorganic Chemistry.

SECOND YEAR: Anatomy, Physiology, Hygiene, Organic and Physiological Chemistry, Pharmacy, Pathology, Obstetrics.

THIRD YEAR: Pathology and Bacteriology, Materia Medica, Medicine, Obstetrics, and Gynecology.

FOURTH YEAR: Medicine (including Pediatrics, Dermatology, Nervous and Mental Diseases), Therapeutics, Surgery, Orthopedics, Ophthalmology, Otology, Diseases of the Nose and Throat, Obstetrics, and Gynecology.

Dr. Alexander Johnston Chalmers Skene, '63, resigned in 1899 as Professor of Gynecology and President of the Collegiate Department. He began teaching in the Obstetrics Department of The Long Island College Hospital in 1865, becoming Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in 1870, and after 1882 Professor of Diseases of Women. He was Dean of the Faculty in 1886 and President of the College in 1893. For three years (1883-86) he was Professor of Gynecology at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School. He was the author of more than a hundred published professional papers, reports and pamphlets, as well as four textbooks. He was one of the founders of the American Gynecological Society. During his studies of gonorrhreal infections, he discovered the paraurethral glands which to this day are known as the "glands of Skene."

Dr. Skene had been a pupil and an assistant of Dr. Austin Flint, so it is not surprising to find that two of his outstanding characteristics were in always insisting the patient be studied as an individual, and being conservative in treatment.

Dr. Joshua M. Van Cott, '85, was Professor of Pathology and Bacteriology. Normal histology, previously taught in his department, was transferred to the Department of Anatomy. Histology and pathology laboratory courses were both conducted in the students' laboratory on the second floor of the Hoagland Building. Physiology was taught in Hoagland Hall but only by lectures and demonstrations. At that time (1899-1900) the instruction in Bacteriology consisted of lectures and demonstrations by Dr. Van Cott on the preparation of culture media and the differential staining of the gonococcus and the tubercle bacillus. In the following year a laboratory course of one hour a week was given by Dr. Van Cott to the third year class. In 1903 Dr. Harris Moak gave a one hour a week laboratory course in bacteriology to the first year class, and Dr. Van Cott gave another to the third year students. In 1907 Dr. Moak's course was increased to two hours per week.

In 1901 Dr. William F. Campbell, '92, succeeded Dr. William Browning as Professor of Anatomy. Among the instructors in this department one notes the name of Dr. Frederick Tilney, '03, who later became a nationally known neurologist. Dr. Tilney taught embryology here from 1903 to 1914. In 1901 the Department of Pediatrics was inaugurated with Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, as its first Professor.

Dr. Jarvis S. Wight, '64, Professor of Operative Surgery and Dean of the Faculty, died in 1901. He had been Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics 1871-74, of Surgery 1875-83, of Operative and Clinical Surgery, and Dean since 1883. He was the author of many clinical papers and invented several surgical instruments and procedures. Dr. Wight was a very rapid operator and a favorite aphorism of his was "Time in an operation saves life."

Dr. John A. McCorkle, '73, became President of the College in 1903 and Dr. John D. Rushmore, Dean. Dr. Walter C. Wood was named Professor of Surgery.

In 1905 Dr. John C. Cardwell was placed in sole charge of laboratory demonstrations in Physiology, but as yet there were no laboratory exercises for students in that subject.

Mr. Henry W. Maxwell in 1898 succeeded Mr. Thomas S. Moore, deceased, as President of the Board of Regents. Through Mr. Maxwell's generosity the Dudley Memorial Building, a residence hall for the Nurses' Training School, was built in 1903. When Mr. Henry Maxwell died, his brother and successor, Mr. J. Rogers Maxwell, began the construction of a new hospital building in 1905, and named it the Maxwell Memorial. The old building was completely removed and this modern structure built on its site. Progress was necessarily slow, because the hospital was in full use while the new construction was going on.

An optional Summer Course of 10 weeks was given in 1899 to 21 students. This course was repeated every summer until 1904.

In 1898 the Hospital treated 3,559 in-patients; 23,038 were seen in the Dispensary. These figures did not change much for the next decade. Clinics in other hospitals available to students included those at the Brooklyn Eye and Ear, Brooklyn, Kings County, Methodist Episcopal, Norwegian and St. John's Hospital. However, most of the clinical teaching of students was done at the home institution.

For this eleven year period, 1898-1909, the average number of students in the school was 310, and the average number in the graduating classes 62. In the last year of this period, the students numbered 443 and the graduates 74.

The "Flexner" Survey of Medical Education

1910-14 The year 1910 proved to be a most decisive year in the history of American medical education and the College, for it was in this year that the famous "Flexner Report" was published. Dr. Abraham Flexner had conducted a full scale investigation of medical schools in the United States and Canada for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. He found conditions in many of the schools of this country so bad that about half of them were forced out of existence as a result of his survey. Those which survived, of which The Long Island College Hospital was one, were found to have varying degrees of deficiency.

Dr. Flexner was quite critical of The Long Island College Hospital. He particularly stressed the fact that it was a medical school without full-time teachers in laboratory subjects, and lacked a pathological museum, library for students, adequate clinical laboratories, and laboratory teaching of physiology and pharmacology. Following the Flexner Report, the Council of Medical Education of the American Medical Association rated the College Class B.

The spirit and vitality of The Long Island College Hospital of those critical years was revealed by the extent to which the following four years were devoted to remedying the above shortcomings.

Under the old proprietary system, in vogue for the most part among American medical schools in the 19th century, the only source of income was from student tuition fees. Professors did not receive salaries but shared in the income over and above operating expenses. They in turn paid the junior members of their departments at so much per hour or per student. All the teachers made the greater part of their income by practicing medicine and only a part of their time was devoted to teaching. The exception was Dr. Raymond, '68, who at that time had given up practice and received an additional salary as Secretary of the Faculty.

The year 1911 witnessed momentous advances at the College. Three teachers were placed on a full-time salaried basis. They were Dr. John C. Cardwell, Associate Professor of Physiology; Dr. Willian Lintz, Associate Professor of Bacteriology; and Mr. Ralph Harloe, Lecturer in Chemistry and Pharmacy. Dr. Archibald Murray, Associate Professor of Pathology, was on a part-time basis. In the following year five more teachers were made full-time: Dr. Luther Warren, Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine and Director of Clinical Laboratories; Dr. Alfred C. Beck, Clinical Assistant in Obstetrics and Gynecology; Dr. Matthew Steel, Assistant Professor of Chemistry; Dr. Thomas H. Evans, Assistant Professor of Anatomy; and Dr. Henry M. Feinblatt, '13, Instructor in Physiology and Pharmacology. The Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association required a minimum of six expert full-time salaried laboratory teachers to obtain approval as a Class A school. The College by 1912 had eight and more were added later.

A laboratory course in Physiology was inaugurated in 1912. A large room on the eighth floor of the Polhemus Building was converted into a Physiology Laboratory and equipped for the use of students. Three hours per week in the first and second year were devoted to laboratory instruction. In this same year the Department of Physiology and Hygiene was divided. The following year Dr. Cardwell became Professor of Physiology and the first full-time salaried head of a department. Dr. Raymond, '68, remained Professor of Hygiene and Secretary of the Faculty.

Pharmacology in 1912 was still taught by lecture and demonstration in the Department of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, but there was no laboratory work for students. However, in 1913 a laboratory course in this subject was introduced into the third year of study taught by Professor Murette F. DeLorme, '00, and Dr. Henry Feinblatt, '13, in the physiology laboratory.

In 1911 the laboratory work in bacteriology, directed by Dr. William Lintz, was increased to three hours per week during the first year. In 1912 Dr. Luther Warren established a clinical laboratory in the Hospital where fourth year students were taught clinical microscopy and clinical chemistry. Dr. Archibald Murray began work on a Pathological Museum. A students' library, though still very inadequate, was installed on the third floor of the Polhemus Building.

The College-Rated Class "A"

The College announced that beginning in the fall of 1914 a year of college pre-medical work would be required for admission to the first year class. In recognition of this and the many previously mentioned progressive changes, the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association raised the rating of the College from Class B to Class A on June 21, 1914.

Dr. Charles Jewett died August 6, 1910. He had joined the Faculty as Lecturer in Obstetrics in 1879 and was made Professor in 1880. In 1899 he became Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Dr. Jewett was succeeded by Dr. John Osborn Polak, '91.

The Maxwell Memorial, comprising the central and south wings of the new Hospital building, was completed by 1911 and provided 300 hospital beds. The north wing, Arbuckle Memorial, was not yet erected.

For the four years of this period, 1910-14, the average number of students enrolled was 402 and the average number graduated 74. In 1913 all but ten of the graduates secured internships, which was above the national average.

1915-17

During the years 1914 and 1915 the College gave a "medical preparatory course" which included physics, chemistry, biology and either French or German. Beginning in September, 1916 Columbia University took over the teaching of the pre-medical college year through its University Extension Teaching Department with Dr. James C. Egbert as Director. Columbia University provided a staff of eight teachers and classes were held at Hoagland Laboratory and Polhemus Building.

The instruction in pharmacology was taken out of the Department of Materia Medica and Therapeutics and appended to physiology. Laboratory space for the teaching of physiology and pharmacology was increased by converting the large southern room in the basement of Hoagland Laboratory to this purpose.

The year 1914-15 saw many noteworthy changes in the Faculty. Dr. Joshua M. Van Cott, '85, resigned the Professorship of Pathology in 1914. He had been a pupil of Virchow and of Koch and it was he who introduced many of the new ideas of the 1880's to Brooklyn. Dr. Van Cott, an influential friend of Dr. Cornelius Hoagland, contributed largely to the planning of Hoagland Laboratory. He had been Professor and head of the Department of Pathology since 1891.

Dr. William F. Campbell, '92, resigned the Chair of Anatomy and was succeeded by Professor Adam Miller, who was a distinguished embryologist; Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, resigned the Professorship of Chemistry to be succeeded by Dr. Matthew Steel; Dr. Archibald Murray was Professor of Pathology after Dr. Van Cott; and Dr. William Lintz became the first Professor of Bacteriology. All heads of pre-clinical laboratory departments were now on a full-time salaried basis, which they had never been before, except in the cases of Drs. Murray and Cardwell as noted above.

The first budget in the history of the College for 1914-15, was drawn up only for salaries, whereas other expenditures came from a common fund. Only 50 years ago budget making among medical schools was in its infancy!

Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, Professor of Physiology since 1874, and Secretary of the Faculty for nearly 30 years, died March 7, 1915. After his internship he became Lecturer in Physiology at the College. In 1873, when the Board of Health of the City of Brooklyn was established under the leadership of Dr. Joseph C. Hutchison, Raymond and Walter Reed became Sanitary Inspectors. Between 1877 and 1882 Raymond was Sanitary Superintendent; between 1882 and 1886 he was Commissioner of Health for Brooklyn. In 1902-03, after Brooklyn became a Borough of New York City, he was Deputy Health Commissioner and in 1902-04, Sanitary Superintendent of the Greater City.

A list of his publications indicates his interest in Sanitary Science. When that subject was added to the curriculum, it was appended to the Chair of Physiology and taught by him. Dr. Raymond was not only Secretary of the Faculty, but also its most active member. To him must be given the major credit for carrying out those reforms that brought the College back into the ranks of Class A medical schools. In this he was notably supported by Drs. John O. Polak, '91, and Joshua M. Van Cott, '85.

Later in that same year (1915) Dr. Otto V. Huffman became Secretary of the Faculty, succeeding Dr. Raymond. Dr. Huffman had been Secretary of the New York State Board of Medical Examiners and Secretary of the Federation of State Medical Boards. Dr. H. Sheridan Baketel took over Dr. Raymond's duties in the teaching of Hygiene, becoming Professor in 1916. In clinical departments, Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, remained Professor of Pediatrics. Drs. William F. Campbell, '92, and William B. Brinsmade became Professors of Surgery. Dr. Joshua M. Van Cott, '85, joined the Department of Medicine as Professor of Clinical Medicine. Dr. Van Cott also delivered a series of weekly lectures on the History of Medicine in 1915-17.

Dr. John D. Rushmore, Professor of Operative Surgery and Dean, resigned from the Faculty. His services with the College began in 1873 as Lecturer in Surgery. After being in turn Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics and Professor of Obstetrics, he became Professor of Surgery in 1883 and Professor of Operative and Clinical Surgery in 1901. He had been Dean since 1902, and remained on the consulting staff of the Hospital.

In the Department of Medicine, Dr. Luther Warren was made Associate Professor in 1915 with a seat on the Faculty.

Dr. John A. McCorkle, '73, Professor of Medicine, died August 15, 1916. His first College appointment was as Lecturer in Chemistry (1874-78); then Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics (1875-85); and after that Professor of Medicine. In 1903 he became President of the Collegiate Department.

Mr. Percy Dudley, son of Dr. William H. Dudley, was elected President of the Board of Regents in 1915.

*On May 4, 1917 the Council and Faculty voted that the College be open to women* on the same terms as to men — Co-Educational.*

The north wing of the new Hospital building, the Arbuckle Memorial, was completed and opened on May 24, 1915. This wing, which was built through the generosity of the heirs of John Arbuckle, increased the number of hospital beds by 171 to a total of 500.

The Annual Announcement for 1917-18 stated that for the year ending May 31, 1916 the number of patients treated in the hospital was 7,516 with an average daily patient population of 305. In the Dispensary 20,156 new patients were treated, with 49,692 revisits. Clinical teaching was done mostly at the home institution, though certain clinics to which students were invited or assigned were held at the Brooklyn, Kings County, Brooklyn State, Brooklyn Eye and Ear, Trinity Hospital, St. Christopher's Hospital for Babies, and the Kingston Avenue Hospital for Contagious Diseases.

1917-22 On October 9, 1917 Dr. James C. Egbert, Director of University Extension Teaching at Columbia University, was inaugurated as President of The Long Island College Hospital. He retained his post at Columbia and spent most of his time there, but his wide experience in college administration was invaluable to this school.

* Dorothy Bocker, '19, a transfer student, was the first female enrolled in 1917 in the third year class.

Dr. Otto V. Huffman was given the title of Dean and assumed the duties previously discharged by the Secretary of the Faculty. Two new professors joined the Faculty in 1917. Dr. Wade W. Oliver became Professor of Immunotherapy in the Department of Medicine, and Dr. Carl Henry Laws succeeded Dr. Bartley, '79, as Professor of Pediatrics.

Educational requirements for entering the College in 1917 were raised to two years of academic work, or 60 semester hours, which included credits for one year's work each in physics, chemistry, biology, English, and French or German. Many prospective students took the pre-medical course given by Columbia University at The Long Island College Hospital. In 1918 Columbia added more electives to the curriculum of this school which were psychology and advanced biology under Professor Gary N. Calkins.

In July, 1919 the vacant Professorship of Surgery was filled by Dr. Emil Goetsch. Dr. Goetsch had been full-time Associate Professor of Surgery at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and was internationally known for his researches on, and surgery of the thyroid gland.

It was decided that in the year 1919-20 the student body be reduced to make for more efficient laboratory and clinical teaching. To this end, only 50 students were admitted to the first year class of 1920-21. In the previous year there had been 106. But when the College budget for the year 1921-22 showed a discouraging deficit of $18,254, the Faculty reluctantly decided to abandon the idea of admitting so few students. In the fall of 1921 a first year class of 105 was matriculated.

In 1922 the minimal entrance requirements for the College were increased from 60 semester hours to 72, the equivalent of two and one-half years of pre-medical college education. The students' annual fees were raised to $250 in 1917-18, and to $350 in 1920-21. The average number of students in this five year period, 1917-22, was 322; the average number of graduates was 55.

In January, 1920, after having served for five years as Secretary and then Dean of the Faculty, Dr. Huffman resigned. He had striven for several objectives: (1) to better the quality of instruction at the College; (2) to raise a one or two million dollar endowment; (3) to unify, for greater efficiency, the three associated institutions—the College Hospital, Polhemus Memorial Clinic, and Hoagland Laboratory—under one governing body; (4) to establish extra-mural and postgraduate teaching in clinical subjects; (5) to affiliate the institution with a University, preferably a University of Brooklyn or, if this was not possible, with Columbia University. President Nicholas Murray Butler indicated more than a passing interest in the latter idea.

In the first of these objectives he had been successful. The establishment of extra-mural and graduate teaching did take place in the near future, but in his other objectives Dean Huffman had made no headway. On leaving The Long Island College Hospital, he became Associate Professor of Medicine at the New York Post-Graduate School and College of Medicine. Adam M. Miller then became Dean of the Faculty.

The Long Island College Hospital offered six weeks of postgraduate instruction in the spring of 1921. Twenty-seven different courses primarily intended for clinicians were available and included every department of the school. Most of them were given in the home institution and proved so successful that they were repeated in the spring of 1922.

In 1922, the Centenary Year of the Medical Society of the County of Kings, a "Practical Lecture Series" was inaugurated by Dr. Frank D. Jennings, President of the Society, and a Committee appointed by him. These lectures were given in the MacNaughton Auditorium of the Library Building and proved immensely valuable to and popular with physicians. The spring series numbered 12 lectures, the fall series, 8.

The success of these separate efforts prompted the County Society, and the College Hospital to affiliate for the purpose of establishing a postgraduate medical education on a broader basis. Committees from the two organizations met and formed the Joint Committee on Graduate Education consisting of: for the County Society, Drs. Charles A. Gordon, Chairman; Russell S. Fowler, Leon Louria, and Thurston S. Welton, '08; and for The Long Island College Hospital, Drs. John O. Polak, '91, Chairman; Luther Warren, Emil Goetsch, and Henry M. Smith, '93.

First Affiliations Between College, Municipal and the Voluntary Hospitals

1923-30 Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of Public Welfare, made possible the placing of upper classmen in small groups for clinical instruction in the Hospitals of the Department of Public Welfare. In 1923 students in groups of five or six were being sent to Kings County and Greenpoint Hospitals for instruction in Obstetrics. Fourth year students were assigned in 1924-25 to clinical clerkships at Kings County Hospital in Medicine and Obstetrics and Gynecology; Greenpoint Hospital in Obstetrics and Gynecology; Brooklyn Jewish Hospital in Medicine; Kingston Avenue Hospital in Pediatrics, and Brooklyn State Hospital in Psychiatry. In 1925 St. Catherine's Hospital, and in 1926 the Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital were added as affiliated hospitals.

Post Graduate Courses—Teaching

The Joint Committee on Graduate Education had developed a comprehensive program in 1922, and postgraduate teaching began April 16, 1923. The courses offered were Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Pediatrics, Genito-Urinary Diseases, Pathology, and Anatomy. They were given at the Brooklyn Home for Consumptives, Greenpoint, Kings County, The Long Island College, St. Catherine's, Brooklyn Jewish, Kingston Avenue, and Wyckoff Heights Hospitals, and at the County Medical Society Library Building.

Three types of courses were offered to suit different needs:

1. A series of ten different lectures by outstanding men given at the Library Building of the County Medical Society.
2. The Extension Series—practical eight hour courses given at the hospitals named above.
3. The Intensive Series—six-week courses requiring from three to ten hours attendance each week.

The postgraduate teachings were repeated in the fall of 1923, with a registration of more than seventy doctors in about 100 courses offered. These postgraduate courses under the auspices of the Joint Committee have been given every year since then, and are still being given.

Under the aegis of the Joint Committee on Postgraduate Education, the number of courses given was 1,211; the enrollment 11,218 and the number of students 8,130 for the years 1923 to 1955 inclusive. These figures prove conclusively the value of the postgraduate study courses for busy practitioners who need not neglect their practices in order to attend the varied scheduled seminars.

The academic year 1927-28 saw some basic changes in the teaching plan. Didactic lectures and conferences were eliminated from the fourth year, and a rotating "block" system of clinical clerkships was inaugurated. Medicine and Surgery each had an eight-week block; Pediatrics, and Obstetrics and Gynecology had four-week blocks; ten weeks were devoted to electives. Before the year was over some of the electives were eliminated because it was found that not enough time was allotted to Medicine and Obstetrics. In the following year the electives were dropped altogether and a block of 12 weeks was devoted to Medicine, 8 weeks each to Surgery and Obstetrics and Gynecology, 4 weeks to Pediatrics, and 30 hours to Psychiatry.

In the third year there was a sharp reduction in lectures, conferences, and clinics, with a corresponding increase in the time spent in the laboratory, hospital wards, and dispensary. There was a similar decrease in lectures and conferences in the first two years. Correlation clinics, in which both basic science and clinical departments participated, were introduced.

The year 1927-28 was the last in which pre-medical courses were given by Columbia University at the College site. Columbia had given these courses since 1916. Instead, a Seth Low Junior College of Columbia University was opened in 1928 at 300 Pearl Street, Brooklyn, where the pre-medical instruction was continued.

Dr. Archibald Murray resigned as Professor of Pathology in September, 1927. He had been with the College since 1896, when he began as Assistant to the Chair of Histology and Pathology. In 1900 he became Instructor, and in 1902, Assistant Professor of Pathology and Bacteriology. He was appointed Associate Professor in 1911 and Professor of Pathology in 1914.

It was Dr. Murray who, in collaboration with Drs. Benjamin White and Oswald Avery, on the staff of the Hoagland Laboratory, introduced in Brooklyn a satisfactory complement fixation test for syphilis. He was also known as probably the best tissue diagnostician in the New York area, and many a difficult section was sent to him from the other Boroughs for diagnosis. Dr. Murray affected a gruff manner which deceived no one, for he was one of the kindest and most modest of men.

Until a successor was chosen, Dr. Wade Oliver was Director of the Pathology Department. In 1930 Dr. Jean Oliver, who was appointed Professor of Pathology, began a long and distinguished career at this institution.

In 1922 a separate Department of Radiology was established with Dr. A. L. Loomis Bell as Professor. Dr. Bell had been Assistant Professor of Radiology in the Department of Surgery since 1919.

A significant happening in the year 1925 was the appointment of Dr. Frank L. Babbott, Jr., as Associate in Pediatrics, and in 1929 he became Assistant Dean.

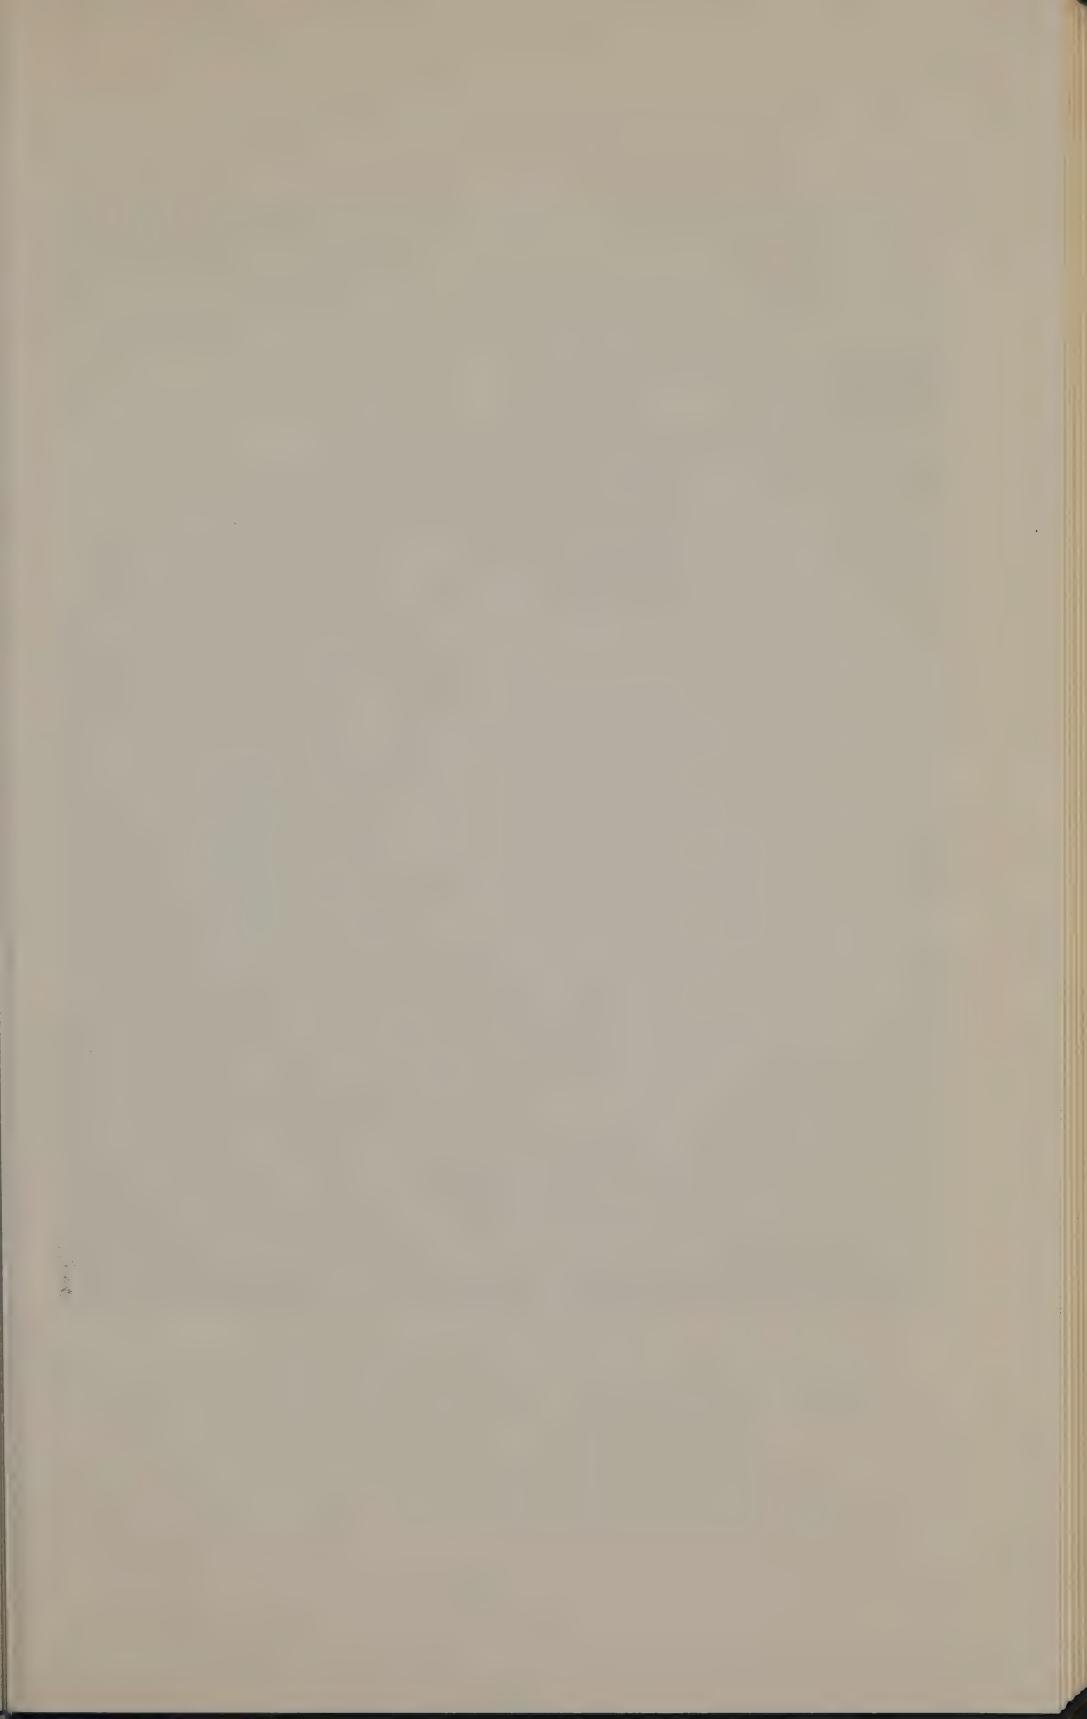

Dr. William F. Campbell, '92, died September 7, 1926. He had joined the Faculty in 1895 as Assistant Demonstrator in Anatomy, and from 1897 to 1900 he was Demonstrator and Assistant Surgeon in the Hospital. From 1900 to 1914 he was Professor of Anatomy and Assistant Surgeon, and from 1914 to 1920 he was Professor of Surgery, and then Professor Emeritus until his death.

The Faculty of the College decided in 1929 that there should be a separation of the College from the Hospital so that each one would be under its own governing Board. The College was then, as now, doing a great deal of its clinical teaching in other hospitals throughout the Borough, and it seemed preferable that it not be governed by the Board of just the one affiliated hospital. Furthermore, it was believed that money could be secured to erect a large new medical school building in a central location which would be more readily accessible to all the teaching hospitals.

In the fall of 1929 a site for the proposed new building was acquired. This was a plot of land near Prospect Park Plaza on Sterling and Park Places between Vanderbilt and Flatbush Avenues. For a short time the outlook for the College appeared bright. Unfortunately, the stock market crash and the ensuing depression ended the hope of raising enough money to proceed with that project.

Two important figures in the history of The Long Island College Hospital passed away during the year 1929. Dr. John Dikeman Rushmore, Professor Emeritus of Surgery and a teacher in the institution for 42 years, died March 23. Mr. Percy S. Dudley, President of the Board of Regents, son of Dr. William H. Dudley, who financially saved the College in 1859, died October 8.

Agnes McNamara, who had been Secretary in the Office of Administration since 1917, was officially made Secretary to the Dean and Assistant Registrar in 1923. Edith Daly became the first full-time Librarian of the College in 1928.

In 1925 the annual tuition fee was raised to $400, and in 1926 to $500. The average student enrollment in this period was about 350, with an average of 70 graduates each year.

Early in 1930 the Board of Regents of The Long Island College Hospital voted to separate the College from the Hospital.

IDYLLS OF THE KING, TENNYSON

1930-36 The Annual Announcement for 1930-31 bore the designation THE LONG ISLAND COLLEGE OF MEDICINE—both a new and an old institution. It was new in that it was incorporated and chartered in 1930; it was old in that its history went back uninterruptedly for over 70 years.

The new Board of Trustees had 25 members, with Mr. Henry A. Ingraham as Chairman. About half of the Trustees had for years been Regents of the older school. The executive officers, teaching staff and student body remained as they were in unbroken continuity. Postgraduate education, under the Joint Committee of the County Society and the College, continued as before.

Named as affiliated hospitals for clinical teaching were: The Long Island College, Kings County, Greenpoint, Coney Island, Brooklyn Jewish, and Kingston Avenue Hospitals. An arrangement was made by which the Professors of the clinical departments were all chiefs of service in The Long Island College Hospital. The following year Methodist Episcopal and Brooklyn Hospitals were added to the list of affiliated hospitals.

The Science Laboratory Building—The Polak Memorial Laboratory (Illustration)

On Pacific Street, the site just east of the Hoagland Laboratory, a new building made possible by a generous gift from Dr. John Osborn Polak, '91, was begun in 1930 and completed in 1931. The title of this building was vested in the Hospital, but the donor specified that the major portion of it was for the use of the College. The four floors of this building were made continuous with the four floors of the Hoagland Laboratory. Dr. Polak insisted that this new unit be called The Science Laboratory rather than naming it after himself.

The first floor of the Science Laboratory was for Clinical Microscopy; the second floor had staff laboratories for Pathology, Gynecology, and Surgery; the third floor had a students' laboratory for Bacteriology, Pathology, and Histology as well as staff laboratories for Bacteriology; and the fourth floor had students' and staff laboratories for Physiology. There was a small animal house on the roof.

The teaching of Bacteriology and Physiology actually began in the new laboratories January, 1931. The Physiology Department had vacated its part of the eighth floor of the Polhemus Building making the space available to the Anatomy Department. The students' old laboratory on the second floor of the Hoagland Building was converted to house the Archibald Murray Museum of Pathology. This Museum, to which Dr. Murray devoted a great deal of time and painstaking effort, had been his pride and joy and, while not the largest Museum of Pathology in the country, it was, and still is, one of the very best.

The Science Laboratory Building was formally opened March 5, 1931. The speaker at the opening exercises was Dean Willard C. Rappleye of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.

Dr. John Osborn Polak, '91, died June 29, 1931. His connection with the College began as instructor in Obstetrics, and assistant in Pathology and Histology in 1892. The latter position he held until 1897, the former until 1901, when he became Lecturer in Obstetrics and Gynecology. He was appointed Assistant Professor in 1902, and Professor of the Department in 1911. Dr. Polak's capacity for leadership contributed greatly to the advancements in both College and Hospital. The separation of College and Hospital grievously affected him in that for close to 40 years, his intense loyalty and devoted service to both branches of the parent institution was outstanding. After his death the Trustees changed the name of The Science Laboratory Building to The Polak Memorial Laboratory.

Dr. Alfred C. Beck was made Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology succeeding Dr. Polak.

Effective July 1, 1931 Dr. James C. Egbert resigned as President of the College, a post he had held since 1917. Under his wise leadership the College not only survived the difficulties that followed the era of the Flexner survey, but it began the long climb to its present high standing.

Presidency of Dr. Frank L. Babbott, Jr., 1931-1941

The Board of Trustees designated Dr. Frank L. Babbott, Jr., President of the Long Island College of Medicine. He took office July 1, 1931 and was formally installed January 14, 1932. The installation ceremonies, at which James Rowland Angell, President of Yale University was the chief speaker, were held at the Academy of Music. Henry A. Ingraham, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, and President Babbott also addressed the gathering.

During the decade of Dr. Babbott's administration as President, significant advances were made in the task of bringing the College toward a position of first rank. The basic science departments were strengthened with new talent, and full-time leadership was introduced in the departments of Preventive Medicine and Community Health, Psychiatry, and Internal Medicine. Pediatrics, Dr. Babbott's first-love, was greatly strengthened. Entering classes were reduced in size to obtain a better selection of students and raise the quality of instruction. Research activities were encouraged through equipment of laboratories and recruitments of outstanding investigators. Through the inspiration of his kindly and unselfish personality, he instilled a spirit of service and encouraged "preceptorial relationship" between faculty and students.

Under President Babbott's leadership, and with the co-operation of Dean Miller, Committees of the Faculty, and of the Trustees, active explorations were made to bring the College into wider hospital teaching affiliations and to give it a more central location. These moves culminated subsequently in the acquisition of the new campus on Clarkson Avenue, and eventual merger with the State University of New York.

The College's first endowment funds were obtained through Dr. Babbott's untiring efforts. An outstanding gift was a bequest from his father in the amount of $1,700,000. According to the terms of the will, this was to be a special fund "for medical education and research." Only the income could be used for the following twenty-five years (1934-59). This fund under the auspices of the State University has been kept intact for its original purposes.

The beloved Dr. John C. Cardwell, Professor of Physiology and Pharmacology, retired at the close of 1931. He had come to the College in 1897 as Assistant to the Chair of Nervous Diseases, which position he held for three years. In 1899 he became Demonstrator in Physiology, then Instructor, Assistant Professor (1908), Associate Professor (1911) and Professor of Physiology (1913). The following year Pharmacology was added to his department. Dr. Cardwell was an outstanding teacher whose cardinal principle was that the student must know the reason for every deduction and inference.

Dr. George B. Ray, Associate Professor of Physiology at the Medical School of Western Reserve University, was chosen to succeed Dr. Cardwell as Professor of Physiology.

Dean Adam M. Miller died May 28, 1935 after 21 years of service with the institution. He had been Assistant Professor of Anatomy at Columbia University when in 1914 he came to The Long Island College Hospital as Professor of Anatomy. He served as Associate Dean in 1920-22 and Dean since 1922. Adam Miller was outstanding as a teacher and research man. Much of the progress made by the College during his Deanship was due to his skill and devotion. Dr. Wade W. Oliver became Acting Dean.

A Student Health Service was established in 1932. The in-coming first year students all received physical examinations by Dr. R. C. Kimball. The facilities of the Student Health Service are still available to all students of the College during the academic year.

In 1935 the Theta Chapter of Phi Lambda Kappa Fraternity established an annual "Adam M. Miller Lectureship." The first lecture was given at the Polhemus Memorial Building October 8, 1936 by Sir Joseph Barcroft of Cambridge University on "Certain Aspects of Embryo-physiology."

Dr. Alfred Adler, noted medical psychologist, Docent of the Pedagogical Institute of Vienna, gave a series of weekly lectures to the Junior Class. Dr. James P. Warbasse presented a course to the Sophomore Class on economics, philosophy, and ethics of medicine based on medical history.

The Diamond Anniversary

The 75th anniversary of the incorporation of The Long Island College Hospital was celebrated at the Academy of Music, May 9, 1933. The main address was delivered by Dr. Sylvester J. McNamara, '92, who gave a brief history of the institution.

The Donnellon House

In 1933 the Misses Cornelia E. and Jennie A. Donnellon donated $25,000 to purchase and equip their residence at 116 Pacific Street for a recreation center for the students. The basement of this building was converted into a students' cafeteria.

Clinical Teaching Services

In 1935-36 a definite teaching service was established at the Kings County Hospital. Approximately 500 beds—200 in Medicine, 100 each in Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology, and Pediatrics—were set aside in a College Division for clinical instruction of students. Dr. Tasker Howard became Director of the Medical Service of the College Division; Dr. Robert F. Barber, '08, Director of the Surgical Service; and Dr. Cameron Duncan, Director of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Service. Dr. Duncan resigned in March, 1937 to be succeeded by Dr. Charles A. Gordon. Dr. P. L. Parrish was the first Director of the Pediatrics Service and was succeeded by Dr. Lambert Krahulik.

Dr. Carl Laws resigned as Professor of Pediatrics in 1936 and was succeeded by Dr. Charles Weymuller.

Dr. John N. Evans, '16, succeeded Dr. Henry M. Smith, '93, as Professor of Ophthalmology in 1934 on Dr. Smith's retirement.

Mr. Allyn B. Abbott became Bursar in 1935.

A separate Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health, with Dr. A. E. Shipley as Executive Officer, was established in 1936. Since 1931 preventive medicine had been included in the Department of Medicine.

Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, for many years an important member of the Faculty, died January 12, 1937. First appointed Assistant to the Chair of Diseases of Children, he took an active part in the new contributions of biochemistry to modern pediatrics as Professor of Chemistry 1886-1914, and Professor of Pediatrics 1901-17.

Dr. Luther Warren, Professor of Medicine, became seriously ill in 1936 and died January 18 of the following year. Dr. Warren came to Brooklyn in 1912 from the University of Michigan where he had been Instructor in Clinical Microscopy and Clinical Medicine. He was Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine at The Long Island College Hospital in 1912, Associate Professor in 1917, and Chairman of the Department in 1918. Dr. Warren was a dynamic teacher and a brilliant diagnostician. He was a man of tremendous energy, a veritable human dynamo. Only 52 years old when he died, he had crowded into 25 years of professional life the amount of work and achievement that most men would accomplish in 50.

The acting Professor of Medicine during 1936 and 1937 was Dr. Albert F. R. Andresen, '07, noted gastroenterologist. Dr. Andresen began teaching in the College in 1910 and became Clinical Professor in 1919. His Department was one of the best known in the country, with Dr. Andresen contributing many clinical papers.

Dr. Tasker Howard was appointed to the Professorship of Medicine in 1937. Associated with The Long Island College Hospital since 1911, he was Director of the Medical Service of the College Division of the Kings County Hospital since its establishment in 1935. Dr. Howard was an excellent teacher who impressed on the students' minds the importance of a complete history, physical examination and a thorough differential diagnosis. Dr. J. Hamilton Crawford succeeded Dr. Howard in the latter position.

Another death of an erstwhile prominent College figure was that of former Dean Otto V. Huffman, who passed away at Mt. Kisco, N. Y., June 9, 1937.

The First Five Years of Dr. Curran's Deanship, 1937-42

1937-42 Dr. Jean A. Curran became Dean of the College July 1, 1937. Dr. Curran was no stranger to Brooklyn, for he had interned at the Brooklyn Hospital in 1921-23 following his graduation from Harvard Medical School. After seven years of medical practice in China and three years at New York University and Cornell University Medical Colleges, he became Executive Secretary of the New York Committee on the Study of Hospital Internships and Residences.

The new Dean immediately introduced the practice of interviewing personally every upper classman in order to advise the student as to the best type of internship and hospital for him. Dr. Curran had made a very exhaustive study of the internship and residency problem. It was at this time that the Medical Specialty Boards were first established and many young interns needed to be guided as to their future plans.

Dean Curran also undertook to improve the clinical teaching at the affiliated hospitals, particularly at the Kings County Hospital where there was a wealth of clinical material but a paucity of laboratories and limited diagnostic equipment. Dr. Jean Oliver had already made a beginning by obtaining space for a College pathological laboratory. Within a year the chemical and pathological laboratories were improved and functioning. In 1938 Dr. Caspar Burn was placed in charge of the pathological laboratory and teaching of gross pathology. An effective bacteriological laboratory installed in 1941 under the direction of Dr. Florence Stone, was made possible by a gift of $4,000 from President Frank L. Babbott.

By October, 1939 the senior student clerkships at The Long Island College, Kings County, Methodist, and Greenpoint Hospitals were augmented by medical clerkships at the Brooklyn Hospital.

Dean Curran was able to report in January, 1941 that great advances had been made at the Kings County Hospital where extensive teaching in pathology, physical diagnosis, clinical medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, and pediatrics had been instituted.

Preventive Medicine and Community Health

In 1937 the Gowanus Red-Hook Health Center Building was erected at 248 Baltic Street by the City of New York. An expanded Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health was established there under the direction of Dr. Alfred E. Shipley, who was the first salaried full-time head of that Department. For its development, The Commonwealth Fund made a grant of $16,250 for 1937-38 and $13,750 for each of the succeeding two years. Dr. Shipley retired in 1941 and was succeeded by Dr. Fred L. Moore, who served for one year.

Research Society

In December, 1939 the "Research Society" was organized. There had been several abortive research societies in years past, but this one lasted and grew in strength. The programs of the Society have been devoted to the presentation of Faculty research with an annual visiting lecturer. The Society has also encouraged student participation, not only as members but also in presentation of their research.

"The Open Gate"

The Students' Cafeteria was greatly enlarged in 1941 and given the name "The Open Gate."

World War II Years

The entrance of the United States in World War II drew the College into the war effort. Our College, like others, took steps to increase the number of graduates, because the armed forces were sorely in need of medical officers and a long war was anticipated. The size of the entering classes was increased by about 10% and the College began a schedule of continuous teaching so that the student would be graduated in three years instead of four. The "accelerated course" began July 1, 1942 when a new first year class was admitted. The net effect was to graduate an extra class, so that in 1943 two commencements were held, one in March and one in December.

The 79th General Hospital, U.S. Army

In June, 1941 the War Department requested the College to cooperate in establishing the 79th General Hospital. The primary mission was to operate as a military hospital unit comprising a 1,000-bed base hospital with 55 medical officers, 100 nurses, and 500 enlisted men. The contribution of the College was to be 35 to 40 of its teaching staff. The unit was activated November, 1942 and left for Medford, Oregon for training. The Commanding Officer was Col. Walter V. Moore of the Brooklyn Hospital. Lt. Col. S. Charles Franco, '31, served as Executive officer until he took command of the 9th Field Hospital. He was relieved by Major Pierre Salmon, '37, as Executive Officer. Lt. Col. W. H. Field of the Brooklyn Hospital was in charge of the Surgical Division; Lt. Col. John B. D'Albora, '12, and Maj. Morris Rakieten of the College headed the Medical and Laboratory Divisions, respectively.

A number of Faculty changes not already noted took place in the five year period, 1937-42. Dr. Robert L. Moorhead succeeded Dr. Charles W. Stickle as Professor of Clinical Otolaryngology in 1937. In the same year Dr. Fedor L. Senger, '12, succeeded Dr. J. Sturdivant Read, '02, as Professor of Clinical Urology. Dr. Arthur W. Grace became Professor of Clinical Dermatology in 1938 in place of acting chairman Dr. W. H. Best. Dr. Joseph B. L'Episcopo, '14, was Professor of Clinical Orthopedics in 1940 after the retirement of Dr. Jacques C. Rushmore, '03.

Most important Faculty change of all was the resignation of Dr. Frank L. Babbott as President of the College on September 26, 1941 at the insistence of his physicians. Dr. Babbott had served the College from 1927 to 1930 as Assistant Dean, and as President from 1931 to 1941. His services had been invaluable and his contributions many. He had taken the lead in the reorganization of the College after its separation from The Long Island College Hospital, placing the College on a more secure financial foundation by procuring its first endowment. With increased financial resources, he had reduced the size of classes for purposes of better selection and teaching. He initiated cordial administration-faculty-student relationships. He took an active part in developing the College as a medical center in close association with the affiliated hospitals and the County Medical Society. He was actively interested in developing the teaching and research possibilities at the Kings County Hospital. As President, and later as Chairman of the Board of Trustees, he supported the strengthening of the Faculty which eventually made possible the merger with State University.

Dr. Curran was acting President as well as Dean in 1940-42. In 1942 he was elected President and installed in that office November 19. In that same year he was elected a member of the Board of Trustees.

In the five year period, 1938-42, there were a number of deaths of those who not only gained prominence but also added prestige by their long and loyal service to the institution.

- Dr. Frederick Tilney, '03, August 7, 1938
- Dr. Joshua M. Van Cott, '58, February 8, 1940
- Dr. William W. Browning, February 20, 1940
- Dr. Charles W. Stickle, March 8, 1940
- Dr. Henry H. Morton, '82, May 3, 1940
- Dr. Robert M. Rogers, '07, May 13, 1940
- Dr. John C. Cardwell, August 3, 1940
- Dr. Frank E. West, '76, November 21, 1940
- Dr. William B. Brinsmade, September 23, 1942

Beginning with the school year 1939-40 a minimum of three years of pre-medical collegiate training, or the equivalent of 90 semester hours, was required for admission to the first year class. Since 1921-22 the minimal requirement had been 72 semester hours. In the more recent years a high proportion of entering students had a Bachelor's degree.

In 1937-38 there were 378 students in all classes enrolled in the College; total annual tuition fees were $610. The admission of more students to classes in 1940 and 1941 increased the enrollment to 392, however the tuition fees remained unchanged.

Presidency of Dr. Jean A. Curran, 1942-1950

1942-50 The years 1942 through 1945 were war years, and the major effort of the College was to turn out as many efficient doctors as possible in the shortest period of time. A number of the teaching staff were in the armed forces, in the 79th General Hospital or elsewhere, placing a heavy load on those remaining. Teaching was continuous throughout the year under the accelerated program. Physically qualified students were enrolled in the Army or Navy Reserve components but remained at their studies. Army officers in charge of indoctrination and training had their headquarters in Donnellon House. As there were wartime shortages in microscopes, Dr. George Paff of the Anatomy Department procured microscopes for student use, either by purchase or by borrowing them from Alumni.

The 79th General Hospital, after serving overseas in Northern Ireland, in Southern England and then in France, sailed for home in October, 1945.

Dr. Curran was both President and Dean of the College from 1942 until 1948 when he resigned the Deanship because of the pressure of other duties. Dr. Duncan W. Clark, '36, became Assistant Dean early in 1943, Associate Dean in 1945, and Dean in 1948. In 1943 Dr. Phillips F. Greene came to the College as Visiting Professor of Surgery and in 1945 he became Associate Dean stationed at the Kings County Hospital.

Expanded Facilities—Improved Teaching

The main theme of the 1942-50 period was expansion of facilities and improvements in teaching. The chief currents of development were:

1. The installation of "full-time" clinical heads of departments.
2. The expansion of the teaching program at affiliated hospitals, chiefly the Kings County Hospital.
3. The development of Psychiatry as a separate department.
4. The strengthening of the Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health.
5. Postgraduate teachings, in cooperation with the Medical Society of the County of Kings, especially for the needs of veterans.
6. The re-organization of Maimonides Hospital and affiliation with the College for teaching in medicine and surgery.
7. The re-constitution and re-equipment of the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology.
8. The organization and affiliation of the Veterans Hospital at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y.
9. The Medical Center Development Fund and the Master Plan for the development of the College.
10. Merger with the State University of New York in 1950.

1. The Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health, in many respects a clinical department, had full-time teaching heads in Drs. Alfred E. Shipley, Fred L. Moore and Thomas D. Dublin. In 1944 a program of making all heads of clinical departments full-time was launched when Dr. William Dock was installed as Professor of Medicine succeeding Dr. Tasker Howard. Dr. Dock had previously been Professor of Pathology at Stanford University Medical School and Cornell University College of Medicine, and then Professor of Medicine at the University of Southern California. His teaching at first was confined to The Long Island College Hospital and subsequently to Kings County Hospital where, in 1946, he became Director of the College Division. An office and a research laboratory were prepared for Dr. Dock early in 1947 on the seventh floor of "A" Building of the Kings County Hospital at College expense.

Dr. Howard Potter became full-time Professor of Clinical Psychiatry in 1944, and full-time Professor of the Department of Psychiatry in 1947.

2. In 1945-46 third and fourth year students were assigned to different hospitals for clinical teaching as follows:

	L.I.C.H.	K.C.H.	Brooklyn	Methodist	Green-point
Medicine .....	25%	55%	20%
Surgery .....	25	60	15
Obs. & Gyn. .....	30	35	10	10%	15%
Pediatrics .....	30	70

In 1946 the third year curriculum was completely changed. Heretofore the teaching had been largely didactic. The change entailed the assignment of nearly two-thirds of the work to clinical clerkships. These included one month each in medicine, surgery, obstetrics, psychiatry, and two months of specialties. Elective clerkships were also made available to fourth year students in pathology, surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, medicine, and pediatrics. An elective advanced course in gross anatomy was established for fourth year students. After 1947 elective clinical clerkships were given at the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn in medicine, surgery, and pediatrics.

Dr. Caspar Burn, Associate Professor and then Professor of Pathology, was made Director of all Laboratories at the Kings County Hospital in 1950.

A yearly grant of $25,000 for "Cancer-Teaching" was obtained from the National Cancer Institute in 1948.

3. Prior to 1947 Psychiatry was included in the Division of Neurology in the Department of Medicine; thereafter it was made a separate department with Dr. Howard Potter as its head.

Dr. Potter had come to the College in 1939 as Professor of Clinical Psychiatry. He established a Psychiatric Clinic in 1942 in two rooms on the fourth floor of the Hoagland Laboratory. Between 1943 and 1949 he was given annual Commonwealth Fund grants that reached a total of $82,800. His Psychiatric Clinic was moved in 1944 to the newly purchased and remodelled building at 88 Amity Street which was named the William Alanson White Clinic after that distinguished alumnus of the class of 1891. The Psychiatric Library was transferred to the Clinic Building from the Hoagland Laboratory.

In 1946 a three year graduate course in psychiatry, including residency training, was established. Teaching was done at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Northport, L. I., the William Alanson White Clinic, the Kings County Hospital and the Brooklyn State Hospital.

In 1947 Dr. Potter became attending psychiatrist at the Kings County Hospital with supervision of the teaching of psychiatry on the College Division and in the Hospital's new psychiatric unit. In 1949 a three year graduate course in psychoanalytic medicine was inaugurated.

4. Dr. Thomas D. Dublin became head of the Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health in 1942, and instituted and directed an annual series of two-week postgraduate courses in Industrial Medicine. The College was in a unique position to offer such postgraduate training in industrial medicine because of the outstanding leadership in this field by some of its alumni. Among them were Dr. Cassius Watson, '05, Medical Director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, New York, N.Y.; Dr. John J. Wittmer, '22, Assistant Vice-President of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, in charge of industrial medical activities; and Dr. George H. Gehrmann, '13, Medical Director of DuPont and Company, Wilmington, Del. These men were able to attract the invaluable cooperation of the leading figures in industrial medicine in the country. The intensive course given to physicians, nurses, personnel workers and social workers had far-reaching benefits in promoting the efficiency and productivity of plants engaged in the war effort. The fifth and last course of this series was given in April, 1948.

5. One of the urgent needs of the young doctor discharged from the armed forces was for postgraduate and refresher courses. The Long Island College of Medicine and the Medical Society of the County of Kings beginning in 1946 offered an enlarged program to help meet the requirements of the young veteran (doctor). The College's contributions were in three general spheres: a) residencies and fellowships; b) part-time refresher courses conducted semi-annually by the Joint Committee of the College and the County Medical Society; and c) full-time intensive post-graduate courses in clinical subjects. Also available was the course in industrial medicine given by Dr. Dublin, and a postgraduate review course in gross anatomy given by Drs. George Paff, Bernard Pines and James Hamilton.

6. The Maimonides Hospital, which came into being in 1947 by the merger of Israel Zion and Beth Moses Hospitals, was the first voluntary hospital affiliated with the College to set up a staff of full-time salaried professors paid by the hospital itself. Dr. David Seegal became full-time Chief of the Medical Service there and Professor of Medicine in the College. Teaching of students at this hospital began in 1948.

7. Dr. George Ray, Professor of Physiology and Pharmacology, died July 6, 1945. A successor was not found until 1948 when Dr. Chandler McC. Brooks of Johns Hopkins University College of Medicine accepted the Professorship. Extensive alterations were made on the fourth and fifth floors of the Hoagland Laboratory for Dr. Brooks and his staff. The Commonwealth Fund made a grant of $50,000 for new equipment.

8. The Veterans Administration Hospital built in 1949 at Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y., was opened February 12, 1950. Dean Duncan W. Clark, '36, Chairman of the "Dean's Committee" was largely instrumental in developing a teaching affiliation with the College and the Veterans Hospital. Subsequently, Drs. Curran and Potter successively served as chairman of this committee which advised the Veterans Administration on making staff appointments, organizing residency training and establishing research facilities.

9. The Medical Center Development Fund and the Master Plan for the development of the College was launched in 1946. The erection of the Polak Memorial Building in 1930 had temporarily ameliorated the need for more teaching space for the pre-clinical departments. By 1940 it became once more evident that the College required extensive enlargement of both plant and facilities in order to progress. It was imperative to seek new sources of income. The first fund-raising effort was the "Hundred Years Fund" subscribed by the classes of 1940 to 1946. Then an annual public campaign for funds was organized in 1942 under the leadership of Dr. Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98. The major efforts were those of the "Annual Development Fund" in the years 1943, 1944 and 1945. In 1946 the name was changed to the "Medical Center Development Fund."

In 1944 President Curran presented to the Board of Trustees a long-range Master Plan for the development of the College. It proposed the raising of $16,000,000 for the College by 1960 of which over $5,000,000 would be required before 1950. Of the latter sum, $450,000 would be needed to purchase land at the Kings County site, $3,250,000 for a new building and improvements of existing buildings, $1,000,000 for an endowment fund for maintenance, and $500,000 for a five year fund for meeting current expenses. It was anticipated that the City would also build new units at the Kings County Hospital and refurbish old ones, and that these improvements would be integrated with the College program.

Mr. Alfred Ross Crawford, as Assistant to the President, rendered dynamic and essential service in organizing and directing fund-raising efforts.

Development at two different localities was contemplated. As it would be some time before the new Science Laboratory Building on Clarkson Avenue could be completed, the buildings at the Henry Street campus were to be altered and improved to meet the needs temporarily. Ultimately they might be used for clinical teaching in cooperation with The Long Island College Hospital, for nursing education, for graduate activities, and possibly for industrial medicine.

In 1945 the College purchased a six and one-half acre tract of land on Clarkson Avenue opposite the Kings County Hospital, thus taking the first important step in carrying out the "Master Plan."

The Alumni contributed generously to the fund-raising campaigns. A special fund, the "Alumni Memorial Fund," was established for the specific purpose of building a memorial unit dedicated to Alumni who lost their lives in World War II. The sum contributed (not including pledges) to this Fund amounted to $278,711.91 by March 28, 1950. The Alumni also made unrestricted contributions to the general fund. From all sources, the total cash raised by the end of 1949 was $950,035. Of this sum, about $300,000 was expended for purchase of land and another $300,000 for College operations including extensive alterations at the Henry Street site.

Another organization that was actively associated with the raising of funds was the "Parents Association of the Long Island College of Medicine," established in 1947. After the campaign for funds ceased, the Parents Association concerned itself with the establishment of student loans for needy and worthy students.

10. The State University of New York had its inception in 1947, when a Commission was created by the State Legislature, under the chairmanship of Owen D. Young, to explore the need of the State for a de-facto State University including one or more medical schools. President Curran, with Senator Steingut and Borough President Cashmore, appeared before the Young Commission to urge the consideration of Brooklyn for a medical, dental, nursing and public health development. In September, 1948 Governor Dewey appointed a Board of Trustees of the State University with Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael as Chairman.

Dr. Howard Potter was made Chairman of a Faculty Committee including Drs. Muntwyler and Weymuller to investigate the probable effect on the College of State aid or merger with the State University. After visiting a number of State educational institutions in New York and elsewhere, the Committee reported favorably on both plans.

On November 18, 1948 the Faculty Committee on Administration voted in favor of becoming a State Medical School. The Board of Trustees of the Long Island College of Medicine and the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association met and agreed to the merger. The Trustees of the State University gave their approval, and ratification by the State Board of Regents followed on July 15, 1949.

The College Faculty and the University Trustees agreed that the class entering in September be increased to 150 from the usual 100. One of the reasons for establishing State University was to remedy the inadequate opportunities for young men and women in the State to study medicine.

In the summer of 1949 Dr. Lester J. Evans, Medical Associate for The Commonwealth Fund, was appointed Special Consultant to the State University to act as co-ordinator for the Medical Centers in Brooklyn and Syracuse in the interval pending completion of the legal merger.

Early in 1950 the State Legislature passed a bill legalizing the proposed mergers. The agreement was approved by the Trustees of the Long Island College of Medicine on February 9, then by the Trustees of State University, and finally by the State Board of Regents. By the terms of this agreement

State University acquired all the estate, property, rights and privileges of the Long Island College of Medicine, and in turn was "subject to all liabilities and obligations of the Long Island College of Medicine, and the rights of all creditors thereof." This last clause protected the Alumni who had contributed to the Alumni Memorial Fund for a specific purpose. The new President of State University, Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, said in his letter of January 4, 1950 to Dr. Curran: "Upon completion of the new Science Building, one unit will be designated in memory of the Long Island College of Medicine Alumni who gave their lives in World War II; an appropriate plaque will be provided or accepted therefor, and an Alumni office established if possible within this unit."

Dr. Carlyle F. Jacobsen, Executive Dean of the Medical Science Division, University of Iowa, was made Executive Dean for Medical Education of the two State Medical Schools, namely New York and Syracuse, on April 1, 1950. Dr. Curran resumed his post as Dean of the College in Brooklyn, and Dr. Clark, '36, became Chairman of the Department of Environmental Medicine and Community Health of which he had been acting head since January, 1949.

The formal merger ceremonies took place on April 5, 1950 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Speakers on that occasion were Governor Thomas E. Dewey; Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, President, Board of Trustees, State University of New York; Colonel Charles Garside, a Trustee; Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, first President of State University; Mr. Lauson Stone, Chairman, Board of Trustees, Long Island College of Medicine; and Dr. Jean A. Curran, President of the College.

Other events occurred in this period that are also worthy of record. In 1945 an Alumni Office was established on the third floor of the Polhemus Building with Mrs. Lucy Attarian as Executive Secretary. Mrs. Attarian had been with the College's Public Relations Office since March, 1942 and had worked closely with the Alumni in the various fund-raising efforts of the College previously mentioned. The Association's records were transferred to this office. Dr. Duncan Clark, '36, became editor of the "Alumni Bulletin" which replaced the "Long Islander Medical" published by the Association with Dr. Thurston Welton, '08, as editor. Dr. Clark was succeeded in 1950 by Dr. Phillip E. Lear, '34.

Alumni Achievement Medallion (Illustration)

The first award by the College of the Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine was given to Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, '82, at commencement exercises in June, 1944. Dr. Dickinson, a gifted artist as well as a distinguished leader in Medicine, had designed the Medallion. In 1946 the Medallion was awarded to Dr. Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98; in 1947 to Dr. Edwin G. Zabriskie, '97; in 1948 to Dr. George G. Ward, '91; in 1949 to Dr. Walter T. Dannreuther, '06.

ALUMNI ACHIEVEMENT MEDALLIONS

*The First Alumni Achievement Medallion
Awarded Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, '82, June 1944*

*Alumni Achievement Medallion
Awarded Dr. Albert F. R. Andresen, '07, June 1952*

These awards were continued after the merger and the recipients are mentioned on page 56.

Annual Lectureships

In memory of Dr. Murray B. Gordon, '08, who died in 1946, the Zeta Chapter of the Phi Delta Epsilon fraternity established an annual lectureship. The first lecture was given January 8, 1948.

In November, 1948 the Long Island College of Medicine Chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha, the National Honorary Medical Fraternity, was established and an annual lectureship sponsored by the fraternity was inaugurated.

The College acquired title to the Polak Memorial Laboratory in 1948. Its ownership was previously vested in The Long Island College Hospital.

There were many noteworthy changes in the membership of the Board of Trustees and the senior Faculty during the 1942-50 period. Mr. Henry A. Ingraham, first Chairman of the Board of Trustees who was very active in establishing the Long Island College of Medicine as a separate institution, resigned as Chairman in 1943. Dr. Frank L. Babbott continued his invaluable service to the College by becoming the next Chairman of the Board. When he resigned from his post in January, 1948 he continued as a member of the Committee on Education. Mr. Lauson H. Stone was the last Chairman of the Trustees of the Long Island College of Medicine.

A number of Faculty changes not previously mentioned took place in the period 1942-50. Dr. Nicholas Dreyer came to the College in 1942 as Associate Professor in Pharmacology, and was appointed Professor in 1943. He resigned in 1945. Dr. Matthew Steel retired in 1944 and was succeeded by Dr. Edward Muntwyler as Professor of Biochemistry. In the same year Dr. James B. Hamilton followed Dr. Edgar D. Congdon, retired, as Professor of Anatomy. Dr. Clayton Sharp, long in the Department of Anatomy, also retired in 1944. Mr. Charles Frankenberger, Consulting Librarian and Lecturer on Medical Literature and Bibliology, resigned in 1945 after having served since 1926.

Dr. Caspar Burn became Professor of Pathology in 1949, having been Associate Professor since 1938. Dr. Robert L. Moorhead, Professor of Clinical Oto-laryngology since 1937, retired in 1946. Dr. Robert F. Barber, '08, Professor of Clinical Surgery, retired in 1947. Dr. Joseph B. L'Episcopo, '14, died in 1947, and was succeeded by Dr. Herbert C. Fett, Sr., '13, as Clinical Professor of Orthopedic Surgery.

In 1946 Dr. Alfred C. Beck resigned as executive officer of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, though he remained on the active Faculty until 1950. Dr. Beck had come to The Long Island College Hospital in 1912 and became Chairman of the Department in 1932. Dr. Charles A. Gordon succeeded Dr. Beck as executive officer in 1946. Dr. Morris Glass,

'25, was placed in charge of the College Division at the Kings County Hospital in 1949.

Dr. Emil Goetsch, Professor of Surgery in the College since 1919, retired in 1948. Dr. E. Jefferson Browder succeeded him as Professor of Surgery.

Dr. Wade W. Oliver, Professor of Bacteriology since 1917, resigned June 1948 to join the Rockefeller Foundation as Associate Director of the Medical Sciences. Dr. Thomas P. Magill of Cornell University, College of Medicine, was appointed Professor to succeed Dr. Oliver.

In the school year 1948-49 the number of enrolled students was 414. Graduates of the class of 1949 numbered 102. The total tuition fee was $715 per annum.

3. STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AT NEW YORK CITY

A Recollection and Prophecy from Yesteryear

"WE CHRONICLED IN MARCH LAST THE REOPENING OF THE LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL. FROM THE WELL-KNOWN ABILITY AND ENERGY, AND MORE THAN ALL FROM THE SELF-SACRIFICING SPIRIT OF THOSE AT ITS HEAD, WE ANTICIPATED THE MOST FAVORABLE RESULTS. FROM TIME TO TIME WE HAVE VISITED THE COLLEGE AND HAVE FELT IT OUR DUTY TO COMMEND THE ADMIRABLE ARRANGEMENTS OF ITS DIRECTORS AND THE ABILITY OF ITS FACULTY. STILL THE UNDERTAKING WAS AN EXPERIMENT, THE RESULT OF WHICH ONLY TIME COULD TELL. FROM THE STATEMENT MADE LAST NIGHT, NO LESS THAN FROM THE ENCOURAGEMENT AND SYMPATHY MANIFESTED BY SOME OF THE ABLEST MEMBERS OF THE MEDICAL PROFESSION, WE ARE JUSTIFIED IN SAYING, THAT THE EXPERIMENT IS SUCCESSFUL AND THAT BROOKLYN CAN BOAST OF HAVING A MEDICAL COLLEGE WITHIN ITS BORDERS SECOND TO NONE, IN THE ABILITY OF ITS FACULTY AND ITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR IMPARTING A THOROUGH MEDICAL EDUCATION."

BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE, JULY 25, 1860

The College of Medicine Under the State University

1950-55 State University of New York was made up of 37 different colleges throughout the State. In addition to one liberal arts college, there are two medical colleges, one in Syracuse and the other in Brooklyn; eleven teachers colleges; seven other professional colleges; six agricultural and technical institutes; and ten two-year colleges. State University is governed by a Board of 15 Trustees. The first President of the University was Alvin C. Eurich, who resigned in 1951. For one year Charles Garside of the Board of Trustees was Acting President; then in 1952 William S. Carlson became President.

The Long Island College of Medicine now became the "College of Medicine at New York City" of State University of New York. Both it and the College of Medicine at Syracuse are under the jurisdiction of Carlyle F. Jacobsen, Executive Dean for Medical Education. For the first four years after the merger the Dean of the College at New York City was Dr. Jean A. Curran.

Dr. Curran was promoted in 1954 to Associate Executive Dean for Medical Education and Dr. Howard Potter became Dean of the College. Dr. Phillips F. Greene resigned in 1950. The following year Dr. Joseph M. Pisani was appointed Assistant Dean, and in 1952 Dr. James O. Pinkston became Assistant Dean in charge of admissions, student loans and scholarships.

In 1950 the Faculty-Student Association of State University College of Medicine at New York City was incorporated. Its purpose was to foster a closer relationship between students and faculty and to accomplish for both that which was not feasible for the Administration. The Research Foundation of State University was formed in 1951 for the purpose of receiving grants made for research and disbursing them at the direction of the Dean. In the year 1954-55 the College received grants totalling $600,000.

As an illustration of the rapid development of the College over the past twenty years, the annual operating budget has increased from $300,000 to over $2,500,000.

In the years since the merger, most spectacular changes have taken place at the Kings County Hospital. There, the City has spent over $7,000,000 in the erection of new buildings and remodelling the old. Two new large units were constructed: the "E" building for tuberculosis and chest cases, and a Pathology Laboratory. The new psychiatric building was completed in 1947 before the merger.

In the old "A-B-C" Buildings, roof space and over thirty porches and loggias were converted into small class and seminar rooms for College use. New conference rooms, staff offices and research laboratories were provided by remodelling the "F" Building. The old Psychiatry "G" Building has been converted into a psychosomatic unit directed by Dr. Howard Potter. The "D" Building was remodelled for the use of Neurology and Neurosurgery. The "H" Building—Cancer Hospital—was improved and renamed the Jennings Hospital, in memory of the late Dr. J. E. Jennings, who served the hospital many, many years. It has become the radio-therapeutic center of Brooklyn.

These projects were all undertaken at City expense. Other improvements made during this time by State University included alterations in the "A-B-C" Buildings and rehabilitation of an old structure known as the "Stewards Building" to provide temporary offices for the full-time Faculty.

The clinical teaching of students is now concentrated more than ever at the Kings County Hospital. The University Division was increased in 1952 to 1,600 beds and included all services except contagious diseases. University and Open Division Medical Boards were formed in that year with equal representation on a superior Combined Board. By 1955 the University Division comprised 2,105 beds out of a total of 3,300 within the Hospital. On October 19, 1955 the Board of Hospitals adopted a resolution that there be but one division within the Kings County Hospital and that it be the University Division. This received the approval of the Hospital Commissioner, Basil McLean. After prolonged negotiations, the new plan was put into effect on July 1, 1956.

The Kingston Avenue Hospital for Contagious Diseases closed in 1956, after which the Kings County Hospital took over the care of contagious patients.

In the Department of Medicine, Dr. William Dock resigned as executive officer in 1950 but remained as Professor in the Department. Dr. Perrin Long, Professor of Preventive Medicine at Johns Hopkins, became Professor and executive officer in 1951. Dr. David Seegal, Professor of Medicine at Maimonides Hospital, resigned in 1951 and was succeeded at that post by Dr. Emanuel B. Schoenbach who died the following year. Dr. Max Michael was appointed in his place in 1954.

Dr. Arthur Grace remained as Professor in the Division of Dermatology and Syphilology in the Department of Medicine.

A new Department of Neurology and Neurosurgery was created in 1952 with Dr. E. Jefferson Browder at its head. Two years later this Department was divided into the Department of Neurosurgery under Dr. Browder and the Division of Neurology in the Department of Medicine under Dr. Abraham M. Rabiner.

When Dr. Browder withdrew from the Department of Surgery in 1952, he was succeeded as Professor and Chairman by Dr. Clarence Dennis. In this same year Dr. Charles B. Ripstein became Professor of Surgery at Maimonides Hospital. Dr. Ripstein resigned in 1954 and was succeeded by Dr. Alfred Hurwitz.

Dr. Walter Moehle, '17, became Clinical Professor of Ophthalmology in 1950. In the Division of Orthopedic Surgery, Dr. Herbert C. Fett, Sr., '13, continued as Clinical Professor; Dr. Joseph G. Gilbert, '27, was Clinical Professor of Oto-laryngology from 1951-54, succeeded by Dr. Charles R. Weeth in 1955; and Dr. Fedor L. Senger, '12, was Clinical Professor of Urology from 1937 until his retirement in 1955 when Dr. Frank C. Hamm became Professor of that Division.

Dr. Louis H. Hellman became head of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology in 1950 following the retirement of Dr. Charles A. Gordon. In 1953 Dr. Edward Solomons became Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Maimonides Hospital.

In the Department of Pediatrics Dr. Charles A. Weymuller resigned as executive officer in 1953, continuing, however, as Professor, and Dr. Richard L. Day became Chairman of that Department.

A Department of Radiology was also established in 1950, and a new Department of Anesthesiology was created in 1950, with Dr. Merel H. Harmel appointed Professor in 1952.

The Department of Psychiatry has remained under Dr. Potter. The Psychiatric Service has 400 beds and admits over 12,000 patients a year. The old "G" Building has become a Psychosomatic Unit; a demonstration project in geriatrics has been set up in Pavilion 5; there is also a nursery school for disturbed children. The graduate course in Psychoanalytic Medicine has been lengthened to four years.

By 1955 all the chairmen and professors of clinical departments, except Professors Weymuller and Browder, were full-time appointees. The 13 Brooklyn hospitals now affiliated with the College for teaching and research are: Brooklyn Eye and Ear, The Brooklyn, Brooklyn Jewish, Brooklyn State, Brooklyn Veterans Administration, Cumberland, Greenpoint, Jewish Chronic Disease, Kings County, Kingston Avenue, The Long Island College, Maimonides, and Methodist Hospitals. The number of beds in these hospitals totals 12,228, of which 3,800 are in the Brooklyn State Hospital, though not all of them are used for teaching.

Dr. Caspar Burn resigned as Professor of Pathology and Director of Laboratories at the Kings County Hospital in 1952. He was succeeded as Director of Laboratories by Dr. Henry Siegel until 1953.

Dr. Jean R. Oliver, after an outstanding career in teaching and research at the College since 1929, was granted a leave of absence in 1953 in order to do research on the nature of the kidney lesions in epidemic hemorrhagic fever for the U.S. Army Epidemiological Board at Overlook Hospital in Summit, New Jersey. Dr. Oliver is known the world over for his contributions to kidney pathology, and particularly on the morphology, metabolism, and pathology of the nephron. In October, 1953, he was honored by being made the first "Distinguished Service Professor" of the University. In that year he also received the Borden Award in the Medical Sciences, presented to him at the annual meeting of the Association of American Medical Colleges. On September 1, 1954 Dr. Oliver retired from the Faculty. Dr. Patrick J. Fitzgerald became Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pathology in August, 1953 and Director of the Laboratory Services at the Kings County Hospital.

An annual Jean Redman Oliver Lectureship was established in May, 1953 by the local chapter of Phi Lambda Kappa.

In 1950 the name of the Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health was changed to "Environmental Medicine and Community Health." Dr. Clark, '36, remained Chairman of this Department.

There have been no major changes in the administration of the Departments of Anatomy, Biochemistry, Physiology, and Microbiology and Immunology. A Department of Pharmacology has recently been established and Dr. Robert F. Furchtgott accepted the position of Professor and Chairman of the Department.

The "Matching Plan"

In 1952 the "matching plan" for internship placement was inaugurated and supervised by the National Interassociation Committee on Internships. After students send in their applications for internships, the applicants and the hospitals each submit a confidential ranking of each other and the lists are matched by I.B.M. procedure. The plan has worked with great success. In the first year of its use here 85% of the seniors of this College who participated in the plan received their first or second choice of hospitals; 71% of them were placed in teaching hospitals (the national average for the latter was only 55%).

Student Research

Student research has been increasing steadily and will receive even greater encouragement in the future. In the summer of 1954-55 over twenty research projects were undertaken by our students in Brooklyn or elsewhere. These were sponsored by the Alumni Association, the Parents Association, by national foundations and commercial companies. Other research has been carried on during the regular sessions in students' free time.

The Alumni Achievement Medallion, (cont'd from page 51)

The Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine in addition to those previously mentioned has been awarded seven times since 1950: to Dr. John N. Evans, '16, in 1951; Dr. Albert F. R. Andresen, '07, in 1952; Dr. Alexander S. Wiener, '30, in 1955; Dr. Howard Gehrmann, '13, in 1956; Dr. Louis J. Soffer, '28, in 1957; Dr. Alonzo DeGrate Smith, '19, in 1958; and Dr. William B. Snow, '20, in 1959.

Since its beginning as a medical school, including the class of 1956, this College has graduated and conferred on 6,730 men and women the degree of Doctor of Medicine. The numbers of graduates and tuition fees show a constant upward trend as depicted by the graphs.

The Basic Sciences Building (Frontispiece)

The Long Island College of Medicine in 1945 purchased land on Clarkson Avenue south of the Kings County Hospital as a site for a new Basic Sciences Building. After merger with State University this hope for the future began to be translated into reality.

Early in 1951 a Committee on Planning and Development was formed with Dr. Carlyle F. Jacobsen as Chairman. A sub-committee on the actual planning and construction of the new building consisted of Dr. Thomas P. Magill, Chairman, and Drs. Brooks, Burn, Clark, Hamilton, Muntwyler, Curran, and Long. The firm of Eggers and Higgins, Architects, drew the plans which were completed by the end of 1952.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held on April 9, 1953 and the cornerstone was officially unveiled on October 21, 1954 at which President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Governor Thomas E. Dewey were among the distinguished speakers. The building was fully completed in 1956 and classes were held there in September of the same year.

Facts About the Basic Sciences Building

Constructed at a cost of $14,500,000, the Basic Sciences Building of the State University of New York, College of Medicine at New York City is one of the most modern and completely equipped medical school buildings in the country. Its length of 648 feet extends for a distance of three blocks along Clarkson Avenue. The central mass of the building is 11 stories high in the tower portion and seven stories high at each end. Two seven-story projecting wings are located at either end of the tower portion and another five-story wing extends 140 feet in the rear of the building.

The building's skeleton is of structural steel and its exterior walls of masonry are faced in a light buff brick, with the first story faced in limestone.

The building contains 800 rooms, providing offices and laboratories for full-time Faculty members, instructional facilities for first and second year students, and dining and recreational facilities for Faculty and students.

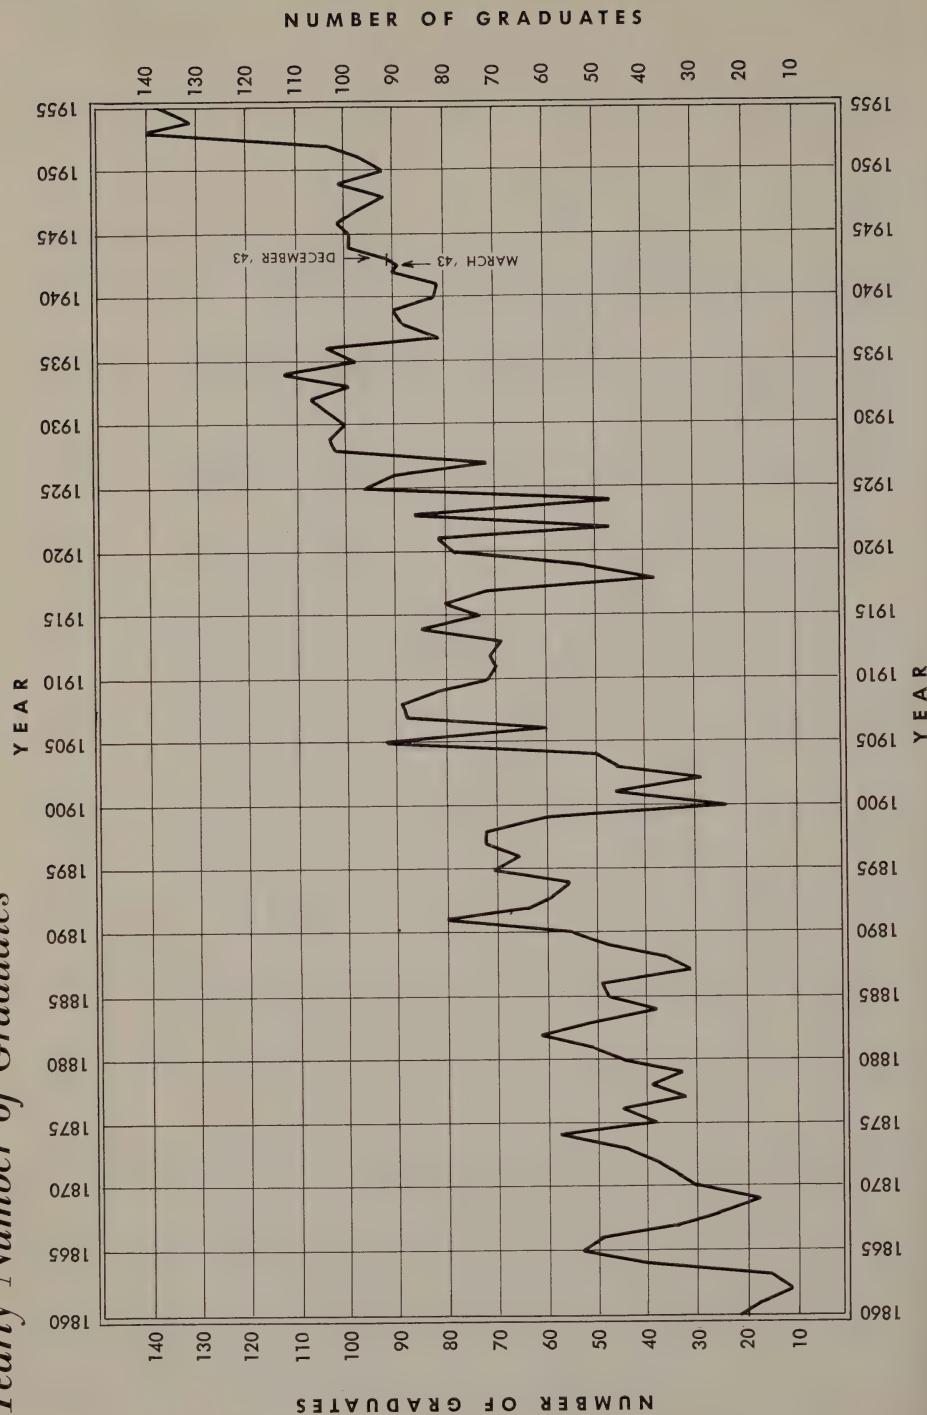

On the first floor are the Administration offices, Alumni office, Trustees' room, lecture hall, student cafeteria, Faculty dining room, lounge and snack bar.

Floors two through seven are equipped for research and instruction in the six basic sciences, with additional space provided for the Departments of Environmental Medicine and Community Health, and Radiology. The design of these teaching floors provides for three two-story lecture halls located in the area over the main entrance of the building. Each basic science department has its own seminar room and animal quarters. In general, the teaching area is located in the west half of the building while Faculty offices and research laboratories are located in the east half. Lockers for first and second year students are grouped around the teaching laboratories in the west half of the building, and lockers for third and fourth year students are located in the basement.

A general laboratory for radioactive isotopes, with built-in shielding and other protective measures, is located on the seventh floor.

The eighth floor contains an operating suite for demonstrations in animal surgery, quarantine rooms for observation of new animals and laboratories for work with virulent microorganisms.

The ninth floor houses the central animal quarters and the upper floors are used for maintenance equipment.

Streamlined to save time and labor, the Basic Sciences Building includes some of the most modern innovations in design and equipment, many of which have been adopted for successful use in industry. An example is the use of removable steel partitions to separate offices and laboratories. These metal walls, which may be shifted easily to provide rooms of other dimensions, will enable the College to meet changing requirements of the future at minimum expense.

To take care of the increased traffic of an enlarged student body, escalators have been installed to expedite the movement of students from floor to floor. In addition, seven elevators, located at strategic points throughout the building, will be available for general and specialized traffic.

Other modern devices are a giant dishwashing machine to wash large quantities of laboratory glassware and two central vacuum cleaning systems —one for cleaning the animal quarters and the other for the remainder of the building. In the operating rooms there are specially designed conductive floors as a safeguard against explosions of anaesthetic gas due to static electricity.

Both the central and departmental animal quarters are air-conditioned and have tile floors for easy cleaning. In the departmental animal quarters separate temperature rooms containing animal cages have air-lock double doors to keep odors at a minimum. A large tunnel-type washer has been installed in the central animal quarters for steam cleaning and sterilizing the cages. The departmental animal quarters on the teaching floors are connected by a special elevator with the central animal quarters on the ninth floor.

The Library

The Library of the College, which occupies the second floor, the second floor mezzanine and the third floor of the building's rear wing, has a main reading room on its lowest level. Stacks are located in the reading room and on the mezzanine. There are also work areas, study rooms and individual carrels for research students.

The main Library now contains over 35,000 bound volumes and subscribes to over 500 journals. State University has purchased a great many valuable volumes owned by the Hoagland Laboratory, among them bound periodicals that can be duplicated in very few libraries in the country. As examples, the oldest journal of physiology in the world, the "Archiv für die Physiologie," is (with the exception of six missing years) complete from volume 1, 1796 to 1918 when it merged with "Pflüger's Archiv" which the Library also has complete from volume 1, 1863 to date. "Virchow's Archiv" is complete from volume 1, 1847.

A branch of the Library for the Department of Psychiatry is located in "G" Building. It contains 4,000 bound volumes and subscribes to over 60 journals.

Provision has been made for future installation of a closed-circuit built-in television system. Special rooms on the teaching floors will be equipped with television cameras and connected by coaxial cables to a central television control room in the penthouse. Other coaxial cables will bring the images to television viewers scattered in classrooms on the teaching floors. This will enable groups of 25 students gathered around each of the television screens to follow experiments and demonstrations that presently can be watched through microscopes by only one student at a time.

---

The student body, now numbering 600, will be expanded by admitting first year classes of 200 new students in future years to form one of the largest medical school enrollments in the United States.

PERORATION . . .

Ave atque Vale: This story of Long Island College and its graduates (over the first half of the 20th Century) is a most timely and appropriate contribution to the history of medical education. Based partly as it is on the account by the late Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, from the genesis of the College in 1860 up to the turn of the Century, this record now carries us through the important next five and one half decades, culminating with the State University of New York merger in 1950 as a second momentous milestone in this Century.

The present volume therefore continues the collegiate story of the Long Island College Hospital, and its successor the Long Island College of Medicine; rounding out a full ninety years of contributions to medicine, under voluntary auspices, and the first five under the wing of the State University.

Only those of us still living, who labored through some of those years, can fully appreciate the faith, devotion and dedication of effort involved on the part of all concerned over all of those years, in bringing the College's development to full fruition on the larger stage of the State University, within the Downstate Medical Center.

All "men of Long Island College" are deeply indebted to Dr. Abraham Jablons, '14, to the Alumni Association Committee, and to Dr. Arnold Eggerth, Emeritus Professor of Microbiology and Immunology, for their literary and editorial contributions and their devoted labors which have made this history possible.

May we not hope that when the year 2000 A.D. is reached, another equally loyal Alumni group, with Administration and Faculty cooperation, will report the accomplishments of our College of Medicine and its graduates over the second half of the 20th Century!

As illustrated by the contributions of Dr. Raymond and his contemporaries in 1899, and now those by former President Babbott and his colleagues in this narrative,—it is supremely important to have events recorded by those who have lived through them. Unless such personal first hand memories are "put between covers" while recollections are vividly in mind, they are lost to posterity forever.

In the valedictory to ninety years of Long Island College medicine it should be noted that 7,825 graduates went forth over that period to serve their fellowmen. Most of the first class of 1860, within a year were military surgeons on the battlefields of the Civil War, and wore both the Blue and the Gray. Over the momentous years thereafter, "Long Island's sons attained distinction in civilian practice, government services, and in academic and industrial medicine." They were especially noted for their brilliance in obstetrics and gynecology. In World War II in addition to far flung military services and sacrifices, Long Island College Alumni did much through outstanding leadership in the field of occupational medicine to help mobilize America's crucially important industrial potential to make victory possible. Most fittingly the State University of New York decided to memorialize our Alumni who gave their lives in that great conflict, in the auditorium in the new Medical Center Building, which was dedicated in their honor.

While many of our graduates in pursuit of their careers have tended to practice in the region around metropolitan New York, an increasing number have become distributed widely over the world; from Iran and Afghanistan to the Far East, from Labrador's subarctic coast to the tropics, and from Maine's forest and seaport areas, to sunny Hawaii and throughout the Americas.

The merger with the State University will not only give a high quality education to a greater number of medical students and graduates, but the new Center will serve as a potential nucleus for an even greater program in the future, with the possible inclusion of professional schools of dentistry, nursing, public health and technology,—and also of essential value to future standards of medicine excellence, a University Hospital. Great and thrilling new accomplishments are and will be the inevitable fruit of the merger.

Since student generations educated under our State University are so largely benefitted by financial support coming from all the citizens of New York State, a heavy obligation rests upon our graduates to render service in return to all people, regardless of social and economic status, country of origin, faith and race.

Once again in finale—Ave atque Vale—hail to a future of even greater promise for our College of Medicine, and a fond farewell to Long Island whose proud tradition and well earned prestige have been bequeathed to the State University of New York.

JEAN A. CURRAN, M.D.

LOOKING AHEAD...

For almost a hundred years the Long Island College of Medicine, now the State University of New York Downstate Medical Center, has provided medical education for the citizens of New York and has achieved distinction through its graduates. It has trained over 8,000 physicians, including almost a fourth of those presently practicing in the Borough of Brooklyn, and has rendered a distinguished and growing service to the people of the State.

During the past decade the service of this institution has been enormously increased through an expanded enrollment, a tremendous growth in basic and medical research, establishment of a graduate program to train researchers and teachers in the basic medical sciences and the increased public service activities of its faculty and alumni.

These are all accomplishments worthy of pride. During the next decade, however, because of the growing medical care needs of an increasing population, this institution will be called upon to provide even greater service to the public.

Plans are already under way to construct a university hospital to provide office and research space and clinical teaching facilities which will permit us to expand our medical enrollment even further. Other plans are in preparation for a vast program of postgraduate education for doctors and other health personnel in the community and for developing programs to train nurses and other ancillary health personnel to meet future needs as they arise.

Those concerned with guiding the future course of the Downstate Medical Center are aware of the huge task that lies ahead. Given first the support and encouragement of its own graduates, whose place in the public esteem is bound so closely with that of the Medical Center, the Downstate Medical Center may seek the cooperation and endorsement of others in the community. With this backing, and given time and the proper tools, we may expect to develop a facility which will approach the highest concepts of what a center of health, education, research and service of the future should be and which will yield new and increasingly important contributions to the community, State and Nation.

EDITOR'S NOTE . . .

Three quarters of a century in the existence of the Alumni Association is highlighted in the following section. The data, culled from the chronicles of the proceedings of the organization, bears testimony to the continued activities of a group dedicated to do the most good in recompense for the education and training received from their medical alma mater.

The Alumni can take justifiable pride in the accomplishments of its Association, as administered by the Officers and Board of Managers. The endeavors of the Association throughout the years have successfully promoted the original purposes and objectives of the organization, redounding to the credit of the members, without whose loyal support and devoted services the fruition of attainments would not have been possible.

Reflected in the pages ahead is the correlation of three main themes: First the unity of graduates as a cohesive and progressive body; then the ever mindful and sincere efforts of the alumni to foster a most meaningful cooperation with the parent school; and thirdly the worthy assistance rendered the student body.

Thus over the span of seventy-five years (1880-1955) of alumni history, summarily depicted, the laudable accomplishments of the organization portend promise of many more worthwhile achievements deserving permanent recording in the future annals of the Alumni Association.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HIGHLIGHTS . . .

The First Twenty Years: 1880-1900<sup>1</sup>

The Alumni organization was founded twenty years after the first graduation exercises of The Long Island College Hospital when twenty-two graduates<sup>2</sup> of the College met in the Amphitheatre of the Hospital on the evening of Tuesday, May 25, 1880, in response to an invitation sent by a self-constituted committee consisting of Drs. Jarvis S. Wight, '64, John A. McCorkle, '73, and Francis H. Stuart, '73, ". . . for the purpose of assisting in organizing an Alumni Association."

The formalities of parliamentary procedure were observed by those present, a constitution and by-laws unanimously adopted, and a slate of officers and six Councillors elected. Thus was established the "Association of Alumni of Long Island College Hospital," as titled in Article I of its constitution.

Most significant in the constitution was Article II, which reads as follows: "The objects of the Association are to promote the interests of the Long Island College Hospital in the work of medical education, and to encourage and promote the scientific investigation of medical subjects." These stipulations have been consistently adhered to throughout the existence of the Association and only added thereto, in subsequent years, were the phrases connoting promotion of good fellowship and fraternal feeling among its members.

The first President of the Association was the illustrious Dr. Alexander Johnston Chalmers Skene, '63, under whose capable direction, and with the cooperation of his efficient staff of officers,<sup>3</sup> the Association's course was launched towards the high goals of achievement.

At the organizational meeting, an assessment of one dollar was levied on those present.

Two weeks later, at the second meeting, June 8, 1880, President Skene offered a prize of one hundred dollars for the best essay on a medical subject, to be competed for by the Alumni. This essay was to become the property of the Association.

The prize money was awarded to Dr. Albert Leffingwell, '74, for his original paper "Suicide in American Cities," which was read by Professor Armor at the First Annual Meeting held at the College on June 13, 1881. After the meeting, the Association adjourned to the historic landmark, the Iron Pier, Coney Island, where the First Annual Alumni Dinner was served to 150 members and guests. Since then, the Association has held, in each subsequent year, an annual meeting and annual dinner.

Realizing that contact with the members of the association is of key importance, the officers saw to it that a list of the Alumni from 1860-81, with correct addresses, so far as they could be obtained, was published during the second year of the organization. The only other list available was that covering the years 1860-75, published by the College Faculty.

To interest the graduating class of 1882 in the Association, the graduates were invited to the Annual Dinner held at the Mansion House, June 14, 1882. The Vice-President, Dr. James Watt, '66, agreed to be responsible for any deficit incurred by the dinner if the funds in the treasury were insufficient to pay the expenses.

It was announced at the Second Annual Meeting that the prize of $100, which was a gift of Mr. Charles Storrs, would be deferred to another year, in that no essays had been submitted.

The cultural activities to which the organization lent itself during the first decade of the Association is impressive, as evidenced by the formation of an Alumni Glee Club, an orchestra, and the program of public lectures on educational and scientific topics, to which the profession of the city and also the laity were invited. The motive of the Association was, not only to draw attention to the parent institution and hospital, but also to inform the public along sound medical lines. The speakers at the periodic lectures were men of prominence, authorities on topics that were timely and had a definite bearing on health and disease. As instances of this, Professor R. O. Doremus, spoke on "Disinfectants;" Dr. George M. Sternberg, "The Relations of Bacteria to Disease;" and Justice Calvin E. Pratt, "Duties of the Physician to the Public." These lectures were delivered at the College under the auspices of the Association.

The Association saw fit to elect, as Honorary Members, distinguished men of science and also those whose benefactions helped to advance the Institution.

The number of graduates, when the Association was formed, was 673. By 1886 there were 991 graduates, of which number, only 150 addresses were known to be correct. That year, the Association published the second (revised) list of Alumni, which contained 802 names and addresses, 500 of which were vouched for as correct, and 70 were designated as deceased.

In 1886 the Board of Managers selected four subjects, on any one of which an original essay was to be submitted in competition for the prize. The subjects were 1. Etiology of Croupous Pneumonia; 2. Etiology of Scarletina; 3. Tissue Grafting; 4. The Floor of the Female Pelvis.

The prize-winning essay was "The Floor of the Female Pelvis," by Dr. Robert Latou Dickinson, '82, who was presented the award at the Seventh Annual Meeting in 1887.

To encourage a greater number of Alumni to participate in competition for the prize, it was decided at the annual meeting that the award be given for the best original essay on any medical subject.

The added duty of recording the necrology of Alumni was assigned to the Committee on Registration.

Special tribute was paid to all the living members of the First College Faculty, who were invited as honored guests to the Seventh Annual Dinner held at Remsen Hall on March 1, 1887.

The First Special Meeting of the Board of Managers was held July 20, 1887 to take action on the death that occurred three days previously of Professor Joseph C. Hutchinson, President of the College.

The Eighth year (1888) of the Association was highlighted by several important events. On February 27, Professor Abraham Jacobi, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, who is credited as the Pioneer in establishing Pediatrics as a specialty, lectured at the College on "Heart and Bloodvessels of the Young," to which the medical profession of the city was invited. Dr. Augustus H. Buckmaster, '83, was the recipient of the prize for his essay, "Treatment of Fibromyomata by Electrolysis," at the Eighth Annual Meeting, March 7, 1888. The paper on "Osteotomy," by Charles N. D. Jones, '82, was pronounced the second best essay and given honorable mention. Both papers were read during the meeting. And of great importance, at the Eighth Annual Dinner, held at Remsen Hall, March 8, was the presentation, by Dr. Daniel Ayres, of a check for $10,000 to the Hoagland Laboratory. The one hundred and fifty Alumni and guests responded by a standing ovation.

In 1889 the officers of the Association tendered a reception to Dr. Cornelius N. Hoagland at the Hotel Clarendon on February 15, in recognition of his great benefaction to the medical profession and the public in the foundation, equipment and endowment of the Hoagland Laboratory.

The activity of the Association next moved into the sphere of the administrative body of the College and Hospital by resolving, at the Ninth Annual Meeting, 1889, to have Alumni representation on the Board of Regents and on the Council. The term of a Regent was five years, and to qualify one to be an incorporator, the payment of $50 was required. Dr. George W. Brush, '76, assumed personal responsibility for the fee. Dr. Z. Taylor Emery, '74, was nominated by the Association to be the Alumni representative and incorporator on the Board of Regents, to which position he was, in due course, elected.

The Association sought to memorialize Dr. Samuel G. Armor, whose death occurred on October 27, 1885. He had succeeded Dr. Austin Flint as Professor of Medicine in 1869 and also served as Dean from 1871-85. The Memorial was, at first, to be a permanent Samuel G. Armor Fund, the interest of which was to provide for an annual course of original lectures on subjects of Medical Science and Practice. A change was later made for the entire Fund to be used for a bronze bust of Dr. Armor. Finally, in 1892, it was decided to have a tablet instead of the bronze bust, which tablet was the work of the distinguished Scotch sculptor, J. Massey Rhind. In 1894 it was placed on the north wall of the lecture-room of the Polhemus Memorial Building. The balance of $29 in the Fund was turned over to the Historian.

At the Tenth Annual Meeting, 1890, the Association adopted a pin designed by Drs. Robert L. Dickinson, '82, and Joshua M. Van Cott, Jr., '85, consisting of the Geneva Cross, the medical emblem for succor in trouble, upon a white cross, significant of purity, surmounted by the monogram L.I.C.H. in gold. Students after one year were permitted to wear the pin.

The third Register, listing the names of 1,276 Alumni, from 1860-92, was compiled by Dr. Reuben Jeffrey, '85 and presented by him at the Twelfth Annual Meeting.

Thirteen years after the formation of the Association, the by-laws were amended to provide for annual dues of $1 to be used in preparing and maintaining a list of Alumni; and to the constitution was added an article to provide for a permanent Historian. Dr. Harry K. Bell, '84, was elected to the office, and when he became President, Dr. Albert Leffingwell, '74, was elected permanent Historian.

A special feature of the Fourteenth Annual Dinner, held at the Pouch Mansion on March 20, 1894, was a reception tendered the guests of honor, prior to the dinner.

A memorial tribute, in the form of a biographical sketch of Professor Corydon L. Ford, who gave 18 years of devoted service to the College, in the Department of Anatomy, was read by Dr. Jarvis S. Wight, '64, at the Fifteenth Annual Dinner held at the Germania Club, March 26, 1895.

At a special meeting, May 6, 1895, the Association resolved, that:

Whenever the funds permit, a catalogue be prepared and published, which shall contain a brief history of each Alumnus, and that until this volume is published the Association undertake no literary work, such as public lectures or prize essays.

The plans of the Polhemus Memorial Clinic were exhibited for inspection to the members of the Association at its Sixteenth Annual Meeting, April 8, 1896, held at the Montauk Club. Mr. Marshall L. Emery, the architect, present by invitation, explained the details of the structure to be erected.

In the Spring of 1897, the Historian, Dr. Leffingwell, was requested, during the annual meeting, to compile a list of the Alumni with a sketch of each one, as called for by the resolution passed at the special meeting of 1895. Due to Dr. Leffingwell's resignation as Historian, a special meeting by the Board of Managers was held on June 10, and Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, was elected to that position. Ten days later, "a blank was sent to each Alumnus on which his history was to be written and returned."

In 1898 the Association, at its Annual Meeting, resolved that they would request the Board of Regents to elect an additional representative from the Alumni on their Board. In the Summer of that year, the Board of Managers nominated Dr. John Harrigan, '74, as an additional Alumni representative on the Board of Regents, to which he was elected in the Spring of the following year.

Every Alumnus, from the classes of 1898 to 1958 (a period of 60 years), became intimately familiar with the Polhemus Memorial Clinic Building, wherein, during his student days, he received four years of medical instruction. This magnificent structure, "where the students could be more perfectly educated" and where the Hospital was provided with accommodations for an out-patient clinic department to care for the worthy poor of Brooklyn's water-front, was the munificent gift to the Long Island College Hospital of Mrs. Caroline H. Polhemus, in memory of her late husband, Henry Ditmas Polhemus, who was a Regent of the College from 1872 until the time of his death, February 14, 1895. In appreciation of this splendid facility, the Alumni, at the 18th Annual Dinner held at the Montauk Club on May 19, 1898, tendered the guest of honor, Mrs. Caroline Polhemus, a rising vote of thanks.

A surprise announcement, at the Nineteenth Annual Dinner, of a $10,000 subscription toward the erection of a new Hospital Building was made by Mr. Henry W. Maxwell, President of the Board of Regents. The dinner was held May 17, 1899, at the Montauk Club.

Under the imprint of 1899, the Association, through the untiring efforts of the Historian, Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, succeeded in publishing the volume entitled, History of the Long Island College Hospital and Its Graduates, together with a compilation of data describing the Hoagland Laboratory and the Polhemus Memorial Clinic. By the twentieth year of the Alumni's existence, there was a total of 1,748 graduates, of which number 1,191 biographies of living Alumni, and 58 of the 225 graduates known or thought to be deceased, appeared in this volume. Less than twenty per cent or a total of 332 failed to respond to the half-dozen circulars and personal letters sent requesting their biographical data.

The volume is replete with the earliest information concerning the establishment of the medical school, the affiliated institutions—hospital and laboratory, and the curriculum vitae of the graduates.

The text is amply illustrated with photographs of the buildings wherein the practical and technical phases of the teaching of medicine were conducted, and the distinguished personnel, whose devotion and efforts contributed greatly to the singular prominence attained by the Institution. The book is a crowning achievement of the Association's first twenty years of existence.

The Subsequent Thirty Years: 1900-1930<sup>1</sup>

At the turn of the century the Association had reached the age of maturity, and there was established a protocol—the routine of which was closely followed as the "modus operandi" for conducting the affairs of the organization. Aside from yearly scheduled scientific meetings, regular and special meetings of the Board of Managers were held at frequent intervals during the year, either in the office (usually the residence in those days) of the incumbent President, or at various clubs such as Montauk, Crescent Athletic, Hamilton, Union League, etc. The Annual Meetings and Dinners, coupled with a reception or reunion became perennial functions and were held either in April, May or June.

These three decades were marked by expansion of Alumni activities in a closer affiliation with the parent institution, revision of the constitution and by-laws, fund raising, publication of rosters and an Alumni Journal, the establishment of the Dr. John C. Cardwell Research Fund (Physiology), and the inauguration of "Alumni Day."

The first President of the Association, Dr. A. J. C. Skene, '63, died July 4, 1900. Dr. Glentworth Reeve Butler, '80, the incumbent President, took respectful cognizance of the occurrence by calling a special meeting at which a committee was appointed to attend the funeral, send a floral piece and draft a set of resolutions—an engrossed copy of which was to be sent to Mrs. Skene.

At a Special New Year's Eve Meeting (1901), it was decided to complete the much needed stack room of the Kings County Medical Society Library as a fitting memorial to the late Dr. Skene.

The Alumni Association continued holding annual scientific meetings on interesting subjects, which attracted a large number of the medical profession as well as members of the Association. To interest the laity, programs of a cultural character were scheduled from time to time.

Of singular significance and import to the body alumni was the election of Dr. John Alva McCorkle, of the class of 1873, as President of the Long Island College Hospital. Dr. McCorkle was the guest of honor at the 23rd Annual Dinner held May 9, 1903 at the Pouch Mansion and was visibly moved by the many tributes paid him for the distinction of being the first alumnus to head the Institution.

The attractive monogrammed L.I.C.H. pin, previously described, was worn by many who were not entitled to this privilege. Thereupon, the Board of Managers decided that only graduates were to wear the distinctive pin. A paragraph, relative to the wearing of the pin, appeared in the 1905 College Announcement (Catalogue), inserted at the request of the co-designer, Dr. Joshua Van Cott, '85.

The Association was making great progress as evidenced by the fact that changes were effected in the constitution and by-laws at the 25th Annual Meeting. The revision of the governing articles and by-laws provided for additional duties to be delegated to the Board of Managers, and, due to the expanding activities of the Association, the slate of officers was increased. Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, '68, Historian of the Association and Secretary of the Faculty, was able to effect considerable improvement in the liaison of the Alumni with the College administration. Dr. John H. Harrigan, '74, Alumni representative on the Board of Regents, reported that all appointments at Long Island College Hospital were made, whenever possible from among the graduates. It was most gratifying for the Alumni to know that they were not the forgotten doctors.

In the record of the 26th year of the Association, a sad note appears on the passing of Dr. R. Ogden Doremus, the last member of the original faculty.

The number of Alumni had quadrupled by 1908. Dr. Raymond reported at the Annual Meeting that year, that the Register, published by the College, listed 2,239 graduates of whom 1,715 addresses were known, 200 were unknown, and 324 graduates were deceased. The Register listed the Alumni alphabetically, by classes, and geographically. In this important undertaking and arduous task, Dr. Raymond had the assistance of Dr. J. J. A. O'Reilly, '01.

In appreciation of the closer relationship that was extant between the governing bodies of the parent and affiliated institutions, the Association invited the Regents and Council of the Long Island College Hospital and the Trustees of the Hoagland Laboratory and the Polhemus Memorial Clinic Building as guests to the 31st Annual Dinner, preceded by a reception, held June 3, 1911 at the Pouch Mansion.

The Alumni felt that graduates of other recognized medical schools, who were affiliated with the teaching, hospital or dispensary departments of the Long Island College Hospital, should be encouraged to participate in the activities of the Association. In order to include this group, the resolution, which provided for Associate Membership, was adopted and added to Article III of the constitution at the 31st Annual Meeting. This was a progressive move on the part of the Association in that it tended to foster and promote good fellowship and a fraternal spirit of cooperation. The amendment reads as follows:

Graduates of other recognized medical colleges but affiliated with either the teaching, hospital or dispensary departments of the Long Island College Hospital, and who have been so affiliated for at least one year, may be elected as Associate Members on the payment of two ($2) dollars initiation fee and the regular dues. Associate Members shall be entitled to voice vote on all subjects but shall not be eligible to office or Council. Associate Membership may be maintained after severance of connection with teaching, hospital or dispensary departments by payment of annual dues.

The Association suffered the loss of Dr. John Randall Stivers, '94, who had been elected President for the year 1913-14. Respectful tribute was paid on his passing by a memorial eulogizing his devotion as an Alumnus.

In 1914 a forerunner of what later became a fixed part of Alumni Day was the regular clinics especially arranged by the Hospital for Alumni and held on two successive days, June 8 and 9, prior to the scheduled date for the Annual Meeting and Dinner.

The incentive to form both an Alumni Club and a Medical Association of the Long Island College Hosiptal was considered with a view of expanding the Association's activities. In later years, "Alumni Class Clubs" became an actuality, whereas the prospect of a Medical Association never gained momentum.

The proposal of an "Alumni Day" which would harmonize and coordinate the activities of the Association with that of the College was the subject of discussion at a meeting held in the Spring of 1918 at the Polhemus Memorial Clinic Building, called at the suggestion of the Dean of the Faculty. Present at this meeting were Dr. Egbert, President of the College, and Dr. Huffman, Dean of the Faculty, for the Administration, Drs. Polak and Warren for the Teaching Staff, and Drs. Brennan, MacNamara, Mills, Read, Schroeder and Raphael for the Alumni Association. The results of this meeting did much to achieve a liaison of College and Alumni. The Board of Managers decided that they would arrange for such a day, on which the forenoon was to be given over to clinics, lectures or demonstrations by alumni and faculty members; then would follow a luncheon served at the Hospital after which the regular annual meeting would be held. The annual dinner, a social event, would take place in the evening. With slight modification of the basic plan to meet situations that arose, the Association continued without interruption the scheduling of an Alumni Day. The practical benefits of this day have proved a means of binding the Alumni more firmly to its Alma Mater, and fostering a closer relationship with the Administration and Faculty by their participation in this activity.

The programs scheduled for Alumni Day were on topics that were invariably interesting, instructive and timely. During the World War I years, the topics naturally were of a medico-military nature. The Alumni, College personnel and guest lecturers were served luncheon in the main Nurses' Dining Room, by courtesy of the Long Island College Hospital.

The Annual Meetings, during this period of thirty years, were held mostly at the Hoagland Laboratory; and from time to time, it was found expedient to conduct the regular annual meeting either prior to or following the luncheon. For a time it was even thought better to hold the annual meeting in the evening at the conclusion of the annual dinner, but this practice was discontinued on account of the lateness of the hour and the desire to leave on the part of alumni who came from distant places. For several years the trial of holding the regular annual meetings and annual dinners on different days was found to be unsatisfactory. It was therefore decided to hold both affairs on the same day.

During the third decade (1919-29) of this thirty year period, the Association succeeded in accomplishing many worthwhile and creditable activities.

One was the publishing of an Alumni Journal which was proposed by Dr. M. F. DeLorme, '00, at the regular Annual Meeting held June 1919. There had been "a monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the Long Island College Hospital" entitled, The Long Island College Hospital Chronicle, published monthly from November to June, inclusive. The subscription was one dollar per annum. This publication was begun in 1909 and after several years it was discontinued. After considerable study by the Committee of Publication of the prospects for publishing an alumni periodical, a most favorable report was submitted by the Committee to the Board of Managers, whereupon it was decided to proceed with issuing a bimonthly journal to contain timely information of the progressive changes at the College, of the activities of the Association and its members, and articles contributed by faculty and alumni. The initial issue of this publication, titled The Long Island College Hospital Alumni Journal, appeared in 1925 under the editorship of Dr. Thurston S. Welton, '08. It was so well received that the Association has uninterruptedly issued an alumni publication, subject to change as conditions warranted.

Another commendable fait accompli was the establishment of the Dr. John C. Cardwell Research Fund in honor of the many years Dr. Cardwell dedicated to the teaching of Physiology. The Fund was to be used by Dr. Cardwell as he deemed fit in the Department of Physiology.

The reestablishment of Alumni representation on the Board of Regents was the third important achievement during this period. It will be recalled that during the early years of the Alumni Association, Dr. Paul H. Kretschmar, '77, in 1887 brought up the matter of Alumni representation on the Board of Regents and Council. The subject was receptive to the Board of Regents and resulted in the election of Dr. Z. Taylor Emery, '74, as the first Alumnus to be the Association's representative. In 1898 there followed the request of the Association to have an additional representative on the Board of Regents, with which request the Board concurred and Dr. John Harrigan, '74, was duly elected the additional Alumni representative on the Board of Regents. Drs. Emery and Harrigan succeeded themselves as representatives of the Association on the Board of Regents at the expiration of each of their five year terms. Dr. Harrigan died in December 1917. The records of the Alumni Association and of the Board of Regents and Council for the years 1918 to 1927 fail to reveal any representation of the Alumni Association on the Board of Regents. It was at a regular meeting held April 13, 1926, after almost ten years had elapsed since the death of Dr. Harrigan, that the importance of Alumni representation on the Board of Regents was again brought up. The discussion emphasized that such an appointment would serve the twofold purpose of transmitting to the Alumni the activities, plans and problems of the College and of informing the College authorities of the hopes, aspirations and activities of the Alumni Association. The Board of Managers was informed that Alumni representation was favorably acted upon by the Board of Regents and would be most helpful in furthering a liaison between the College and Alumni Association. At the regular Annual Meeting held April 1927, Dr. Augustus L. Harris, '14, was chosen to represent the Association.

A fourth important advance in the progress of the Association was the publishing of the seventh revision of the Roster which contained the names and addresses of 2,239 living alumni—listed by classes, alphabetically, and geographically. The arduous task was begun in 1925 when Dr. Elias A. Reed, '19 was appointed Chairman of the Roster Committee and through the indefatigable efforts of his Committee and himself, the important work was completed in 1929. The Rosters were bound in gold colored covers to commemorate the semi-centennial year of the Association. The Roster reveals the interesting facts that there were no living alumni of the classes 1860 to 1864 inclusive and that only two alumni of the class of 1865 were then still in active practice. There were over 300 changes in Alumni addresses during the twenty year period since the sixth revision of the Roster published in 1908. To defray the cost of publishing the roster, the Faculty contributed $400, and a like amount was given by Dr. George M. Levitas, '04, in appreciation of the silver anniversary of his graduation.

A fifth progressive action deemed necessary by the Association, toward the close of the thirty year period, was the amendment of the constitution as follows:

Article VI, to read, The annual meeting of the association for the election of officers and councillors, and for the transaction of all other business of the association, shall be held during the latter part of the college year, at the time and place designated by the board of managers. Ten (10) members of the association shall constitute a quorum.

Article VIII, to read, The constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting at the annual meeting, provided that notice be given in advance of the meeting, either in the columns of the Alumni Journal or by mail.

Finally, in the year closing this decade, the Association highlighted its activities by reestablishing the important Alumni prize. It is pardonable to reiterate that when the Association was first organized in 1880, its first President, the illustrious Dr. Skene, offered a prize of $100 for the best original essay submitted by an alumnus on a medical subject. The prize was offered each year during 1881-1895, after which the competition for the prize was discontinued. It is therefore of redounding credit to the Association that in 1928, under the presidency of Dr. Elias A. Reed, '19, the Board of Managers decided to reestablish an Alumni prize, not to exceed $50, to be awarded annually to a member of the graduating class. This prize award was approved by the Faculty and the Board of Regents and Council. Subsequently it was named The John Osborn Polak Prize in honored memory of Dr. Polak's distinguished services as Alumnus and teacher and given to the member of the graduating class best qualified in gynecology.

This period of thirty years would not be complete without making respectful mention of the passing of Dr. Joseph H. Raymond on March 7, 1915, whose loyalty to the College and devotion to the Alumni Association contributed greatly to the success and achievements of the parent Institution and the Alumni organization.

The Years 1930-1955

In 1930 the name of the parent teaching Institution became the Long Island College of Medicine by virtue of being chartered and incorporated. Although the College and Hospital were separated from an administrative standpoint—each having its own governing bodies—the activities of the College and its affiliation with the Hospital for clinical teaching purposes continued uninterruptedly.

The College was governed by a Board of Trustees who throughout this twenty year period sought the cooperation of the Alumni Association relative to problems arising from, and plans called for, by the separation. The Association gave of their efforts unstintingly, both collectively and individually, in aiding the College to progress and maintain a high standard of medical education.

At the very outset, the Association received a letter of invitation from the newly organized Board of Trustees of the College for an alumnus to represent the Alumni on the Committee which was to conduct a thorough going survey of the teaching Institution. The Board of Managers selected the distinguished alumnus, Dr. Frederick Tilney, '03, who assuredly met the stipulations set forth in the Trustees' letter which stated, "The person nominated must be of recognized eminence, with a sincere interest in medical education and of sound judgment."

Dr. Tilney accepted the appointment as Alumni representative on the Survey Committee and gave considerable time, meeting frequently with the full Board of Managers and many outstanding Alumni. The informal discussions at these meetings enabled him to present a comprehensive and workable "Alumni Plan," as expressed in the following two definite policies:

(1) The professor of a department in the College shall be the director of the teaching policy in his department of the affiliated hospital.

(2) The Board of Trustees of the various affiliated hospitals must see to it that a place be made on the attending staff of one or more of their hospitals for the head of such departments of the College as required clinical connections for teaching purposes.

Whereas at first Dr. Tilney represented the Alumni as a member only of the Survey Committee, he was subsequently elected Alumni representative on the Board of Trustees of the College.

Dr. Tilney urged the Alumni to support the planned progressive changes to be instituted by the College, emphasizing the need for a cooperative spirit in solving the problems essential for placing the College in the forefront of medical schools in this country.

To conform with the new name of the College, the Association, at its Annual Meeting in 1931, amended Article I of the constitution to read, "The name of the organization shall be 'The Alumni Association of the Long Island College of Medicine.'"

The first year that the College was separated from the Hospital, the Association suffered the loss of ex-President Dr. Murett F. DeLorme, '00, whose term in office was for the year 1919-20. It was his proposal at the 40th Annual Meeting for a periodical which eventuated in the re-appearance of the Alumni publication. The second year witnessed the loss of ex-President, Dr. John O. Polak, '91, whose loyalty to the Association and devotion to the College never waivered nor faltered. Dr. Polak was the twentieth President of the Association serving at the turn of the century. The Basic Science Building was erected by him to afford better laboratory facilities for the teaching of the sciences basic to a better appreciation of the study of medicine. His name and fame spread across the land wherever obstetrics and/or gynecology was discussed or taught. So well liked was the alumnus and teacher, Dr. Polak, that after his passing, an oil painting of him, paid for by contributions from the staffs of the Hospital and College and the Board of Regents of the Hospital, was uncovered at the 52nd Annual Meeting of the Association held at the Hoagland Laboratory Building and later placed in the Trustees' Room of the Long Island College Hospital.

The Alumni Association, as evidence of its cooperative spirit with the College authorities, dedicated its 52nd Annual Dinner, held at the Knights of Columbus Club, April 30, 1932, as a testimonial to Dr. Frank L. Babbsott, Jr., the newly elected President of the College. A surprise feature at this banquet was a presentation by Dr. Adolf Von Prief Fardelmann, '16, prefaced by the following words: "In the spirit of the followers of Truth and the devotion to a cause, the class of 1916 spontaneously desired to give a token of esteem and appreciation. It is in this spirit, that we present to Dr. Cardwell a modest Purse of Gold."

To provide for expansion of activities in the conduct of the affairs of the Association, Article IV of the constitution was amended at the Annual Meeting in 1933 to include six councillors, "two of whom shall be elected each year to serve for a term of three years."

Dr. Tilney reported at the 1934 regular Annual Meeting of the Association that the Board of Trustees of the College asked for an additional alumnus as a representative on their Board. Dr. Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98, was chosen and elected the additional representative.

In 1935 the name of the Long Island College Hospital Alumni Journal was changed to The Long Islander Medical, which change permitted reclassifying the periodical from the advertisers standpoint, thus opening new sources of revenue.

The Alumni publication was serving a most useful purpose in stimulating the interest of:

- (a) Alumni in the Association, by mailing the publication to every graduate,
- (b) Alumni in the College, by the reports of the Association's representatives on the Board of Trustees,
- (c) College personnel in the Alumni, by publicizing the Association's activities, and
- (d) Student body in the Alumni Association, by distributing the publication to the undergraduates made possible by a donation of $500 from the Board of Trustees of the College. Each class had a representative on the Editorial Board to submit items of class interest.

Within the span of five years (1929-34) there were close to 2,000 changes in addresses of Alumni. To defray the cost of the roster changes, Drs. Abbott and Raphael, '04, each contributed fifty dollars. The Alumni Roster was kept up to date by the Historian, Dr. Fred Schroeder, '05.

The lecture hall of the Polhemus Memorial Clinic Building was filled to overflowing at the morning session of Alumni Day, April 27, 1935, to hear a talk by Dr. Paul O'Leary, '15, Director, Section of Dermatology and Syphilology at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, on the topic "Limitation of the Specific and Non Specific Measures in the Treatment of Syphilis." Discussions followed by Drs. Thurman Givan, Alfred Potter, '02, and Luther Warren. At the 55th Annual Dinner in the evening, held at the Knights of Columbus Club, the speaker was the illustrious alumnus, Dr. William Alanson White, '91, Chief of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Washington, D.C.

At the Annual Meeting in 1935, the membership dues were raised to three dollars per annum, of which one dollar was to be contributed to the projected Alumni Fund.

Dr. Joseph B. L'Episcopo, '14, while serving as President, stressed the need of an Alumni Fund, which would greatly accrue to the credit of the Association by subsidizing projects such as research, scholarship and student aid. In 1936 the Alumni Fund was established with the contribution of $500 from the class of 1914. There followed announcements by Drs. J Lucey, '06, and Victor Burke, '11, of pledges of $500 from each of their classes.

Incorporating the Alumni Association became necessary because of "Fund Raising," and this was done through the courtesy of Dr. George Swetlow, '20, without cost to the Association. The articles of incorporation specifically stated that the Alumni Fund be used for scholarship and research at the Long Island College of Medicine or for some other purposes as designated by the three Alumni appointed by the Board of Managers as Trustees of the Fund.

The Alumni Association, not only took special interest to obtain suitable internships for graduates, but also recommended to the Board of Trustees through the Alumni representatives, Alumni who were available, whenever possible, to fill vacancies in the teaching positions at the College.

The speaker at the morning scientific session of Alumni Day in 1936 was the prominent alumnus, Dr. Adolph De Sanctis, '14, whose discourse on "Appendicitis in Children" was followed by a discussion from a surgical standpoint by Dr. Thomas M. Brennan, '06, and from a pediatric viewpoint, by Dr. Carl Laws, of the Faculty.

In 1937 Dr. Cassius H. Watson, '05, Medical Director of the New York Telephone Company, spoke at the morning session of Alumni Day on "Medicine in Industry" outlining its historical development and stressing its practical importance.

At the luncheon that followed the scientific session, Dr. George H. Gehrman, '13, Medical Director, E. I. Du Pont, Wilmington, Delaware, told of his experiences in Industrial Toxicology as related to Internal Medicine.

Honorable Grover Whalen was the guest speaker at the 57th Annual Dinner and gave a vivid outline of the World's Fair, dedicated to Peace, which was to be held at the Flushing Meadows, New York.

The 58th year (1937-38) of the Association, headed by Dr. Herbert C. Fett, '13, saw further advancement of Alumni interest in the College and the undergraduate body.

A reunion of the 30 Year Class (1907) was held on November 20, 1937 at Cavanaghs Restaurant, New York City, celebrating the milestone with a beef-steak dinner, sponsored by its classmate, Joseph Safian. A sizable amount, both in pledges and cash contributions was obtained and given to the Alumni Fund.

The installation of the Adam M. Miller Memorial Clock in the Donnellon House took place on November 23 1937, and on December 17, of the same year ceremonies were held commemorating the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Hoagland Laboratory Building, at which events the Board of Managers and many Alumni were present.

On Alumni Day, April 30, 1938, senior students identifiable by wearing carnations, acted as ushers directing visiting alumni to clinics, demonstrations or lectures. A novel feature of the day was the many snapshots taken of Alumni and Faculty, which pictures later appeared in the Alumni publication.

The prominent alumnus, Richard C. Holcomb, '96, Commander, U. S. Navy, was a guest speaker at the Alumni luncheon in the main dining room of the Hospital. He spoke of his researches in the "Evolutionary Perspective of Syphilis."

The highlight of the Annual Meeting was the Alumni Fund report of a $5,000 total. Following reports of the various Committees, officers were elected for the ensuing year.

In the evening at the 58th Annual Dinner held at the Knights of Columbus Club, over 400 persons attended. The retiring President, Dr. Fett, spoke in a serious vein and then introduced Dr. Babbott, who briefly outlined the aims of the College authorities, recounted what had been accomplished in the way of progress, and hinted at what was hoped for in the future. A representative of the 25 year class announced that his class contributed $1,000 to the Alumni Fund, which raised the total to $6,000. This established a precedent which the future 25 year classes followed by contributing a sizable sum to the Alumni Fund at the annual dinners.

The Honorable John H. McCooey, Justice of the Supreme Court, did not give a formal talk, but interested the gathering in several well selected and appropriate stories, concluding his remarks with best wishes to the physicians in the success of their work.

The 59th year (1938-39) of the Association, under the presidency of Dr. Eugene R. Marzullo, '24, saw several important developments.

One was the concerted effort of the Board of Managers to place graduates in internships to help solve the difficult problem confronting recent graduates. The efforts put forth by the Association were very successful in that all the graduates who applied were placed as interns in 43 hospitals of 19 cities throughout 7 states.

Another was the election of three outstanding Alumni to fill vacancies on the Board of Trustees of the College. They were Drs. Joshua M. Van Cott, '85, J. Sturdivant Read, '02, to succeed Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98, who retired, and Cassius H. Watson, '05, in place of Dr. Frederick Tilney, '03, deceased. Drs. Read and Watson were nominated by the Association as the Alumni representatives on the Board.

Significant, too, was the innovation of Round Table Discussions as part of the program of the Scientific Session on Alumni Day, held April 29, 1939. A total of 12 topics, including major and specialty subjects, were participated in by Alumni and Faculty. Thereafter followed talks by Dr. Frederick Schroeder, '05, on "Ancient and Modern Methods of Poisoning," Dr. William A. Jewett, '97, on "The Management of Pelvic Malignancy," and Dr. S. Potter Bartley, '14, on "Reconstruction of the Arm and Hand," illustrated by slides. Drs. Alfred Beck, Emil Goetsch, and Tasker Howard discussed the papers respectively.

At the luncheon given by courtesy of the Long Island College Hospital, Mr. Tracy Voorhees, President, Board of Trustees of the College, spoke on "A Layman's Thoughts on the Modern Problems Facing the Medical Profession," and Dr. Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98, Alumni representative, spoke on "Some of the Problems which the Medical Profession is Facing Today."

It was during the 60th year of the Association that the formation of regional chapters was undertaken by Dr. A. Jablons, '14, with a view of organizing the graduates outside of the Borough of Brooklyn to become better acquainted with the progress of the school and to take a more active part in the transactions of the Association.

The Manhattan and Bronx Chapter was the first to be organized as an integral part of the Association and held its first meeting at the New York Academy of Medicine, New York City, on November 15, 1939. The large gathering that assembled was addressed by Drs. Robert Latou Dickinson, '82, George Gray Ward, '91, A. J. Rongy, '99 and Frank L. Babbott, President of the College.

The 1905 Class held its 35th Anniversary Dinner on April 24, 1940, at the Hotel Bossert, Brooklyn, and contributed a large sum of money which was given to the Alumni Fund.

The Scientific program on Alumni Day was devoted to a Symposium on Pneumonia, by a panel of medical internists.

With war clouds gathering, Dr. Henry Monroe Moses, '04, gave an absorbing talk on "The Medical Profession in a National Emergency."

In the evening at the 60th Annual Dinner, Captain Dallas G. Sutton, Medical Corps, U.S. Navy, Deputy Surgeon General, told of "The Medical Department of the Navy—Opportunities for Research and Travel."

The year 1940-41 was the 61st year of the Association. It was to be expected that the imminence of a world conflict would reflect itself in the affairs of the Association. Despite the uncertainty of existing conditions, Dr. William T. Daily, '29, President at that time, succeeded in maintaining steady progress in the activities of the Association.

The finances of the Association with regard to dues received were at a very low ebb. However, the appeals, by Dr. Daily, for loyal support of Alumni, which appeared in the Long Islander Medical, brought gratifying results.

Contributions to the Alumni Fund increased the total to over $8,000, which was forty times more than the initial sum of $500 with which the Fund was established. It was deemed advisable to give the College $1,000 a year, for the five succeeding years, for the President and Trustees to use as they saw fit.

Alumni esprit was on the ascendency, as evidenced by the formation of another chapter consisting of graduates residing in Staten Island. This group, similar to the Manhattan and Bronx unit, set its course as follows: ". . . desirous of strengthening the Alumni Association of Long Island College Hospital do hereby, as a body, form a unit to be known as "The Richmond Chapter," whose aims, purposes and interests are in harmony with that of the Alumni Association of the Long Island College of Medicine. The object of the Chapter shall be to further the interests of the Long Island College of Medicine in the work of its medical education, to encourage scientific investigation of medical subjects and to promote good fellowship, sociability and fraternalism among its members."

Dr. William A. Jewett, '97, who had served in a teaching capacity at the College for more than 40 years, was tendered a testimonial dinner on the evening of February 27, 1941, in the Starlight Room of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York. One hundred and fifty Alumni and guests attended the affair. A gold watch with the engraved inscription, "Presented to Dr. William Averill Jewett by his professional associates and friends as evidence of affection and in recognition of his ability as a teacher and practitioner of obstetrics and gynecology, February 27, 1941" was the gift given to Dr. Jewett on this occasion.

Scheduled for Alumni Day, 1941, during the forenoon, were round table discussions, demonstrations and clinics which preceded the talks given in the lecture hall of Polhemus Memorial Building by Dr. William P. Healy on "Pelvic Malignancies," and Dr. Frank E. Adair on "The Place of the Radiation Program in the Field of Mammary Carcinoma."

At the luncheon, Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, Physician to the District Attorney's office and the historic Tombs Prison, gave a most absorbing talk on "Psychopathic Criminals" with bizarre and unusual types of personalities that came under his medical care.

The speaker at the 61st Annual Dinner was the Honorable William O'Dwyer, District Attorney of Kings County, who spoke on "The Functioning of the Prosecutor's Office."

It was not long after Dr. Sutherland Miller, '09, took office as President, that the treacherous Pearl Harbor incident of December 7, 1941 occurred, profoundly affecting civil, medical, and organizational affairs. The immediate entrance of the United States into the war depleted the officer personnel and committees of the Association, placing a greater burden on those who remained. Under the guidance of President Miller, the Association adjusted itself to rapidly changing, hectic times.

Alumni and members of the teaching staff of the College responded in a large and sufficient number to make possible the formation of General Hospital #79, U.S. Army,<sup>1</sup> as a Reserve Base Hospital Unit which served overseas in the war effort.

The notice of Alumni Day mentioned the "chaotic state of the world but pointed out "man's need for diversion and periods of relaxation." "Who knows," ran the notice, "this may be the last Alumni Day we'll celebrate for a long time to come. Day by day more and more of our own are putting on uniforms and leaving us."

Despite the shadow of war, President Miller and his committee chiefs, William T. Daily, '29, and Leonard R. Donne, '28, did commendably well in arranging for a successful Alumni Day. On the 25th of April, 1942, at 10:30 A.M., the Scientific Session of Alumni Day began in the clinical hall of Polhemus Memorial Clinic with a "capacity attendance." A series of short practical talks, clinics, demonstrations and motion pictures made up the program. Consonant with the times, "War Fractures—Diagnosis, Transportation and Treatment" was the film shown by Dr. S. Potter Bartley, '14.

At the luncheon that followed, Dr. William E. Lippold, '05, in the uniform of a Lt. Colonel, U.S. Army, on active duty, gave an inimitable presentation of "A Medical Officer's Duties in the Army."

During the Annual Dinner in the evening, a motion picture of "Life in Australia," by the Honorable Archibald Gilchrist, formerly a member of the Western Australian Parliament, portrayed what the "Aussies" were effectively doing to aid in a speedy victory. During the dinner, the 25 year class (1917) made a substantial contribution to the Alumni Fund.

For the first time in the history of the Alumni Association, its 63rd fiscal year (1942-43) did not coincide with the 20 year differential of the College's academic year—which began its 84th Session July 6, 1942 on a wartime schedule—crowding four years of medical teaching into three. This accelerated program, to meet the growing demands for medical officers in the armed services, graduated two classes in 1943. The Commencements were held in March and December adding 88 and 91 alumni, respectively, to the Association's Roster.

Dr. George Freiman, '14, was President of the Association in 1942-43—a year that saw large numbers of Alumni commissioned in the armed services and assigned to duty all over the world. At the College, students were enrolled in the Army or Navy Reserve and received training in military aspects of medical practice. As in previous wars, the "men of Long Island" were serving in many capacities. Absorbing letters from Alumni overseas and a list of those who made the supreme sacrifice "pro patria gloria," were published in the Long Islander Medical.

The first endowed scholarship fund, amounting to $8,727.87, given the College, February 1943, was in memory of Dr. Peter Yudkowsky, '13.

The Scientific morning Session on Alumni Day, April 17, 1943 presented a program of instructive talks on "Blood Dyscrasias and the Treatment of Anemia," by Dr. Eugene R. Marzullo, '24, "Blood Procurement for the Army and Navy," by Dr. Earl S. Taylor, and "Nature and Treatment of Shock," by Dr. John Scudder.

The announcement for that day mentioned the, by then, familiar complaint that "The war has changed everything." Even the time honored custom of a luncheon after the scientific session was omitted upon due consideration by the Board of Managers because of "Shortage of help, the rationing of food, etc." Provision, however, was made by the Open Gate Cafeteria to serve a luncheon.

During the regular Annual Meeting, after the routine business of the Association was transacted, the Historian, ex-President Dr. Daily, read a most interesting paper entitled "Lest We Forget," recounting the inception of the Long Island College Hospital and the important roles performed by Alumni in civil and military medicine. Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, President of Brooklyn College, was the guest speaker at the Annual Dinner. Reels of colorful war scenes, shown by courtesy of the U.S. Army, concluded the evening.

Dr. John G. McNamara, '21, was President for the 64th year (1943-1944) of the Alumni Association. World War II pervaded every walk of life. To maintain a solvent financial condition of the Association, the Long Islander Medical was issued quarterly instead of bimonthly, thus effecting a savings in halving the cost of the periodical. Interesting accounts of Alumni in service continued to fill the pages of the publication.

The Scientific program was held as usual in the morning of Alumni Day with Dr. Emanuel Mendelson, '26, giving an illustrated talk on "Roentgenological Diagnosis of Intraperitoneal Fluid." Dr. A. L. Loomis Bell followed with an illustrated presentation of "Chronic Intermittent Intussusception," and Dr. Phillips F. Greene concluded the morning's session telling of "China's Attack on Disease."

As in the previous year, the officers again informed the Hospital that the Association would forego their hospitality of a luncheon on Alumni Day. The Open Gate Cafeteria was again available for those desiring a noon day meal.

The regular Annual Meeting transacted the routine business of the Association and once again, the Historian, ex-President Dr. Daily, gave a colorful talk entitled "Looking Back," recalling the historical background of the founding of the Long Island College Hospital.

The 64th Annual Dinner, despite war time restrictions was, nevertheless, a banquet meal. The guest speaker was Mr. E. E. Conroy of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation, who spoke on the "FBI in Time of War." Current moving pictures of scenic war events were shown by courtesy of the Army and Navy, which concluded a pleasant reunion.

The 65th year (1944-45) of the organization was presided over by Dr. Samuel Lubin, '23. In April 1945 the Alumni publication with the title, The Alumni Bulletin of the Long Island College of Medicine, with Dr. Duncan Clark, '36, as Editor, made its first appearance as Vol. 1, No. 1, in a new and larger format—its mast head concisely descriptive of its purpose.

The appointment of an Alumni Co-ordinating Committee on College Activities furthered a closer bond between the College and the Association in their respective activities.

With World War II reaching its climax, the Board of Managers decided to suspend the morning scientific session of Alumni Day and to conduct the regular annual meeting in the evening, following the annual dinner. The attendance at the 65th Annual Dinner surpassed all expectations. The guest speaker, Mr. Mark A. McClosky, Director, Community War Services, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D.C., spoke on interesting and timely topics.

At the regular Annual Meeting, Article III of the by-laws was amended, increasing the dues to three dollars per annum, payable May 1st of each year.

The Annual Dinner and Meeting were pleasant affairs, reflecting a growing loyalty and interest of the Alumni in the College and Association.

The war (World War II) was at its height in an all out effort to attain victory. During the Association's 66th year (1945-46) and the presidency of Dr. John J. Bottone, '28, the number of Alumni in the service was on the increase. The second issue (July 1945) of the new Bulletin was dedicated to those who had given their lives in the service of our country. The cover of the Bulletin depicts in color the Service Flag with a central five pointed Gold Star on which appears the number 16—representing the sixteen Alumni who had, up to that time, died in service. The issue contains photographs, biographies and obituaries of the deceased war Alumni, descriptions of the military awards and citations received by Alumni, and a list of the Alumni in the service from the classes 1905 to 1944 inclusive. Each succeeding issue of the Bulletin during hostilities conveyed war news of Alumni. The record is one for the Alumni to be justly proud in that an indelible record of a glorious account of Alumni participation in the war has been written in the annals of the College.

The Bulletin publicized the opportunities for "Graduate and Post-graduate Courses for Veterans and Civilian Physicians" in the major and specialty branches of medicine. Graduates actively participated in giving the courses.

The urgent need for expanding the College facilities in all its branches—teaching, laboratory, research, etc., had been under consideration and planning for a number of years. In the Spring of 1946, the College authorities finally inaugurated the Expansion Program which called for the creation of a Medical Center, built around a large basic science building in keeping with the trend of the medical schools throughout the country.

In furtherance of this plan, the site chosen was a six acre tract of land on Clarkson Avenue, facing Kings County Hospital. The public was informed by an announcement in the press, that on February 21, 1946, the College had signed a contract for the purchase of the land on which to erect a teaching center for medicine with unrivaled possibilities for research.

The President, Dr. Bottone, appointed Dr. A. Martin Marino, Sr., '16, in charge of the Alumni Campaign in the drive to raise funds. Dr. Paul A. O'Leary, '16, of the Mayo Clinic, was Chairman of the National Committee and Dr. Marino was Chairman of the Metropolitan Committee. The Campaign Steering Group of the Alumni had accepted the quota of $350,000 as their goal towards $16,000,000 envisaged for the medical center project, $5,450,000 being the first objective. The campaign got under way on March 11, with the formation of five year chairman groups through whose organized teams the solicitation of contributions, pledges, and gifts were to be sought. This fund was named "The Alumni Memorial Fund," as a tribute to alumni who lost their lives in World War II.

The class of 1921 met February 28, 1946 to hold its Silver Anniversary at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at which 41 members were present. Alumni classmates came from out of town. Their talks were reminiscences of their college days recalling, also, that their class was the first to publish a year book entitled The Lichonian, which publication has continued, to date, uninterruptedly. Mr. Alfred R. Crawford, Assistant to the President of the College, was present as a guest and spoke of the College's proposed building and expansion program. A letter received from Dr. Marino, who was unable to be present, was read, which expressed the hope that the 1921 class would assume leadership in subscriptions to the Alumni Memorial Fund. The class elected new officers and agreed to hold yearly reunion meetings.

The 66th Annual Dinner, which was held on April 27, 1946 at the Knights of Columbus Club was well attended. Dr. Jean A. Curran, President of the Long Island College of Medicine, spoke on the future developments of the College. The guests at the speaker's table were Drs. Alfred C. Beck, Robert L. Dickinson, '82, Emil Goetsch, Nathaniel P. Rathbun, '98, and J. Sturdivant Read, '02, all of whom greeted the assembly with brief remarks. Dr. J. S. Read acted as master of ceremonies.

The regular Annual Meeting was held immediately after the addresses. The all important business transacted was the adoption of the proposed, revised and amended constitution and by-laws, which effected a progressive change for the organization.

Dr. J. Arnold deVeer, '24, was President in 1946-47—the 67th year of the Association during which time the graduates of the College met the great challenging opportunity to come to the aid of their Alma Mater. Dr. Marino reported on December 10, 1946 that the Alumni Memorial Fund had exceeded the quota, having secured $351,320 with the expectations of more subscriptions and pledges. The sum raised represented 625 contributions from 52 per cent of the Alumni which response was most gratifying.

The 50 year class (1896) held a reunion, in the Spring of 1946, at the Towers Hotel, Brooklyn, where 10 Alumni of the 72 that graduated attended. The 20 year class (1926) met on November 2, at the Open Gate Cafeteria where 14 out of the 86 that graduated were present.

Drs. William A. Jewett, '97, and John J. Masterson, '08, were appointed Alumni representatives on the Board of Trustees of the College.

The eminent Dr. Edwin G. Zabriskie, '97, was the third alumnus to be awarded the Alumni Achievement Medallion by the College, during the 89th commencement exercises, held on February 27, 1947, for "Distinguished Service to American Medicine" given by him during the past fifty years.

Drs. Benjamin Zohn, '25, and J. Arnold deVeer, '24, accepted, in the Spring of 1947, the co-chairmanships of a newly formed Alumni Division of the Expansion Program to supplement the continued solicitation of funds, raising the combined goal for their division and the Alumni Memorial Fund Committee to $500,000. Both Dr. Zohn and Dr. deVeer entered upon a vigorous campaign immediately upon the formation of this auxiliary fund raising assignment.

Alumni Day was held Saturday, April 26, 1947; and while no formal program was planned, it began in the forenoon, (10:A.M.) at the Administration offices of the College where President Curran, Faculty members, Dr. deVeer and the Board of Managers were on hand to greet the Alumni. Second year students escorted visiting Alumni to different parts of the Institution on tours of inspection.

At the luncheon held at the Open Gate Cafeteria, Dr. Frank L. Babbott expressed particularly the appreciation of the College for the generous assistance and leadership given by the Alumni in the past year. The luncheon was followed by the showing of three motion pictures, currently used in the teaching of anatomy, by Dr. George Paff, Associate Professor of Anatomy. Immediately thereafter, a large group of alumni visited the home of Dr. Otto E. F. Risch, '87, to see his extraordinary collection of rare curios and works of art. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Risch ending one of the most unusual and interesting occasions ever a part of an Alumni Day program.

In the evening at the 67th Annual Dinner, the Reverend Wayne White, B.D:M.A., Westchester Methodist Church, gave the invocation and the speakers were Mr. Gilbert H. Thirkield, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, Drs. Jerome S. Peterson, Assistant Professor of Preventive Medicine and Community Health and Jean A. Curran, President of the College.

Immediately after the dinner, the regular Annual Meeting was conducted at which the Necrology of 46 Alumni was read, one of whom was Dr. George Freiman, '14, a former President (1942-43) of the Association whose death occurred January 3, 1947.

After the various Committee reports were read and approved, the election of officers for the ensuing year followed. Prior to closing the meeting, President de Veer expressed appreciation for the loyal support given him during his term of office.

Considerable activity and progress in advancing Alumni interest and College cooperation was effected during the 68th year (1947-48) of the organization under the presidency of Dr. A. W. Martin Marino, Sr., '16.

In conjunction with the Annual Convention of the American Medical Association, a reunion and cocktail party was held at the Marlborough Blenheim, Atlantic City, New Jersey, on June 12, 1947. It was the first such party held and the attendance of 150 Alumni from the classes 1899 to 1947, who came from 11 states and the District of Columbia, exceeded the fondest hopes and expectations of the Board of Managers. The success of this occasion prompted the Board of Managers to vote the cost of a similar party to be held the following year at the American Medical Association Centennial Convention, Chicago, Illinois.

The regional New Jersey Chapter was organized in November 1947 through the efforts of the Chairman of the Chapter Committee, Dr. deVeer, who attended the initial meeting.

Further interest of alumni in the Association was reflected in the rising number of graduates paying dues which as of December 31, 1948 was, 1,388—an increase over the previous year.

The completion of 10 years of devoted service by Dr. Curran to the College and his active interest in the Alumni was marked by a testimonial dinner given in his honor to which many alumni subscribed and attended.

The College was presented a Bronze Memorial Plaque in recognition of its contribution during World War II to the U.S. Naval program "for effective cooperation in training naval personnel" (Navy V-12-Medical) by Dr. Morris Brooks, '17, [Captain (MC) USNR] representing the Commandant of the 3rd Naval District.

Arrangements were made with Alumni organizations of medical schools for exchanges of Alumni publications. Also local medical libraries were added to the mailing list for the Bulletin. Due to the rising cost in conducting the affairs of the organization, it became necessary to notify the membership of the proposed amendment to increase the annual dues to $5.

Dr. George Gray Ward, '91, was the fourth alumnus presented with a scroll and the Alumni Medallion for "Distinguished Service to American Medicine" at the 90th Commencement held June 10, 1947.

The vigorous campaigning of Dr. Zohn, Chairman of the Alumni Division of the Expansion Program, together with his volunteer co-workers, succeeded in obtaining contributions, pledges and gifts from alumni and their friends, which brought the total to $446,985. The 142 Alumni who contributed $1,000 were honored as Founding Members. A summary showed that 1,600 or 42 per cent of the Alumni were contributors.

The Scientific Session for Alumni Day, Saturday, May 8, 1948, was omitted in order to direct all efforts toward the success of the Annual Dinner which was held in the evening at which 300 Alumni and guests were present. In addressing the gathering, Dr. Curran mentioned that he had resigned as Dean of the College, having served in that capacity for eleven years. Dr. Duncan W. Clark, '36, who was appointed the new Dean, effective July 1, spoke briefly, paying tribute to Dr. Curran's record of achievement at the College and asked for the earnest and loyal support of the Alumni in serving as Dean. Highlighting the dinner was the announcement that $3,500 was pledged by the 25 year class (1923) toward the College Expansion Fund.

The 68th Annual Meeting was called to order by Dr. Marino, following the dinner. The significant actions taken at the meeting were the amending of Article VII of the constitution increasing the annual dues to $5 beginning and payable May 1, 1948, and the election of ex-President Dr. J. Arnold deVeer, '24, as Alumni representative on the Board of Trustees of the College. The Chairmen of the Regional Chapters and various Committees read their reports and a new slate of officers elected.

The annual Necrology list of 42 names of alumni, one of whom was Dr. J. B. L'Episcopo, '14, who passed away September 5, 1947, was read by the Historian, Dr. John G. McNamara. The meeting was well attended and adjourned at midnight.

Under the stewardship of Dr. Joseph V. Cresci, '31, the progressive activities instituted by the former presidents of the Association continued during the 69th year (1948-49) of the organization.

The regional chapters were active in furthering a closer affiliation of alumni with the parent organization. The formation of a regional chapter in the Miami area, in accordance with article IX of the constitution, was recognized. Other regional chapters, namely, Westchester, Connecticut, Los Angeles, San Francisco were in the process of organizing integral units.

The year was critical for the College in that it was faced with a deficit of $200,000 in the operating expenses. To help defray the deficit, the Alumni set its contribution quota at $20,000.

At about this time the State of New York was actively considering a merger of the Long Island College of Medicine in the establishment of a State University for the New York City area.

At the 70th Annual Commencement the fifth recipient of the scroll and Alumni Medallion for "Distinguished Service to American Medicine" was the prominent Dr. Walter Taylor Dannreuther, '06.

The Board of Managers voted the costs of the annual reunion and cocktail party to be held June 9, 1949 at the Marlborough Blenheim, Atlantic City, New Jersey.

The Scientific Session was resumed and held during the morning of Alumni Day, April 30, 1949, in Clinical Hall of Polhemus Memorial Building, which offered an opportunity for reunion of graduates who were in the service. The speakers were the Professors of Physiology and Pharmacology, Medicine, Bacteriology and Biochemistry, in the persons of Drs. Brooks, Dock, Magill, and Muntwyler, respectively. It was a very instructive scientific session attended by more than 200 Alumni and students. Following the scientific program, the Alumni were guests of the College at an informal luncheon held in the Open Gate Cafeteria.

In the evening, at the 69th Annual Dinner, the principal speaker was President Jean A. Curran, who recorded the events of the past year and referred to the possibility of some identification of the College with the New York State Medical Center. A program of entertainment was provided by undergraduates of the College, who gave selected scenes from the annual junior play, "Daze In White." Approximately one-half of the 25 year class (1924) attended the dinner; also present were three members of the 50 year class (1899) who were still in active clinical practice.

The Annual Business Meeting was held, following the dinner, as in recent years, at which Committee reports were received and the new slate of officers was elected for the ensuing year.

It was during the 70th year of the Association and the presidential term (1949-50) of Dr. Morris Glass, '25, that many important events took place.

Respectful mention must first be made of the passing of two loyal alumni: Dr. Jaques C. Rushmore, '03, a former President of the Alumni Association (1914-15) and Professor Emeritus of Orthopedic Surgery, who had served his entire professional life with the College and during World War I was on active duty with the College Hospital Unit, U.S. Navy Hospital No. 1, Brest, France, died on September 3, 1949, and Dr. Otto E. T. Risch, '87, at whose home it will be recalled the alumni were invited on a former Alumni Day to see the splendid collection of rare curios and works of art and were treated to a collation by Mrs. Risch, died November 29, 1949.

Under date of January 20, 1950, a letter of paramount importance was sent to the Alumni, over the signatures of Mr. Lauson H. Stone, Chairman, Board of Trustees of Long Island College of Medicine and Dr. Morris Glass, President of the Alumni Association, which contained the two concluding paragraphs pertinent to the epochal merger of the College with the State University as follows:

. . . The Trustees of the College wish at this time to express their appreciation for the generous support of the Alumni in establishing the Memorial Fund. Cash contributions to this fund to date amount to $277,614.41. Additional amounts of nearly $100,000 have been pledged but have not as yet been paid.

The University of the State of New York has set aside $560,000 to meet the College's deficit for the current academic year. However, this money cannot be advanced until the merger is complete. Since it is essential that the College continue to operate until these State funds are available, it has been necessary to make advances from the Alumni Fund, in order that the College may continue operation.

In February 1950, the Trustees of State University and the Trustees of the Long Island College of Medicine had completed their part in the merger agreement that brought the College within the orbit of this new University which was established by the legislature of the State of New York in 1948, to provide a "comprehensive and adequate" program of higher education for the use of this State. The final official action, merging the College with State University, took place at a ceremony on April 5, 1950 at the Waldorf Astoria, New York City.

Alumni Day, April 29, 1950 began with the Scientific Session in Clinical Hall, Polhemus Memorial Building with instructive talks by Drs. Joseph R. DiPalma, '41, Assistant Professor of Medicine, and Jean R. Oliver, Professor of Pathology. Visiting Alumni and undergraduates were guests of the College at the luncheon served at the Open Gate Cafeteria. A cocktail hour preceded the 70th Annual Dinner followed by the regular Annual Meeting at which the reports of the officers and committee chairmen were rendered and approved and a slate of officers was elected for the ensuing year.

The Association during its 71st year (1951-52), with Dr. S. C. Franco, '31, as President, continued its forward progress in cooperation with the newly appointed Administration of the State University.

The pressure of College duties compelled Dr. Duncan W. Clark, '36, in the fall of 1950, to request to be relieved of the editorial work in connection with the Alumni Bulletin, which he had supervised for six years (1945-50). A letter of grateful appreciation was sent to Dr. Clark for the excellence of the publication under his editorship. Dr. Phillip E. Lear, '34, was appointed acting Editor.

Before the end of the year (1950) the organization was saddened by the deaths of three devoted alumni, Drs. Robert Latou Dickinson, '82, John J. Wittmer, '21, and George Gray Ward, '91. Sincere condolences on behalf of the Association were sent to each of the families of the deceased.

Ex-President Dr. William T. Daily, '29, called to the attention of the Board of Managers the importance of bringing the roster up to date, in that twenty years had passed since the Semi-Centennial (1930) edition of the Register was published. He was informed that a volume on the history of the College and biographies of the graduates (1900-50) was under consideration and that the Alumni roster would thereby be brought up to date, obviating the need of publishing a separate register.

Despite the tireless and vigorous effort put forth by Dr. Alfred P. Ingegno, '33, who enlisted the support of many prominent civic-minded persons and The Brooklyn Daily Eagle to have the name "Long Island" retained in the merger of the College with the State University, to which the Board of Trustees of the State University and even Governor Thomas E. Dewey, at first, were not adverse, he was informed, in the Spring of 1951, by Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, President of State University, that the Trustees had finally decided not to include "Long Island" in the designation of the new medical center. The apparent reason for this decision was that the Trustees of the State University envisaged the establishment of two large Medical Centers—one upstate (in the Syracuse area) and the other downstate (in the vicinity of New York City).

An instructive program made up the Scientific Session during the forenoon of Alumni Day, April 28, 1951, with Dr. Ingegno presiding. Dr. Franco and Dean Curran greeted the gathering following which there were talks by Dr. Janet Watson, Assistant Professor of Medicine, on "Recent Developments in the Therapy of Anemias," Dr. Louis M. Hellman, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, on "Observations on the Relief of Pain in Labor," and Dr. Duncan W. Clark, Professor of Community Health and Environmental Medicine, on "Problems in Diabetic Coma." At the close of the Session, alumni and guests were invited to an informal luncheon at the Open Gate Cafeteria.

The 71st Annual Dinner was held in the evening at the Knights of Columbus Club, preceded by a cocktail hour. Dr. Max Grolnick, '26, President of the 25 year class, spoke of the present situation of the College and its hopes for the future. Dr. Carlyle F. Jacobsen, Executive Dean for Medical Education of State University of New York, presented slides showing the proposed new Basic Sciences Building for the Medical School.

The election of officers for the year 1951-52 took place after the dinner during the routine business at the Annual Meeting.

For the second time in the annals of the Alumni Association, the membership was saddened by the sorrowful occurrence of the death of a President-Elect<sup>1</sup>. The sudden death of President-Elect Jacob M. Block, '21, on June 2, 1951, made it urgent for the retiring president, Dr. Franco, to summon the Board of Managers to a meeting at his home. A formal resolution on the death of Dr. Block was sent to Mrs. Block together with an expression of condolence. In accordance with the constitution, the Board of Manager unanimously elected Dr. Alfred P. Ingegno, '33, President for the year 1951-52—the 72nd year of the Association.

The year of Dr. Ingegno's presidency saw an upsurge on the part of the Board of Managers to better the integration of Alumni activities with the administration of the State University and at the same time to clarify certain relationships due to the new regime under State auspices.

Prior to the merger there was Alumni representation on the College Board of Trustees. Subsequent to the merger there existed two vacancies on the Board, however, the privilege to recommend and appoint representation, as heretofore, was no longer the prerogative of the Board of Managers, as such appointments were made by the Administration in Albany, New York, which left the Association without representation on the Board of Trustees of the State University.

The concern of many Alumni, as to the status of the Alumni Memorial Fund, prompted the Board of Managers to appoint Dr. Zohn to meet with Dr. Curran which disclosed that the funds on hand were turned over to the State University as part of the terms of agreements of the merger, effective April 1950. The funds received from pledges thereafter were deposited in the special account designated "Research Fund of State University" and whereas the College would not concede control of the sum to the Alumni Association, it would entertain suggestions and recommendations as to its purposeful uses. A request for $2,000 for a Special Study and a grant of $3,000 for Research, recommended by the Alumni Association, were approved by the State University Committee on Loans and Scholarships.

In accordance with the decision of the Board of Managers, the Alumni Fund, which was in the custody of a special committee consisting of Drs. Fedor Senger, '12 and Herbert C. Fett, '13, was transferred to the Treasurer of the Association to be kept as a separate account designated as "Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund." The Fund was to be revitalized by solicitation of contributions so that its several purposeful uses could be initiated by and under the complete control of the Board of Managers. Dr. Zohn was appointed Chairman of the Committee which made steady and splendid progress in building up the Fund.

To strengthen the liaison of the Association with the College and student body, the Faculty and members of the senior class were placed on the mailing list of the Alumni Bulletin. Also a subscription was taken of the Caducean, the student's newspaper, in which news items of and articles by alumni were to be featured. Then, too, a representative of the senior class was invited to attend the meetings of the Board of Managers, but without the privilege of voting.

The plans of the new Basic Sciences Building were to provide an office for the Alumni Association, which would be of decided advantage to the organization in the expansion of its activities.

In consideration of the unfortunate plight of Alumni-prisoners-of-war, the Board of Managers voted their dues as being remitted.

The Annual Meeting, which in previous years was held after the evening dinner on Alumni Day, was changed to follow a short recess after the morning scientific session.

Convocation Exercises celebrating the 95th Anniversary of the Founding of the College was jointly observed with the program of Alumni Day, April 26, 1952.

The program began at 9:30 A.M. in the Clinical Hall of Polhemus Memorial Building, where faculty, alumni and students convened. During the hour that followed, Dr. Jean A. Curran gave the address of welcome to Dr. William S. Carlson, President of State University of New York, and the distinguished visitors. An hour later, Dr. Leon Stamatis introduced Dr. Ingegno and Dean Curran, both of whom greeted those present for the Scientific Session. Dr. Clarence Dennis, Professor of Surgery, gave a talk on "Development of Pump Oxygenator to Replace the Heart and Lungs;" Dr. Alexander S. Wiener, '30, Senior Serologist to Office of Chief Medical Examiner, City of New York, spoke on "Antibodies and Agents of Disease;" and Dr. Herbert C. Fett, Sr., '13, Clinical Professor of Orthopedic Surgery, discoursed on "Fractures of the Carpal Bones."

At noon, during the Annual Meeting, the election of officers and the revision of the constitution took place. At 1:P.M., a luncheon was served in the Nurses' Dining Room, Dr. William S. Carlson being the guest of honor. At 3:P.M., the Interfraternity Council Reception of Returning Alumni was held at the Donnellon House, sponsored by the five fraternities of the College.

In the evening, following the cocktail hour at the Columbus Club, the 72nd Annual Dinner was held at which Mr. Charles Garside, Trustee, State University of New York, and Dr. Jean Curran, Dean of the College, were the speakers. A generous gift was presented to the Alumni Fund from the 25 year class, (1927). At the 95th Commencement held June 5, 1952, Dr. Albert F. R. Andresen, '07, was the recipient of the Alumni Medallion for "Distinguished Service to American Medicine."

During the year 1952-53—the 73rd year of the Association and the presidency of Dr. Archibald O. M. Wood, '10, the organization continued its expanded program in keeping with the determined efforts of the Board of Managers to have a progressive Alumni body.

In compliance with the New York State Law, Section 40, of the General Corporation Laws, a certificate was filed in Albany, New York, legalizing the recent change in name of the Alumni Association.

Through the Committee on Regional Chapters, headed by Dr. deVeer, additional chapters in the Mid-West (Cincinnati, Ohio), New England (Providence, Rhode Island) and Long Island (Nassau and Suffolk Counties) were being organized.

The proposed History of the College and Biographies of Graduates (1900-1950) got off to a good start with responses from 1100 graduates of whom one third had sent in prepaid subscriptions.

The Alumni Bulletin, under the capable editorship of Dr. Phillip Lear, '34, maintained the high standard of contents in alumni news, college progress, undergraduate activities and articles of interest to and by the personnel of the association and the school.

The Alumni Fund Committee, of which Drs. Ingegno and Zohn took the helm a year previously, made exceptional progress in campaigning for the Fund. Through generous individual, and the 25 year class contributions, the total increased, yet the size of the Fund was not large enough to embark on research grants and scholarships which were aims of the Board of Managers. Loans, however, renewable yearly without interest charge until after graduation were made to students, a small interest charged thereafter until repaid. To correlate the student's requests for loans, Drs. Ingegno and Zohn of the Alumni Fund Committee, also serve on the Medical School's Scholarship and Loan Committee.

The President, Dr. Wood, and many Alumni were present at the ground breaking services for the new Basic Sciences Building on Clarkson Avenue, April 9, 1953.

The loss of a loyal alumnus, Dr. Samuel Potter Bartley, '14, who through all his medical career was devoted to the College, Hospital and Alumni Association, occurred on June 10, 1952. He was the son of the distinguished alumnus and faculty member, Dr. Elias H. Bartley, '79, and affectionately called Father Bartley.

To assist the graduating class, subscription to a full page advertisement was taken in its year book—The Lichonian, which extended the well wishes of the Alumni Association to the senior class.

The Scientific Session held on Alumni Day, April 25, 1953, was preceded by greetings from Dr. Wood for the Alumni and Dr. Curran for the College. Dr. Stamatis then introduced the speakers of the Scientific Session, which dealt with the subject of "Segmental Enteritis." Dr. Sidney M. Fierst began with the medical and pathological aspects; then followed Dr. James C. Barnett, '43, who treated the topic from a roentgenological viewpoint; and finally Dr. Phillip E. Lear, '34, elaborated on the surgical treatment of the condition. A recess followed and the Annual Meeting took place with much of old and new business transacted. Officers were elected for the year 1953-54. Dr. Zohn, '25, spoke of the benefits derived by students from the activation of the Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund. Dr. Jablons, '14, stressed the soundness of the treasury of the Association and urged for more interest on the part of alumni in responding to the project of the History and Biographical publication.

Following the meeting's adjournment, alumni, students and faculty members were treated to a delicious chicken luncheon in the Nurses' Dining Room of the Long Island College Hospital, drawing to a close a pleasant reunion of medical colleagues.

The 73rd Annual Dinner, preceded by a cocktail hour, was held in the Hotel Granada, Ashland Place and Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, instead of the Knights of Columbus Club, where for many previous years the annual dinner was held.

Dr. Jean Curran spoke of the future of the College. The Reverend Leon V. Kofod gave an extremely absorbing talk, illustrating with slides his extensive travels in the Near East. At the conclusion of the talk a happy gathering left the Forsythia Room of the Granada Hotel.

The 74th year (1953-54) of the Association, under its standard bearer, Dr. Leslie H. Tisdall, '33, has a creditable record of accomplishments.

To aid the Department of Physiology of the College in its research, the need of special equipment was met by a grant of over $600 from the Alumni's Research, Scholarship, and Student Loan Fund to purchase a Cambridge skin temperature measuring apparatus with the necessary accessories for the study of temperature effects upon the heart, and also by funds given to purchase a robot camera to record action potentials of individual heart cells. An appropriate plate, crediting the Alumni Association as donor, was affixed to the appliance. This grant has made possible the addition of scientific knowledge in connection with heart surgery.

The sum of $1,000 was again allocated from the Alumni Fund to aid five students in need of financial assistance to continue their study of medicine. Four Summer Scholarships of $250 each, for student research aid, and also a grant of $1,500 to the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology for research on Cervix Uteri were recommended to the Administration to be given from the Alumni Memorial Research Fund. The Board of Managers had agreed to underwrite $1,000 for student research (Summer) aid if disapproved by the Administration.

Dr. deVeer regretfully asked to be relieved as Chairman of the Chapter Extension Committee, due to the pressure of his many commitments. He was thanked for the success in the formation of six Chapters organized through his endeavors. The post remained unfilled.

The quarterly issue of the July 1954 Alumni Bulletin was omitted to conserve the Association's assets.

The passing of ex-President Dr. Samuel Lubin, '23, occurred on April 2, 1954. An obituary was inserted in The Brooklyn Daily Eagle. At the meeting of the Board of Managers on April 11, the President requested the members to stand in silent prayer in memory of a devoted colleague.

Throughout the year, Dr. Zohn kept the Alumni mindful of the need for contributions to the Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund to permit of a greater number of benefactions.

On the first day of the merry month of May, Alumni, Faculty members and students gathered in the Clinical Hall of Polhemus Memorial Building—a place most familiar to every graduate—where they heard greetings from the President of the Alumni, Dr. Tisdall and from the Dean, Dr. Curran.

The Scientific program was on an unusually interesting subject. The speaker, Dr. Joseph R. DiPalma, '41, had been a student, research worker and teacher in both the basic and clinical sciences at our medical school. Coming from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where, at the Hahnemann Medical School he is Professor of Pharmacology, enabled him to tell of the interesting experiments done on dogs at that school, which findings might eventually relate to the Etiology of Fibrillation of the Human Heart. The talk was illustrated by graphic slides. Dr. Chandler McC. Brooks then related the interesting experiments being done along the same lines at our medical school.

The regular Annual Meeting followed a short stretching, standing and/or smoking recess. Dr. Zohn reported satisfying progress of the Alumni Fund, both in contributions and advances for useful research and deserving loans to students. The progress reported by Dr. Jablons on the History and Biographical publication met with approval. After the announcement of the election of officers for the year 1954-55, members attended the luncheon in the dining hall of the Hospital, to which the senior class was invited.

At the luncheon, a most interesting talk was given by the honored guest, Captain William Shadish, '49, Medical Corps, AUS of his unique experiences as physician-prisoner-of-war for three and a half years in Korea. Following the luncheon, groups of alumni went on tours of the Basic Science Building on Clarkson Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The annual evening affair was, for the first time, both a dinner and dance, held at the Granada Hotel. The important feature of the evening was a presentation to Dr. Arnold Eggerth of a scroll—the citation on which paid deserving tribute to the 35 years of his devoted service to the school. Both the Fifty Year and Twenty-Five Year Classes were well represented, the latter contributing a sizable donation to the Alumni Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund. The combined dinner and dance was declared by those present, not only a successful venture, but also an evening greatly enjoyed.

The Diamond Anniversary Year (1954-55) of the Association was presided over by Dr. Phillip E. Lear, '34, under whose capable guidance the many phases of the organization's activities were marked by an upward trend.

The highlights of the Alumni Association would be incomplete if the historical event, bearing on past, present and future alumni, were not recorded of the significance of the cornerstone ceremony of the new Basic Sciences Building on October 21, 1954, at which the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the Governor of the State of New York, Thomas E. Dewey, were present. Dr. Carlyle Jacobsen, Executive Dean of State University of New York, presided and introduced the speakers in the following order: Dr. Howard Potter, Dean of the College of Medicine and Faculty, Dr. William S. Carlson, President of State University, Mr. Charles Garside, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. Frank Moore, presiding officer of the Board of Trustees, who then took charge of the meeting and presented Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who was followed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. At the close of the President's address, Governor Dewey unveiled the cornerstone of the Basic Science Building.

The Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund contributions sufficiently increased to bring into realization the aims of the Board of Managers to enlarge the loans to students, grants for research and awards of Scholarship.

Also encouraging was the increase of prepaid subscriptions and returns of biographical data for the History Book reported by Dr. A. Jablons.

As of January 1, 1955, the Board of Trustees of State University transmitted the financial statement of the Alumni Memorial Research Fund to the President of the Alumni Association. The cash balance on hand, after the $1,000 expenditure for four Summer Fellowships, was $28,058.87.

Dr. Alexander S. Wiener, '30, was the eighth recipient of the Alumni Medallion for "Distinguished Service to American Medicine," at the Commencement Exercises, June 9, 1955.

The events of Alumni Day began during the forenoon of April 30, 1955 in the Clinical Hall of Polhemus Memorial Building where Dr. Phillip Lear and Dean Howard Potter greeted those present.

The Scientific program was opened by Dr. Edward Solomons, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, State University College of Medicine and Director of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn. He compared certain phases of obstetrical management in Ireland with those in the United States, and later put forth reasons, backed by statistical slides, why forceps intervention could be used more safely and frequently. Dr. Clarence Day, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, gave a very enlightening talk on the Pathogenesis of Kernicterus. Dr. Alfred C. Beck, Professor Emeritus of Obstetrics and Gynecology, who was in the audience, was introduced and gave his views on forceps intervention.

After a short recess, Dr. Lear conducted the business of the Annual Meeting, at which reports were read and approved and officers elected for 1955-56.

The Hospital again generously put the Nurses' Dining Room at the disposal of the Association for the annual luncheon.

In the evening of April 30, 1955, the Dinner-Dance was held at the Granada Hotel and again proved a social success. Dr. Lear introduced the distinguished guests and gave recognition to all those who had worked in furthering the progress of the Association during his term of office. Dr. Potter gave an amusing and interesting talk, to the delight of all present.

The Diamond Jubilee Year of the Association came to a close with an appreciation of the past and great promise for the future.

PART III

PREFACE . . .

FELLOW ALUMNI:

It is indeed fortunate for me that I am President of the Alumni Association at the time when this volume goes to press. It affords me the honor and privilege of writing a brief preface to this section of the book which contains a summary of the curricula vitae of the graduates from 1900 through 1955.

There is an inestimable amount of pride and pleasure to be derived from the success that each graduate has attained in the pursuit of his or her medical career, either as a general practitioner, specialist, research worker, or as a faculty member of a medical college. If our graduates were pin-pointed on a globe, every continent would be well represented.

As you read the pages one by one and pause to reflect, you will be conscious of the difficult and tremendous task the Alumni Association has undertaken in publishing this book. By supplying the data and through your subscriptions this book has become a reality. We hope that these efforts will give you many hours of pleasure and at the same time serve as a historical reference of the college, of the Alumni Association and of your fellow alumni.

Due to space limitations it has become necessary to use the abbreviations customarily found in books of this type. The full text of each biography however is to remain as a permanent record in the files of the Alumni Association office, where it is available for your reference and use.

With a knowledge of the stupendous amount of time, effort and research that was expended in the production of this book, I extend to all who assisted my appreciation and thanks. I wish to pay special tribute and gratitude to Dr. Abraham Jablons, '14, Editor, who dedicated himself to this project, ably assisted by our Executive Secretary, Mrs. Lucy Attarian. For the great encouragement, interest and cooperation as well as for the financial assistance given by the administration of the State University of New York, College of Medicine at New York City toward the fulfillment of this publication, sincere appreciation is gratefully acknowledged on behalf of the Alumni Association.

ADDENDUM

1956–1959

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AT NEW YORK CITY

(cont'd from p. 60)

1956-57 Beginning in September, 1956 a new curriculum was adopted.
This embodies two guiding principles:

(1) The medical course is presented in such a way that the student will understand and use it as a unified whole; and

(2) As far as possible the student is taught as an individual.

(1) To aid the student in comprehending the inter-relationships of the different areas of knowledge, those subjects are taught first that permit easiest transition from pre-medical scientific preparation, i.e., biochemistry and cellular anatomy. Thence he will in logical sequence progress to organs, organ systems, and to man as a whole in his environmental relationships. Psychiatry, Environmental Medicine and Community Health are taught throughout the four years, partly for the integrative value of these disciplines. A course in the History of Medicine should have the same effect.

(2) By accentuating individual teaching and allowing more free time with corresponding opportunities for extra study, electives and research, the student will progress at the rate and in the direction his inclinations and abilities indicate as being best for him.

Gifts and Grants

Dr. Frank L. Babbott, former President of the Long Island College of Medicine, donated to the medical history section of the College Library his copies of the plates from Andreae Vesalius' Collections of Icones Anatomicae and Tabulae Selectae. These copies are part of a limited printing made from the original wood blocks by the New York Academy of Medicine after the blocks had been re-discovered in Germany about twenty-four years ago.

On June 2, 1956 Dr. Babbott presented to the College a very fine oil painting of Dr. Jean A. Curran, which was unveiled during the ceremonies at the annual Alumni luncheon. These splendid gifts of Dr. Babbott, in addition to those previously made, evidence his sincere interest in the College.

Recent purchases by the Sidney D. Gamble Fund have increased the books in the Library pertaining to the History of Medicine to over 1,000 volumes.

The College has been awarded $170,071 in 16 research grants by the United States Public Health Service from fiscal year 1956 funds.

The Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation gave a grant of $24,000 to the College to support a program of Student Research Scholarships in the field of reproduction.

Dr. Samuel A. Levine, Clinical Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School, donated $1,000 to the College to set up a student Loan fund in honor of Dr. William Dock, Professor of Medicine.

Appointments

Dr. Jean A. Curran has been made the first Professor of the History of Medicine, and gives a course in this subject to first and second year students. Dr. Harry Z. Mellins, '44, was appointed Professor of Radiology and Dr. Robert F. Furchtgott was made head of the new Department of Pharmacology.

Commencement Exercises and Alumni Medallion Award

On June 7, 1956, at the Brooklyn Academy of Medicine, the seventh commencement exercises of the State University College of Medicine were held. One hundred forty-six graduates received the degree of Doctor of Medicine. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Robert A. Moore, Vice Chancellor of the Schools of the Health Professions at the University of Pittsburgh and President of the Association of American Medical Colleges. He emphasized the "importance of an informed public to the sympathetic consideration and understanding of the needs of support for research."

During the exercises Dr. George H. Gehrmann, '13, was awarded the ninth Alumni Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine. He was a pioneer in industrial medicine in developing standards and procedures for replacement and periodic examinations. He is credited with creation of the American Academy of Occupational Medicine and in the establishment of a specialty board in occupational medicine. From 1926 to 1955 he was medical director of the du Pont Company, Wilmington, Delaware.

Dr. Jean A. Curran resigned his position as Associate Executive Dean for Medical Education of State University, effective December 31, 1956, to be the full-time Consultant to the Trust for Charity, established by the late William Bingham, 2nd, with headquarters in Boston, Mass. Dr. Curran retains his position as Professor of the History of Medicine and is a consultant to the school.

The Conference on Pre-Professional Education for Medicine was held in the Basic Sciences Building on October 18 and 19, attended by guidance counselors and pre-medical students of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. The Committee on Admissions of the College presented a panel on application procedures and evaluation of qualifications for admission.

The Graduate Educational Program in the Medical Sciences

On October 26 formal exercises were held inaugurating Graduate Education, at which Dr. Carlyle Jacobsen presided. Dr. William S. Carlson, President, State University, announced that "its purpose was to provide scientific education and training for those interested in careers in academic medicine." Curricula in the Program leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Doctor of Medical Science, or Master of Science are offered by a designated department(s).

Dedicatory Symposia

The first of a series of three dedicatory symposia was held in the new Basic Sciences Building on November 13, 14, and 15, 1956. The second Symposium was held January 8-10, 1957 and the third and last on April 9-11, 1957. The participants were distinguished scientists and medical historians.

Dedication of Basic Sciences Building

On June 8, 1957 the ceremonies dedicating the Basic Sciences Building took place before a large gathering. Governor Averell Harriman gave the dedicatory address. The address by Dr. Jean A. Curran entitled "A Centennial Day of Appreciation and Anticipation" was in behalf of the Administration and Dr. Chandler McC. Brooks gave the Response for the Faculty.

1957 Commencement Exercises and Alumni Medallion Award

The eighth commencement exercises of the College were held on June 8, with 145 graduating. The tenth Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine was awarded to Dr. Louis J. Soffer, '28, who "for over a quarter of a century had pursued with a singleness of purpose, scientific investigations of endocrine disorders and their influence on metabolic processes."

The Dr. Frank L. Babbott Professorship of Pediatrics

The first departmental chair in the College has been established and named: "The Dr. Frank L. Babbott Professorship of Pediatrics." This is a most deserving tribute to Dr. Babbott in recognition of his many generous contributions and benefactions to the Medical School which he has served for many years with loyalty and devotion. The portrait of Dr. Babbott, presented to the Medical Center in 1953, has been accorded the distinction of being placed in the College's Board of Trustees' room.

Dr. Richard L. Day has been Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at the College since 1953 and is the first to hold the Chair named in Dr. Babbott's honor.

Downstate Medical Center of the State University of New York

For the first time, the Bulletin, containing information of the Medical College for the year 1957-58 of State University of New York, has on the cover and title page, "Downstate Medical Center." The College of Medicine at New York City is the nucleus of what eventually will be a new Medical Center which is to serve the metropolitan New York area as the Downstate Medical Center of State University of New York.

First President of Downstate Medical Center

1957-59 On October 1, 1957 Dr. Robert A. Moore assumed the post of President of Downstate Medical Center and Dean of the College of Medicine. His formal inauguration took place on May 2, 1958 at a most colorful and impressive out-door ceremony behind the Basic Sciences Building. Dr. Frank C. Moore, Chairman of the State University Board of Trustees, presided on this occasion and Dr. Peter Marshall Murray, Chairman of the Trustees' Committee on Medical Education, inducted the new president and presented him with the Medallion of his office. "Devotion to excellence" was the subject of Dr. Moore's inaugural address.

The Medallion presented to Dr. Moore bears the wording State University of New York Downstate Medical Center Brooklyn. "The inscription," also thereon — "Let Each Become All He is Capable of Being" — connotes more than an objective. It is also a standard of student and Faculty accomplishment and, as a curricular principle, may be identified as 'individuation.' This means a curriculum which provides a full opportunity for realization of the personal abilities and aspirations of each student."

Faculty Changes

Dr. Howard Potter, Professor of Psychiatry and Dean of the College of Medicine, retired from active affiliation with the school at the end of 1957. His influence contributed greatly in the moulding of the new school. He developed the Department of Psychiatry in the College to be one of the best in the country.

Dr. William Dock returned in the fall of 1957 from his post in Palo Alto Clinic, California to resume his duties as Professor of Medicine. Dr. Gordon Ross Hennigar, formerly Associate Professor of Pathology at the University of Virginia College of Medicine, joined the Department of Pathology as Professor in July, 1957. Drs. Isadore Katz, of Brooklyn V.A. Hospital and Dorothy Wolff, of Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, were appointed Associate Professors of Radiology and Otolaryngology, respectively. Dr. Samuel Karelitz, Chief of Pediatrics at the Long Island Jewish Hospital, was appointed Clinical Professor of Pediatrics. Seven Clinical Associate Professors were appointed in the Department of Medicine, Surgery, Radiology and Pathology. Dr. Joseph Benton, formerly Associate Professor of Clinical Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University College of Medicine, became Professor and Chairman of the newly formed Department of Rehabilitation Medicine and Director of Rehabilitation Medicine at Kings County Hospital on September 1, 1958.

Five senior Faculty members resigned to accept university professorships elsewhere. They were: Drs. Brian MacMahon, Professor of Environmental Medicine and Community Health; Arthur Siebens, Professor of Physiology; Max Michael, Jr., Professor of Medicine and Director of Medicine at Maimonides Hospital; Benton King, Associate Professor of Anesthesiology, and William Richardson, Associate Professor of Surgery.

December 31, 1957 was the date on which Mr. George H. Dwenger, B.A., M.A., and Miss Agnes McNamara retired from the administrative branch of the College.

Mr. Dwenger had served as Registrar for 42 years, during which period there were two World Wars, three changes in the name of the school, and six successive deans. His objective while serving was to procure for the enrollment in the College the best scholastic students.

Miss McNamara served as Administration Secretary for 40 years, also through a period of many changes in the College. Her faithful and loyal services were exemplified in her efficiency and the accurate records that she instituted and kept during her long tenure of affiliation with the Institution.

1958 Commencement Exercises and Alumni Medallion Award

On Sunday evening, June 8, the ninth commencement exercises were held in the Walt Whitman Auditorium of Brooklyn College, awarding the degree of Doctor of Medicine to 145 graduates. At these exercises the first degree of Doctor of Medical Science was awarded by the Downstate Medical Center to one who had qualified under the Graduate Educational Program for the doctorate in psychiatry.

The eleventh Alumni Achievement Medallion Award and Citation was presented to Dr. Alonzo DeGrate Smith, '19, by President Moore, addressing him as follows: ". . . distinguished alumnus and physician, teacher of others in the Hippocratic tradition, leader of your people, patron of tender loving care to children . . ."

Scholarship Ideals

As an effective means of creating an "atmosphere in which scholarship for its own sake is highly regarded" . . . "along with elimination of the competition for grades," as stated by Dr. Moore, the Faculty established a new system of grades — honors, satisfactory and unsatisfactory. To recognize and foster high scholarship, the Executive Faculty council, with the approval of the Faculty, voted the award of three types of degrees, viz: cum laude, magna cum laude and summa cum laude. To further quote Dr. Moore, "Prizes and special awards are fine but these are soon forgotten. A diploma, however, which states that a degree was awarded 'cum laude'" (or which bears any one of the aforementioned laudations) "remains as a tribute for the rest of the graduate's life, establishing a permanent record of high scholarship." The total of "cum laude" degrees will never exceed 15% of the class and is based on a schedule of honor grades.

In the belief that a relatively small number of scholarship students can influence the attitude of a large group of students the Faculty decided to award four scholarships to entering freshman each year designated as Honors Scholarships to enhance their importance and give them some significance outside of their purely monetary value. These scholarships were instituted in the Fall of 1959. The funds for three such awards were derived from the American Medical Education Foundation made available to the Medical Center, and a fourth from the Dave Luckman Memorial Fund. The tenure of the scholarships is for four years on condition that the students maintain the level of scholarship on which they were awarded. The sum of award ranges up to $1,000 a year.

A fifth Honors Scholarship, known as the Alumni Association Honors Scholarship was made possible by the action of the Board of Trustees of Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund of the Alumni Association.

1959 Commencement Exercises and Alumni Medallion Award

The tenth graduation exercises, held on June 10, featured sixteen scholarship laudation awards voted by the Executive Faculty Council: one with highest honor — summa cum laude, six with high honors — magna cum laude and nine with honors — cum laude to the class which numbered 138 graduates. Two graduates of the Graduate Educational Program in the Medical Sciences were awarded the Master of Science degree.

The twelfth Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine was awarded to Dr. William Benham Snow, '20, who was cited as "a distinguished alumnus and physician; healer of the sick; mender of the disabled; pioneer, teacher and investigator in the specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation."

Full Affiliation of Kings County Hospital with Medical Center

In May 1959 the agreement of affiliation between the Medical Center and the Kings County Hospital, adopted in 1957 and in operation for three years, expired. The agreement, providing for separation of the Hospital's professional services into two divisions — one run by the University and one by practicing physicians of the community — had proved unworkable and detrimental to the educational program of the Medical Center. Because of this, the Board of Hospitals, on May 20, 1959, voted to integrate all of the Hospital's professional services with the teaching services of the College of Medicine. This was followed by a letter from Hospital Commissioner Morris Jacobs to the President, dated May 26, 1959, directing the full professional affiliation of the Hospital with the Medical Center as of July 1, 1959. This means that the professional care of all patients is now the responsibility of the medical staff nominated by the University, subject to the rules and regulations of the Department of Hospitals of the City of New York.

The retirement of three senior Faculty members and their appointments to emeritus status became effective at the end of August, 1959. These were: Dr. E. Jefferson Browder, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Neurosurgery, who had been with the College of Medicine for 34 years; Dr. Arthur Grace, Professor and Head of the Division of Dermatology in the Department of Medicine, who had been on the Faculty for 20 years; and Dr. J. Hamilton Crawford, Clinical Professor of Medicine, a Faculty member for over 30 years. Shortly after Dr. Browder's retirement, the Department of Neurosurgery was made a Division of the Department of Surgery with Dr. Albert W. Cook, '46, Assistant Professor of Neurosurgery, as its head. Dr. Lawrence Frank, '40, Clinical Associate Professor of Dermatology, was named Acting Head of that division.

Additional Hospital Affiliation

The Long Island Jewish Hospital in New Hyde Park, Long Island was added to the College's list of affiliated hospitals in the fall of 1959.

Plans for Development of Downstate Medical Center

In July, 1958 the Division of the Budget released funds to develop a general site plan for the Downstate Medical Center and a schematic plan for the new hospital, out-patient department and offices and research laboratories for clinical departments. Shortly thereafter, the firm of Urbahn, Brayton and Burrows, 635 Madison Avenue, New York, was selected by the Commissioner of Public Works as the architect for this project. The site plan prepared by the architects is presently awaiting approval of the Board of Trustees.

*Dr. Thomas Hale Hamilton, A.M., Ph.D.,
Third President, State University of New York*

On October 29, 1959 the colorful ceremonies attendant upon the installation of Dr. Thomas Hale Hamilton, as the new President of State University, took place at the College of Education, Albany, New York. He was formerly Vice President of Academic Affairs at Michigan State University, and in August assumed his upstate post as administrative head of 41,000 students in forty-six schools and colleges with campuses from Suffolk County to Buffalo. The title of his installation address, "The Democracy of Excellence," concluded with his pledge: ". . . that no young citizen of this State shall be denied a collegiate educational opportunity, consistent with his talent and diligence, because of any conditions attending upon his birth; that no young citizen of this State shall be denied the opportunity to demonstrate that he is better blessed with brains, with creative ability, and with energy than his fellows. It would seem to me that in this way the University can best contribute to the creation and maintenance of the democracy of excellence."

The years 1956-1959

The 76th Year of the Association (1955-56), during which Dr. Francis V. Mitchell, '33, served as president, witnessed important advances and accomplishments by the Board of Managers and the members of the Association. Of particular import were the following: employment of a full-time executive secretary; monthly meetings of the Board of Managers; exploration into the formation of a Ladies' Auxiliary of the Association; the decision to include biographies of graduates of the classes 1950-55 in the History publication; and an increase of the annual dues. Contributions from 139 Alumni to the Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund amounted to $1,585; loans were made to students, and summer student research scholarships were recommended and approved by the Administration.

Annual Alumni Day, June 2, 1956, featured, during the morning session, a panel discussion on "Coronary Artery Disease" with Dr. William Dock as Moderator. Dr. Milton H. Morris, '21, summarized the conventional methods of therapy. Dr. J. Maxwell Chamberlain referred to the indications for surgery and Dr. S. Charles Franco, '31, presented industry's experience with survival and rehabilitation of employees with coronary artery disease.

At the Annual Meeting following the Scientific Session, in addition to the transaction of routine business, Article VII, Section II of the constitution was amended to read: "The officers elected shall enter upon their duties on the day following the annual business meeting at which they are elected." Article VII of the by-laws was amended viz: "The annual dues shall be payable on January second of each year and shall be $10.00 for all alumni except those graduated five years or less and more than 45 years, for which two groups the dues shall remain at $5.00."

The Alumni were guests of the College at the luncheon which was served in the College Cafeteria in the new Basic Sciences Building. Cordial greetings were extended the guests and Alumni by Dr. Carlyle Jacobsen, Executive Dean of Medical Education of State University, and Dr. Howard W. Potter, Dean of the College. Highlighting the luncheon was Dr. Frank L. Babbott's presentation of the oil painting of Dr. Jean A. Curran.

An outstanding Alumni Day event in the history of both the College and Alumni Association was the program of Convocation Exercises and Dedication of Alumni Memorial Hall, which took place in the afternoon. The principal address on behalf of the Alumni, given by ex-President, Dr. Alfred P. Ingegno, '33, was most befitting the occasion as expressed in the following declamation:

MEMORIAL ADDRESS at Dedication of Alumni Memorial Hall

With the possible exception of the military itself, there is probably no calling upon which greater demands are made during time of war than the medical profession. For not only must the augmented needs of suddenly expanded armed forces be met by the recruitment of many thousands of doctors, but a myriad of extra duties and pressures become the lot of those left behind. Factors which mitigate the responsibility of the non-medical citizen for military duty, such as age, marital status, and even state of health, obviously cannot be applied nearly as liberally to the doctor. So it is that very often the physician called into service is married and a father, and suffers a peculiar personal wrench over and above the natural stresses common to departure for war service. Even now, in this era of uneasy peace, our military program finds special needs for the services of physicians.

In a large sense, then, our gathering here today may be interpreted as a ceremonial recognition of the sacrifices the medical profession has made and the share it has had along with others, in the preservation of our nation. Our thoughts turn in particular to the many alumni of this school who, since the first class was graduated in 1860, have given of themselves in the service of their country. Many, indeed, have left an imperishable record of dedication to duty. But most, fortunately, after the temporary and trying dislocations of war, returned to home and family.

But what of those of our alumni who did not return? What of those graduates of The Long Island College Hospital, the Long Island College of Medicine, and now the State University College of Medicine who went to war and make the great sacrifice? Surely, nothing we can say or do can ever compensate for lives and careers cut short, families bereft, children left fatherless. But surely, too, we can pause to contemplate and to resolve.

We can pause to contemplate that here were fine men, trained in the art and science of healing, wholeheartedly dedicating that art and science to the service of a nation in peril. We can pause to sorrow that war destroyed such men, and that the incalculable potential of their devotion to healing was forever lost to humanity. We can pause and cock a spiritual ear to what their stilled voices might now be saying to us on an occasion such as this.

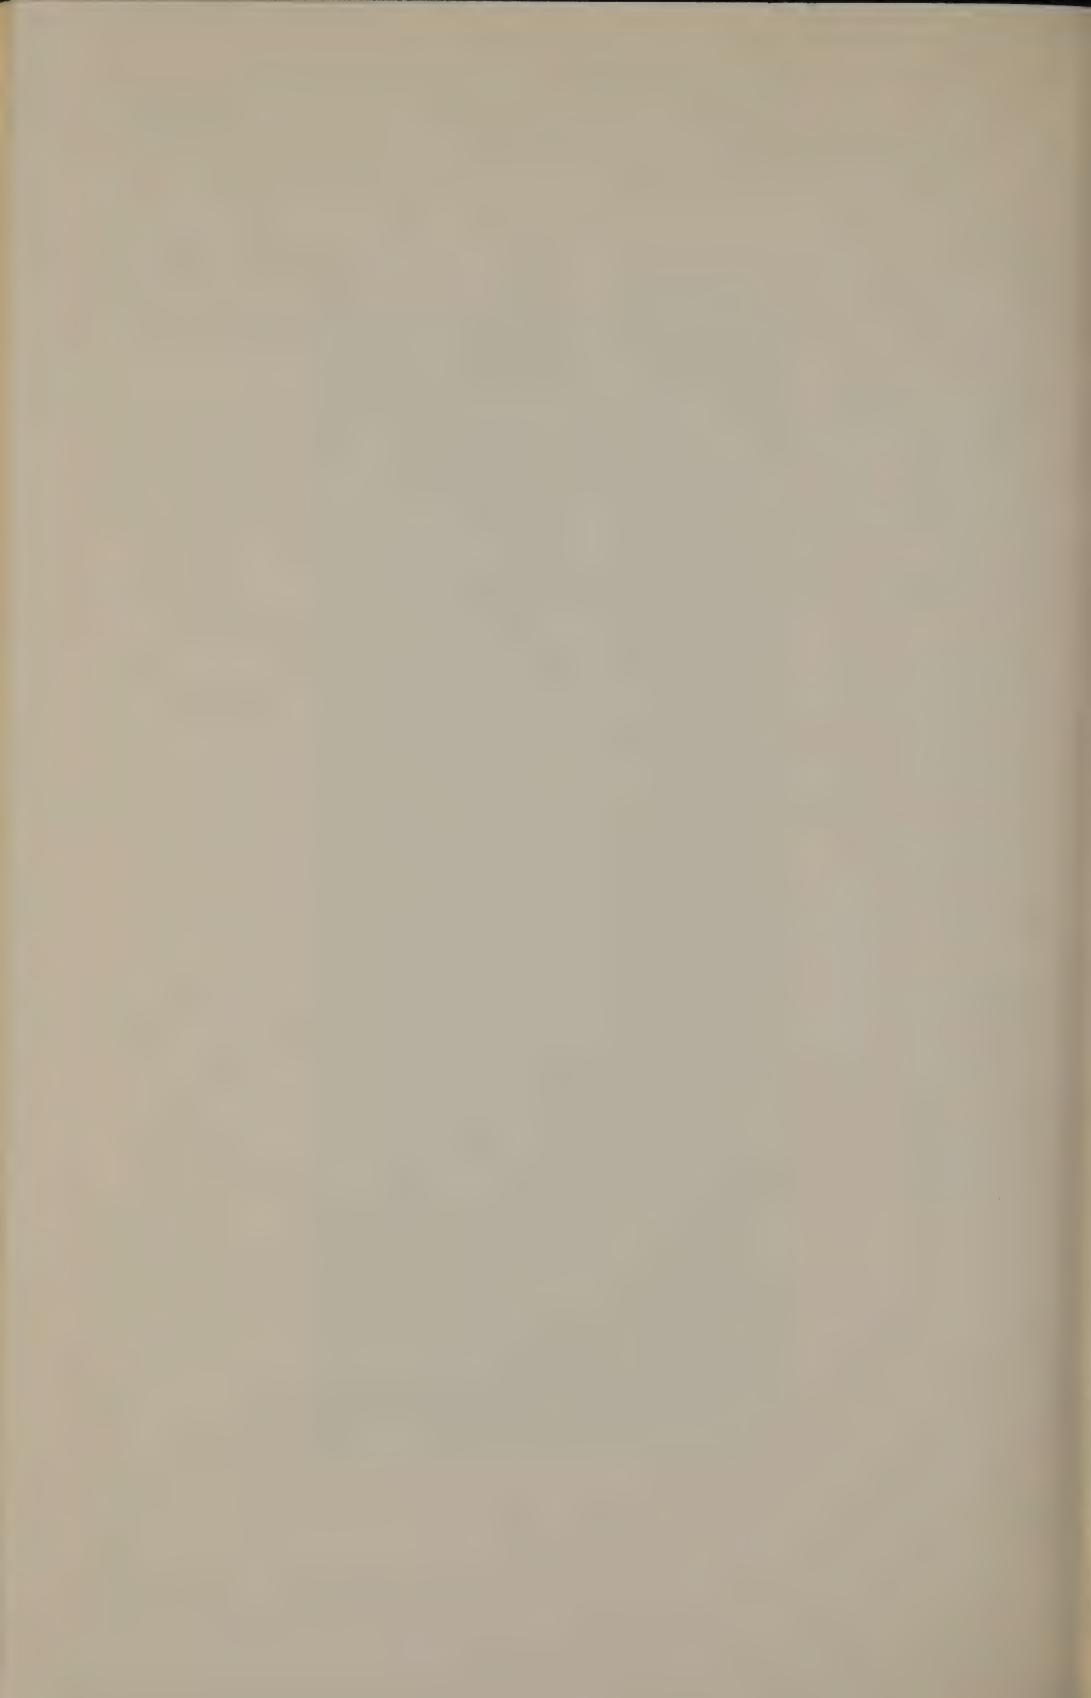

Would they not urge us to give loyal allegiance to our country's sincere quest for universal peace? Would they not admonish us to strive to expand our medical horizons and to continually enlarge our opportunities for service? And would they not express pleasure that this great medical center has come into being and that from it can come a great host, expert not only in the tools of science, but, what is even more important, trained in the exercise of mature and humane judgment, and devoted to a strict and uncompromising ethic?

Let us resolve that these things shall indeed come to pass. Let us resolve that this Alumni Memorial Hall shall be more than a structure of stone and steel and wood generously conceived as a monument to our dead. Let us resolve, rather, that it shall be a perpetual reminder to us to do better with our lives and our abilities. And let this, our personal dedication, be our living, continuing memorial to those we have lost forever.

ALUMNI MEMORIAL HALL
DEDICATED TO
THOSE ALUMNI WHO DIED
SERVING IN THE ARMED FORCES
OF OUR COUNTRY

Dedicatory Plaque, Alumni Memorial Hall

The 76th Annual Dinner and Dance held in the evening in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, where more than 300 Alumni and guests attended, was an overwhelming success.

During the 77th year (1956-57) of the Association, Dr. Frank X. Giustra, '32, was President. The Board of Managers, under his stewardship, furthered the program initiated by the previous administrations. To expand the usefulness of the Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund, it was decided to include "Welfare" in its activities. The total in the Alumni "... Loan ..." Fund permitted of a larger sum to be allotted for loans to students. A recommendation of the Alumni Funds Committee to increase from four to six the number of summer research scholarships, of $400 each, was approved by the Administration.

The Association adopted as its official corporate seal the design submitted by Dr. A. Jablons, '14.

A number of projects proposed by the retiring President for consideration and implementation by the Association were the following: postgraduate education for Alumni; full four-year scholarships; endowment of a chair of professional rank; provision for the welfare of "needy" alumni; a centralized bureau managed by the Alumni Association for the purpose of general counseling, obtaining internships, finding locations for private practice, assisting in institutional appointments, organizing of Class Clubs, a preceptor system; and Alumni representation on the Council.

Alumni Day, April 27, 1957, began in the forenoon with a series of multi-phase conferences and demonstrations given by the Faculty. Then followed the annual luncheon at which the visiting alumni from a dozen different states, seniors and faculty gathered in the College Cafeteria and were welcomed by President Giustra. The afternoon Scientific Session was devoted to a panel discussion on "Peptic Ulcer, its Medical and Surgical Management" with Dr. Clarence Dennis as Moderator. Dr. Albert F. R. Andresen, '07, presented the medical trend, and Dr. Owen H. Wangensteen the surgical intervention. After a brief recess, the Annual Meeting opened with the reading of the Necrology and the respectful reverence of a standing, silent prayer. The routine business of the officers and committee reports were followed by the President's report of accomplishments during his term of office. The constitution was amended to read: "There shall be nine Councillors, three of whom shall be elected each year to serve for a term of three years." Upon adjournment of the meeting, those present left for the Faculty Dining Room to fraternize at a cocktail party. Three weeks later in the evening of May 18, 1957, the 77th Annual Dinner and Dance took place in the Grand Ballroom of Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, during which gala affair photographs of the "five year classes" were taken and Certificates presented to the Alumni of the "fifty" (1907) and "twenty-five" (1932) year classes, congratulating them, respectively, on their golden and silver anniversary.

Dr. Leon Stamatis, '38, was President during the 78th year (1957-58) of the Association and the Centennial year of the initial year of the formation of the medical College. Two auspicious events took place over the week-end of June 8-9. One was the dedication of the Basic Sciences Building at which Governor Averell Harriman delivered the dedicatory address; Dr. Curran spoke on "A Centennial Day of Appreciation and Anticipation," and Dr. Chandler McC. Brooks gave the response for the Faculty. The other was the 99th Commencement which added to the rolls of the Association 145 Alumni, and at which Dr. Louis J. Soffer, '28, was the recipient of the Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine.

On October 1, 1957 Dr. Robert A. Moore assumed the Deanship of the College of Medicine.

The Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund received donations during the year 1957 totalling $4,006; and for the first semester of the academic year loaned $1,950 to six students. The Board of Managers recommended seven student summer research fellowships amounting to $2,900 from the Alumni Memorial Research Fund, which the College's Committee approved.

Of interest to Alumni are the retirements, December 31 of Mr. George H. Dwenger, Registrar, and Miss Agnes McNamara, Administration Secretary, both of whom served the school faithfully and devotedly for a period of 42 and 40 years, respectively.

Annual Alumni Day, May 10, 1958, began with a Scientific Program held at the Kings County Hospital. It comprised Obstetrical and Gynecological Ward Rounds, a Surgical Conference, Discussions on Current Developments in Radiology, and Photographic Pediatric Case Presentations. A Clinical Pathological Conference took place in the Lecture Hall of the Basic Sciences Building.

The annual luncheon was served in the College Cafeteria at which the newly appointed Dean, Robert A. Moore, extended greetings. The Annual Meeting transacted the routine business of the Association. In the evening the 78th Annual Dinner and Dance was held in the Palm Terrace Suite of Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, during which photographs of the "five year" class reunions were taken and the "fifty" and "twenty-five" Year Certificates of Alumni Membership were presented to the graduates of the 1908 and 1933 classes. The proceeds netted from the success of the affair were given to the Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund.

The 79th year (1958-59) of the Association was presided over by Dr. Benjamin Zohn, '25. His long and close association with the school and the organization made him "mindful of the many pressing problems of our group, the many trials and tribulations, the inevitable shortcomings, the criticisms directed against us, and of course, the individual dissatisfaction with our policies and acts." — to quote his words. To correct and improve these conditions, Dr. Zohn labored indefatigably and effectively with good results.

The Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund became a self governing body with a set of by-laws, indentured by legal documents which set up the Fund so that under no circumstance could any question arise as to the propriety of tax deductible income of donations to this Fund. The Board of Trustees of the Fund, comprising nine members, held its first meeting June 6, 1958, and according to protocol elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: Drs. Alfred P. Ingegno, '33, Chairman, Benjamin Zohn, '25, Vice-Chairman, Phillip E. Lear, '34, Secretary-Treasurer, and Benjamin Burbank, '31, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

The contributions to the Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund exceeded the receipts of the previous year, on the basis of which the Board of Managers voted $3,000 (an increase of $1,000 over the past year) to be allocated for loans to students.

Under the Chairmanship of Dr. George Liberman, '30, and his Co-chairman, William Rexer, the organizing of Class Clubs has progressed to a degree that promises to be a strong support to the parent body.

A forward step taken by the Alumni Association was the unanimous approval of the Board of Managers of the recommendation by the Trustees of Research, Scholarship, Student Loan and Welfare Fund to grant an Alumni Association Honors Scholarship of $4,000 over a period of four years to an outstanding student applicant with limited means who was to matriculate in the academic year (Sept. 1959).

The Association sustained the loss of the devoted alumni: Drs. Orman C. Perkins, '21, August 18, 1958; Robert F. Barber, '08, (President 1924) October 5, 1958; John G. McNamara, '21, (President 1943) December 2, 1958; Edwin G. Zabriski, '97, January 13, 1959; and Cassius H. Watson, '05, June 1, 1959.

Alumni Day took place on May 16, 1959. At the morning Scientific Session interesting clinical material was presented to a large gathering of Alumni who remained for the annual business meeting.

The action on proposed amendments of the constitution resulted in the following: Article IV, Sec. 2. "There shall be twelve (12) Councillors, four of whom shall be elected each year to serve for a term of three years." Article IX, which provides for the existence and formation of Alumni Regional Chapters, was repealed in its entirety.

The proposed amendment to Article VII of the by-laws, which would have provided life membership for alumni who have been graduated more than 50 years, was tabled for further study.

A splendid attendance at the annual luncheon saw the innovation of presenting suitably inscribed bronze plaques to all living past-presidents and the retiring president. The speaker at the luncheon was Mr. William Agar, Special Consultant to the American Association for the United Nations, who gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the Association's activities.

In the evening, at the Hotel Roosevelt, the 79th Annual Dinner and Dance was a gala affair, due credit given to Drs. George Liberman and Jules Gordon for the detailed arrangements. Ten classmates of the 50 Year (1909) Class were present with their wives and guests, and were presented the 50 Year Certificates by their class president, Dr. Charles F. Rathgeber of East Orange, N. J.

The evening's highlight — an auspicious and outstanding announcement — was a letter received from Dr. William Engel, '09, read by the class president, and is here recorded:

"To the members of the Class of 1909

And to the other Alumni here assembled.

Dear Fellow Alumni:

On this, the Golden Anniversary of the Class of 1909, may I first express my sincere regret at my inability to be present at this notable occasion. May I also take this opportunity to make the following announcement:

As a token of our appreciation of the contribution which our Alma Mater has made toward the advancement of medical science, my wife and I have provided, by Will, a testamentary trust, making The Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund of the Alumni Association of the College of Medicine at New York City the beneficiary.

This fund is to be administered by The Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as trustee, and the income paid over to the Alumni Association for disposition by The Committee on Student Loans and Scholarships for scholarships to worthy medical students and fellowships for graduate physicians who desire to devote themselves to research.

This trust fund, when created, will continue in perpetuity and shall be known as The William and Raynore Engel Scholarships and Fellowships.

Mrs. Engel and I are very proud to make this contribution, which will enable worthy young men and women to carry on the noble traditions of the medical profession.

Cordially and fraternally yours,

WILLIAM ENGEL, M.D."

A standing ovation and prolonged applause followed the reading of the letter in appreciation of this notable benefaction on the part of an alumnus.

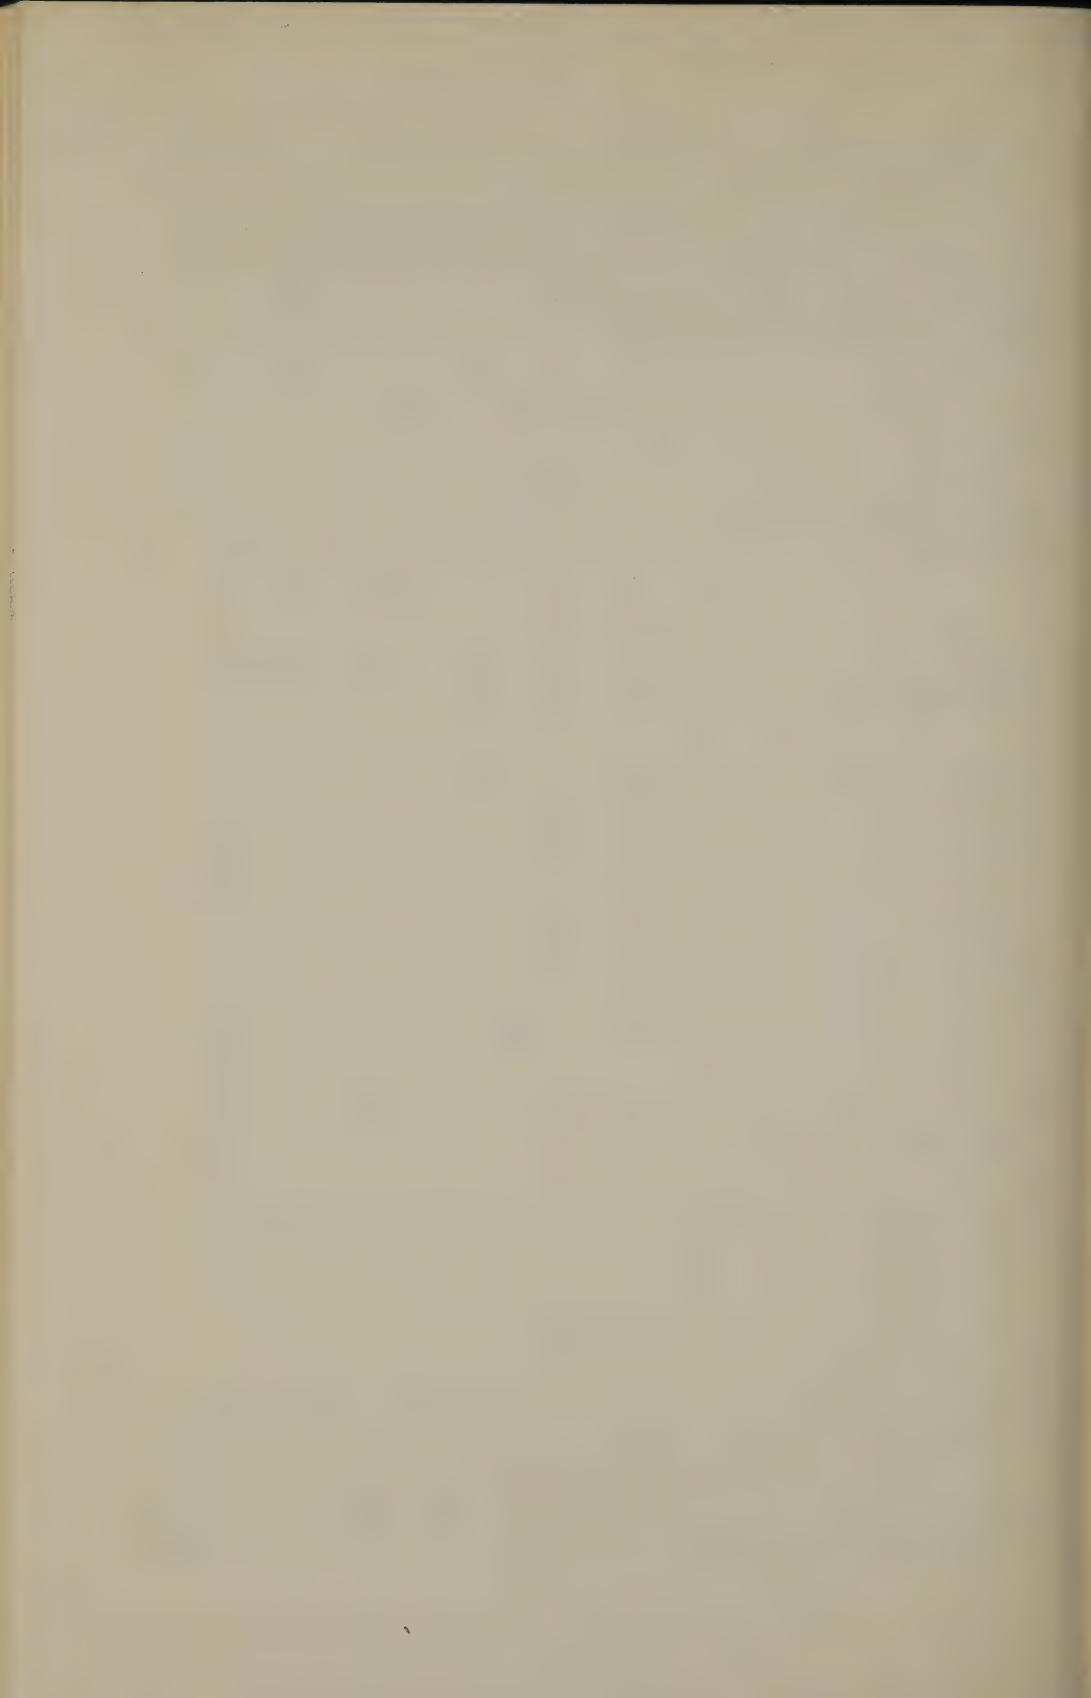

The 25 Year Class (1934) had 36 of its members present who were awarded their 25 Year Certificates. Later, the evening was illuminated by the announcement that the class had pledged a sufficient sum to give an Honors

Scholarship of $4,000 to a deserving entering freshman of outstanding scholastic attainment in need of financial aid to defray the cost of medical education in the school.

Drs. Moore and Zohn gave short addresses stressing the important advantages and contributions of the Alumni Association to the school and its members. The dancing continued until the early hours of the morning concluding a delightful evening of Reunion — Repast — Reminiscence — and Recreation.

The Alumni Association, now in the eightieth year (1959-60) of its existence, looks forward with great expectation for continued success in its endeavors and growth from strength to strength in the years to come.
